DEWEY REVIVES DRIVE FOR LAKE FRONT AIRPORT

Trade Leaders Back 3 Point Air Plan.

Revival of the lake front airport proposal took form last night at a dinner in the Chicago Athletic association in honor of Congressman Charles S. Dewey, Republican, of the 9th Illinois district [near north side].

Congressman C. S. Dewey.

About 75 business leaders who were present decided, after hearing Dewey's call for a well planned program of aviation development in Chicago, to form a committee to recommend such a program, with especial emphasis on a lake front landing field near the loop.

Congressman Dewey, Nathaniel Leverone, toastmaster at the dinner, and Ben E. Regan were charged with forming the committee and will confer on its membership today. It is planned to ask representatives of the Chicago Plan commission, the Association of Commerce, the Illinois Manufacturers' association, and other civic organizations to take part in the campaign.

Presents 3 Point Plan.

Dewey's proposals, which led to the decision to form the committee, were as follows:

1. That Chicago become the center of light plane manufacture.
2. That the city prepare itself as a site for a federal aircraft research laboratory, which Dewey predicted would be constructed eventually.
3. That civic organizations name a joint committee to study and present plans for a lake front airport.

If the city administration and organizations such as the plan commission, the Association of Commerce, and the manufacturers' association combine in formulating these advancements, he and the nine other congressmen from Chicago should be able to bring the city a larger rôle in defense activities, Dewey said.

"We must begin now to plan and prepare ourselves so that we can take advantage of government programs that may develop," he said.

Tells Appropriation Record.

"At the last session of congress the sum of 40 million dollars was appropriated for development of air fields. Despite the fact that it is universally admitted that Chicago is the greatest transport air line terminal in the world, with eight great lines radiating to every section of the country, we received only 20 thousand dollars out of the 40 millions. If we are able to obtain only five ten-thousandths of an appropriation for improvement of air facilities one of two things must be true: either our airport condition is so perfect that we need nothing, or we are slipping.

Additional Airport Needed Now.

"It is a fact that we need an additional airport at once and more in the future.

"It requires a little imagination to estimate the volume of production of small private planes in the future. Should the increase in pilot certificates continue at the present rate, the sky will be as full of private planes as the roads are of automobiles. Why should not Chicago become a part of this progress?

"Why should not Chicago become the center of light plane manufacturing? I am convinced that it can be done if only we can revive the fighting spirit.

Tells How to Begin.

"Before we attempt to attract any considerable amount of the aircraft industry to our city it may be well to prove that we are sufficiently air minded to create adequate facilities for the great transport lines which have made Chicago the chief air transport center in the United States. If we succeed in this the manufacturing end will inevitably follow."

Toastmaster Leverone introduced, among others, Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Gen. Robert E. Wood, and Gen. A. F. Lorenzen, all of whom praised the congressman for his efforts to aid the city in obtaining defense projects.

Much Shouting Over Hush on Subway Fund

A storm broke loose in the last 40 minutes of yesterday's city council meeting over the 1941 appropriation for the subway, with Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th] and John S. Boyle [16th] arrayed against virtually all the other aldermen present.

The aldermen shouted, faces grew red, and Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], who presided in Mayor Kelly's absence, had trouble keeping order. Warnings flew that there was danger of delaying the effectiveness of the 1941 budget.

Ald. Boyle precipitated the strife with a demand that the department of subways and superhighways submit an itemized account of how its 1941 appropriation of $17,750,000 will be spent. He said such an itemization had been promised at budget meetings.

Quinn Expresses Regret.

"I'm sorry those figures aren't ready this week," said Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the local transportation committee. "But Philip Harrington [subway commissioner] is out of town. However, I can promise they'll be ready for the next meeting."

"I understood they'd been promised for this meeting—the last day that anything could be done about it," said Ald. Boyle.

[The budget was passed last week and yesterday's meeting was the last at which amendments could be made changing the appropriation set up for any of the municipal agencies.]

Ald. Douglas Breaks In.

Ald. Douglas broke into the conversational exchange:

"Like Ald. Boyle, I'm plenty 'burned up' about this delay in giving us a breakdown on the money that will be spent," he said. "Why shouldn't the subway department itemize its budget like every other department?

"And another thing," he continued, out shouting Ald. Quinn, who attempted to cut in, "I think there's too much money being spent on legal and other kinds of so-called experts."

Ald. Quinn took the floor.

"Don't you know the federal government passes on every penny that is spent on the subway?" he asked Ald. Douglas.

"Do we have to have Washington wiping our noses all the time?" retorted Ald Douglas.

"I don't think Chicago's nose needs wiping," returned Ald. Quinn over the pounding of the chairman's gavel.

"I move in a supplement to the budget that the commissioner of subways be directed to bring in a detailed report of expenditures showing administration costs, construction costs, and other items," said Ald. Douglas.

There was a chorus of boos from the aldermen.

Bowler Calls It Dynamite.

"You're playing with dynamite," Chairman Bowler warned. "If you fiddle with the budget now you may tie up the city's money and cut off relief funds for a while."

After a brisk parliamentary discussion, Ald. Douglas changed his motion from a supplement to the budget to a separate action. This was tabled by a vote of 29 to 4.

Ald. Boyle reëntered the fight with a motion to recess the council meeting until Monday so the itemized report could be brought in. This was howled down in a voice vote.

Next came a motion by Ald. Boyle to reconsider the method by which the 1941 subway appropriation was passed. This was voted down 30 to 4, and the council adjourned. Since there were no amendments to the budget, it will be published and will become a law in 10 days.

WAR SECRETARY APPROVES SUCH AID TO BRITAIN

Argues U. S. Faces Invasion Peril.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson told congress today that he could foresee conditions which might make it desirable to transfer United States warships to Great Britain.

This was the first admission by an administration leader that President Roosevelt, under the unlimited powers granted him in the war dictatorship bill, might weaken this nation's fleet by sending some of our fighting ships to assist the British navy's blockade of Germany.

Stimson Against Ban.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, in his appearance yesterday before the house foreign affairs committee considering the war powers bill, had rejected a suggestion that the President could give away the United States navy as "a violent assumption."

But Stimson today, under questioning by the committee, objected to a proposal that a prohibition against releasing American warships to Great Britain should be written into the President's measure.

Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] questioned Stimson aggressively.

"This bill permits the President to give away all or any part of our navy, doesn't it?" Fish asked.

"Well—," Stimson answered, "It permits him to transfer it on considerations that he thinks concern our defense."

Foresees Possible Situation.

"I can foresee conditions that might make it desirable that the navy be transferred," the 73 year old secretary of war said at another point. "A situation might arise where it would be to our advantage to do so."

"Of course," Stimson remarked, "the President would have the power today to send the navy into the heart of the war."

"Yes," agreed Representative Fish, "but he couldn't get away with it without impeachment."

The hearing broke up in a verbal row over Fish's action in inviting witnesses, including Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to Great Britain, who are against involvement of the United States in European wars.

Bloom Cuts Off Testimony.

Stimson was on the stand when the resentment of interventionist members of the committee, headed by Chairman Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.], came into the open. Pursuing the "fear" theme stressed by two previous cabinet member witnesses, Stimson had asserted that the United States was "in very great danger" of an invasion by air if the British navy should be destroyed or surrendered.

Chairman Bloom cut off Stimson's testimony by announcing the committee would meet in executive session in the afternoon to consider future

War and Dictatorship

[AN EDITORIAL]

Secretary Hull was asked by Representative Tinkham if Mr. Roosevelt's house bill 1776—all aid to Britain—did not "carry the implication that our man power will eventually be sent abroad." Mr. Hull said the bill described the aid to be given and carried no implication beyond that. He added: "We have kept away from the man power phase."

Congressmen questioning Mr. Hull commented on many of his answers from time to time as being evasive and unresponsive but few persons could read the questions and answers in the examination of the secretary of state without feeling that Mr. Roosevelt and he were approaching full participation in the war and that the passage of this bill by congress would be preliminary to entering it.

Mr. Hull obviously was endeavoring to prepare the public mind for that eventuality. His picture of our national destiny without the defeat of Hitler was tragic and pathetic. He saw nothing but disaster in this land unless the Nazi war machine was destroyed and the Nazis themselves obliterated. He was unwilling to agree in any way with persons who do not take such a defeatist view and who consequently hold to the opinion that the United States can be made strong enough to defend itself with its tremendous resources and in its favorable position.

Mr. Hull's view is that of Mr. Roosevelt and of his secretaries of war and navy as well. Therefore, it is to be feared that bill 1776 is a bill to make war and to make it by removing all restraints of law from the chief executive.

The people who call this a war dictatorship bill have named it correctly. It is supported by persons who want to put the United States into the war and who will sacrifice their country to the dictatorship if that is the price to be paid for what they want; and by persons who will take the war if it is the means of getting the dictatorship.

Mr. Hull says that the law of self-defense is paramount. Neutrality has vanished into thin air. We are about to be invaded by two great military nations, if not by a third which until recently was described as one. These and other alarming statements which picture a very strange United States are intended, first, to pass the dictatorship bill, and after that to sweep the people into full participation in war wherever a battle front can be found. Mr. Hull's evasiveness on some points and his frightfulness of prophecy on others afford proof of ultimate intentions if the bill can be passed.

If congress yields to the pressure, it will have accepted for the people of the country the administration's foreign policy, which is that no peace will be made while Hitler and his allies are in power. The willingness of the people to give all aid to Britain which can be given without sending millions of American soldiers to foreign battlefields is being abused to put the country in the war.

Many of us have been unable to place any trust in Mr. Roosevelt's denials that American troops were to be used. He has been explicit but his acts do not bear him out. They have been the acts of a man with his mind made up, approaching his objective with increasingly provocative measures, all intended to sweep the people from one position to another until in confusion and alarm they find they have been forced to accept what they were trying to avoid.

Mr. Hull described a state of war when he spoke for the bill. If congress accepts his views and those of Mr. Roosevelt, if it passes the bill because it has accepted those views, if it declares for a policy of no peace but a peace of absolute victory, it may then later find itself so compromised by its own agreements that when Mr. Roosevelt appears before it to regret that there is no alternative to a declaration of war it may be unable to extricate itself.

Congress may have made so complete a surrender by establishing a war dictatorship intended to decide the outcome of a war that it may be too weakened to vote against full participation and the sending of millions of American soldiers into a conflict to be prolonged for years. And as this conflict spreads and expends the resources and the man power of the country, the persons who want to create a new political order will have their opportunity.

That is why the bill can be truly called a bill to destroy the republic.

War Department Predicts Army of 1½ Million by 1942

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—Assistant Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson today said the United States will have an army of 1,500,000 officers and men fully equipped and trained for war in 1942.

Robert P. Patterson.

The army expects to complete its equipment by the end of the year and will be capable of taking the field of battle in 1942. Patterson's prediction included regular army units, national guardsmen, and draftees.

No Allowance for Loans.

He said the army will have sufficient rifles, bayonets, pistols, machine guns, mortars, certain types of artillery and ammunition to take the field. He also said there will be no shortage of shelter and such equipment as uniforms, shoes, bedding and the like.

The assistant secretary made no allowance for such weapons and supplies as may be leased or loaned to Great Britain, nor did he explain how production will be speeded up to overcome critical shortages.

At present the army does not have sufficient modern weapons of all types to completely outfit an army corps of three of its streamlined divisions, or a total of less than 40,000 men.

Six months ago the war department predicted that it would have more than a million men in training early this year. These men were to have the latest type of weapons and be fully trained and equipped to take the field by July, 1, 1941.

500,000 in Training.

Today the army has only about 500,000 men in training and these lack weapons and equipment of all descriptions. Only a few draftees are under arms.

Patterson also disclosed that the war department is studying means of protecting the civilian population against air raids. He said that a group of medical, transportation, and social experts will go to London shortly to make a study which will assist the war department in formulating an air defense program.

ASKS ALL FACTS ON ACTIVITIES OF U.S. ENVOYS

Protests Pour In on Legislators.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—Following a conference today with Joseph P. Kennedy, retiring ambassador to England, Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] tonight challenged President Roosevelt to make public the reports of his ambassadors in Europe and let the people know what secret war commitments the administration has made.

Joseph P. Kennedy.

The leader of the senate noninterventionists said Mr. Roosevelt's request for dictatorial war powers in the bill to give all possible assistance to Great Britain would have no chance of passage if the American people were acquainted with the facts. He intimated that secret promises of American assistance, amounting to war commitments, were made to Great Britain, France, and other foes of the axis powers before the outbreak of the European war in 1939.

Some Other Developments.

Other developments in the controversy over the war powers bill today included:

1. Ambassador Kennedy, whose resignation does not become effective until his successor is appointed, conferred with President Roosevelt for an hour at the White House and told him he could not support the war dictatorship bill. Kennedy, it was learned, will express opposition to the bill in a nation-wide radio speech Saturday night and in testimony before the house foreign affairs committee next Tuesday. He will tell the people that the last stronghold of free government in the world will be destroyed if the United States enters the European war.

2. The first indication that letters and telegrams received by members of congress may decide the fate of the war powers bill came when Senator Allen Ellender [D., La.], a New Deal yes-man, introduced an amendment forbidding the President to send American soldiers, sailors, and air force personnel abroad. Ellender said the people should be made to realize that the administration program "is bound to lead us into actual war."

Act to Pack Committee.

3. Apparently concerned by the increasing opposition to the war powers bill, the administration moved to "pack" the senate foreign relations committee. Senator Carter Glass of Virginia and Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, both interventionists, were selected by a Democratic steering sub-committee for the two Democratic vacancies.

There were reports that Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] was passed over because he was not deemed safe. Senator Lucas is getting an enormous volume of mail opposing the bill and there was a feeling in some administration quarters that this would cause him to wobble.

The administration also decided to support Senator Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.], a member of the foreign relations committee, for the judiciary committee chairmanship, a post which was claimed also by Senator Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], a leading noninterventionist. Gossip around the senate is that the administration hopes to win the support of Senator Van Nuys for the war powers bill.

Radio Drive Planned.

4. Opponents of the war powers bill agreed to make a series of nation-wide radio broadcasts appealing to the people to assert themselves in order to save the republic. Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.], a veteran of the historic fight against Woodrow Wilson's league of nations proposal, will be the first speaker, at a date yet to be selected.

Senator Wheeler denied that he called on Ambassador Kennedy for

SERVANTS TELL LAWYER'S VISITS TO MRS. JOSLYN

Testify at Divorce Case Fee Hearing.

Visits which Attorney Thomas Hart Fisher paid to the Lake Bluff home of Mrs. Charlotte Joslyn were described yesterday by two of Mrs. Joslyn's former servants. Their testimony, designed to show that the relationship of Fisher and Mrs. Joslyn was more than that of lawyer and client, was given at a hearing before Master in Chancery John J. Kelly.

The point at issue in the present litigation is whether Fisher shall be paid a $24,000 fee for representing Mrs. Joslyn in a suit that resulted in her obtaining a divorce from George R. Joslyn, son of a wealthy manufacturer of electrical supplies.

Bill Presented in Court.

The divorce was granted on Oct. 1 last year. On Nov. 8 Fisher took his bill—fees of $19,720 and expenses of $4,412—before Judge John C. Lewe.

At a later hearing before Judge Lewe, Joslyn's attorney, Alvin Hubbard, objected to the fee on the ground that the relations between Attorney Fisher and Mrs. Joslyn were not those of attorney and client, Hubbard contending that improper conduct with Mrs. Joslyn outlawed Fisher's fee. Judge Lewe turned the matter over to Master Kelly for further hearings.

Mrs. Catherine Richards and her husband Edward, who were employed by Mrs. Joslyn from January, 1938, to May, 1938, were the witnesses before Master Kelly's hearing yesterday.

Tells of Seeing Them Together.

Mrs. Richards said she first saw Fisher in the Lake Bluff house a few weeks after she was employed. She asserted that the attorney and Mrs. Joslyn sat for a time in the living room and had drinks. Then, she added, they went upstairs together and remained for several hours.

She admitted that she had not seen the couple, on this occasion, go into Mrs. Joslyn's bedroom.

Several weeks later, Mrs. Richards asserted, Fisher went to the house for dinner. After the dinner, Mrs. Richards said, she saw Fisher and his client go together into the bedroom, and heard them walking around and talking.

Under cross examination by Attorney Harold Keele, representing Fisher, Mrs. Richards admitted she was not certain Fisher ever entered Mrs. Joslyn's bedroom any other time but the second visit.

Questioned by Master.

"You mean that of the six times he came to the home, you only saw Mr. Fisher go into the bedroom with Mrs. Joslyn once?" interjected Master Kelly.

"Yes," she replied. "I was in the nearby children's room and saw him and Mrs. Joslyn."

She said that on the other occasions, when she left to go to her own apartment for the night, a man's hat and coat were hanging in the hallway. She was unable to describe the hat and coat.

Edward Richards remembered the visits of Fisher, but was unable to say Fisher ever had gone into a bedroom with Mrs. Joslyn.

JURY GETS MAIL FRAUD CASE OF 9 "I AM" LEADERS

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 16 (AP).—The case of nine leaders of the "I Am" movement charged with mail fraud and conspiracy to misuse the mails went to a federal court jury tonight. In his closing argument, Defense Attorney Charles H. Carr compared the spiritual experiences claimed by the late Guy W. Ballard and his wife, Edna, present leader of the movement, to those of Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormon church.

VOTE TO INDICT 5 YOUNG MEN IN ROBBERY CASES

Five young robbery suspects, against whom 65 complaints are pending, were reported named yesterday by the grand jury in seven robbery true bills. Earlier they had been held to the grand jury in total bonds of $350,000 by Judge Charles S. Dougherty of the Automobile court.

Two of the suspects, Edmund Burke, 19 years old, 1546 Ardmore avenue, and John Carroll, 18, of 5942 North Paulina street, drew the ire of Judge Dougherty. A week ago yesterday, two days before their arrest, he had placed them on probation for auto theft. Such betrayal of trust, Judge Dougherty said, would only make it harder for other young offenders who seek probation.

The three other defendants are Raymond Roden, 17, of 2417 Gunnison street; Dale Williams, 19, of 5107 Kenmore avenue, and Robert Petraborg, 18, of 5108 Glenwood avenue, a navy deserter. Summerdale police arrested the five.

U. S. LIEN AGAINST GAMBLER SEEKS $285,928 IN TAXES

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, filed a lien in federal District court yesterday against Peter La Vertu, 2000 Lincoln Park West, charging that La Vertu owes $285,928 in income taxes for the years 1936 and 1937 and $6,141 in interest. Revenue agents estimated this would mean an income of $1,500,000 for the two years.

La Vertu came under investigation, it was learned, while government agents were studying the incomes of William Johnson and William Skidmore, head men of the Skidmore-Johnson gambling syndicate.

According to city policemen, La Vertu and Albert C. Ford, a former bondsman, operated an elaborate handbook on the second floor at 155 North Clark street.

MARSHALL FIELD QUIZZED BY JURY ON VOTE FUNDS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16 (AP).—Marshall Field III. of New York and R. J. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. C., went before the federal grand jury investigating 1940 political expenditures today. Officials said they had not yet succeeded in serving a second subpena on Verne Marshall, of the No Foreign War committee.

Marshall disregarded one subpena which was acknowledged later to be obsolete.

Field testified as chairman of the Business Men's league for Roosevelt. Reynolds, who is the new Democratic national treasurer, has previously told of loans he made to Democratic organizations during the campaign.

REPORTS $430 ROBBERY.

Raymond Brin, driver for the A. Silvian Tobacco company, told police last night that he was robbed of $430 in collections by two colored bandits who jumped on his truck at 5433 Greenwood avenue and forced him to drive to an alley near 55th street and Ingleside avenue.

IMPROVED RADIO BEAMS SOON TO GUIDE AIR LINERS

Will Send Signals Free from Static.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

A new airway outlined invisibly by ultrahigh frequency radio waves—entirely static free and easier to use than the present long wave radio beam signals—is nearing completion between Chicago and New York. Before the summer is over all the commercial air lines flying the route will be conducting tests leading ultimately to a revision and rebuilding of the nation's network of radio air navigation facilities.

This was disclosed here yesterday by authorities of the Civil Aeronautics bureau who announced that sites for eight stations along the 750 mile airway have been purchased. They said that structures to house the ground transmitters, antennas, automatic signal sending devices, power units, and transformers for the new airway already are erected. Operation should begin about July 1.

Present Beam Unsatisfactory.

The present radio range beacons—the radio beams of which there are more than 400 for the entire country—are operating in a frequency band of 200 to 400 thousand cycles. They are subject to terrific static disturbances, to interference by weather, ore deposits, magnetic storms in the sun, and many other natural phenomena that make them highly unsatisfactory.

Experiments thus far with the ultrahigh frequencies indicate that most of the difficulties that beset the 200 to 400 kilocycle band are absent at higher vibration speeds. The Federal Communications commission accordingly has allotted the band from 119 to 126 million cycles to the new air route. This band is free from rain, snow, dust, and lightning static, and so far as is known is unaffected by electrical disturbances.

Signals Always Come Thru.

Tests made with the ultrahigh frequency signals showed that they have the fidelity of frequency-modulation in their transmission. Signals come thru in the midst of the worst thunderstorms without a sign of the frying, crackling that drowns out the lower frequency signals. With the new signals it will be virtually impossible for a pilot to lose the signals and lose his path in flight.

Because the range of ultrahigh frequency is limited it will be necessary to have only four frequencies for the entire air route instead of 10 as at present. Assume that the first station has frequency No. 1, the second will have No. 2 and so on thru the four. The fifth station will revert to No. 1 frequency again and the remaining three stations will repeat frequencies No. 2, 3, and 4 again.

Plan to Replace All Stations.

The Civil Aeronautics bureau is contemplating the replacement of all the existing radio range stations with the ultrahigh stations. And the same four frequencies can be used thruout the entire country, even tho 500 different stations are estimated as the number needed. At the present time there are approximately 120 different frequencies used in 400 stations.

By using only four frequencies it will be necessary for pilots merely to press tuning buttons on their radios instead of having manual tuning to get the desired station.

Most of the air lines operating from Chicago airport already have purchased special receivers for the new beam band.

Mexico Bans Siesta for All Government Workers

HEARINGS CONCLUDED ON ILLINOIS PLEA FOR MORE LAKE DIVERSION

Hearings on the petition of Illinois for an increase in diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the Illinois waterway were concluded yesterday before Monte M. Lemann, special master in chancery for the United States Supreme court. Oral arguments are scheduled tentatively for Feb. 17 in New Orleans, La., Lemann's home town, after which Lemann will draw up his report to the Supreme court.

One of the final witnesses yesterday was L. R. Howson, consulting engineer, who was called by Herbert Naujoks, attorney for the lake states opposing the Illinois petition. He testified that he believed the recent 10 day experiment, in which the present rate of 1,500 cubic feet per second diversion was increased to 10,000 cubic feet, may alleviate odorous conditions at Brandon pool outside Joliet. In an earlier hearing, Dr. Floyd H. Mohlman, director of laboratories for the Chicago sanitary district, predicted that conditions would be as bad and possibly worse next summer.

Illinois asks that the rate of flow be increased for two years only, after which treatment plants will be able to handle the sewage.

POLICE RECOVER YULE GIFTS STORE EMPLOYE STOLE

Michael Provenzano, 23 years old, was a generous Santa Claus last Christmas. He gave presents to all his girl and boy friends. But yesterday he sat in a cell at the detective bureau making out his Christmas list all over again:

Provenzeno, who lives at 539 North Trumbull avenue, worked all afternoon at his list, with Sergts. John Noonan and Howard Harder at his side. And as soon as he added a name a detective was sent to the recipient's home to retrieve the present. By late afternoon quite an assortment had been gathered.

Provenzano was a window trimmer for a loop department store. That's where he got the presents. He confessed stealing more than $500 worth. With the police collectors busy, the store hopes to get most of the gifts back.

MYSTERY CRIME STORY DEVELOPS IN ALIMONY ROW

Prisoner Linked to 1924 Slaying Denies It.

The intricate case of Harold Kirk, who has been an inmate of alimony row in the county jail since Nov. 20, last night supplied a first class mystery to authorities in California and Illinois and agents of the federal bureau of investigation.

Kirk, who is 45 years old, was identified by the FBI, thru finger prints taken when he entered the jail, as a man long sought by the police of San Bernardino, Cal., as an indicted suspect in a 1924 murder. Yesterday San Bernardino requested the aid of Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien in having the alimony prisoner extradited.

He's Willing to Go.

One of the puzzlers in the case is that Kirk, as soon as he learned of this, expressed full willingness to go.

"I was never in California," he told the sheriff, "and I can prove it easily. It will be a pleasure to get out of alimony row and take a nice trip to a winter resort. Sure, I'll go."

He continued his denials even tho he was shown a description of the wanted man complete down to his own tattoo marks.

"Those must have been somebody else's tattoos—and somebody else's finger prints, too," he averred.

When Kirk was arrested in November and taken before Judge Cornelius Harrington of the Circuit court his wife, Alice, from whom he was divorced in 1932, asserted that he had paid only $20 in all of an award of $60 a month given her in the decree. She said he was $7,000 in arrears and had a good job as a metal plater.

Sent to Jail for Contempt.

Judge Harrington ordered Kirk to jail for contempt. Later, on Dec. 31, Kirk attempted to get his liberty but failed when he was unable to furnish a $2,000 bond to guarantee he would not leave the court's jurisdiction. No mention was made at either hearing of any criminal record he may have had.

The San Bernardino police reported yesterday that the murder for which a "Harry Kirk" was indicted took place in that town. James Winn, a taxicab driver, was beaten to death. Harry James Baker, an alleged accomplice in the crime, was tried and sentenced to life in prison.

Baker, it was asserted, had confessed and identified Kirk as a participant. The California authorities had a set of Kirk's finger prints received from the Idaho state prison, where the supposed Kirk had served a term for assault. It was a copy of this set that the FBI compared with the Cook county jail set before it announced that the prisoner here was the wanted man.

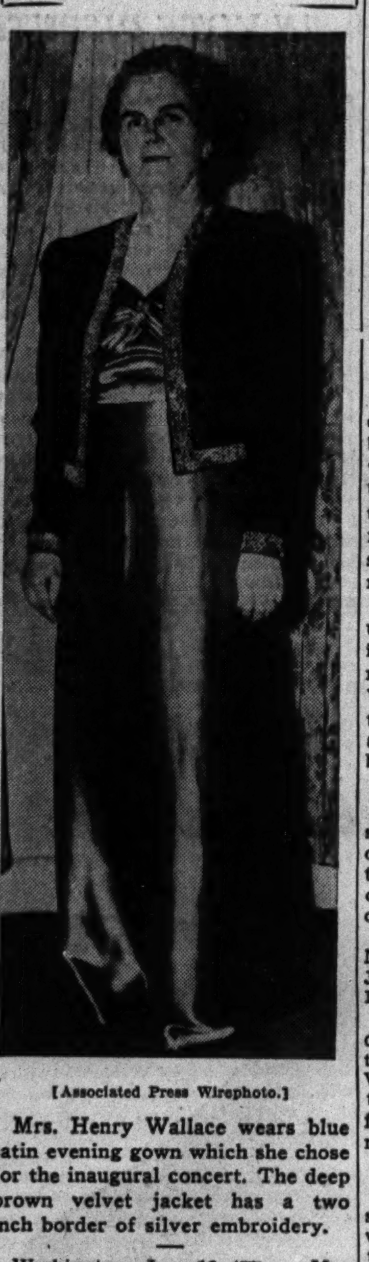
Once in Federal Prison.

Kirk told Sheriff O'Brien that he once served a term in Leavenworth federal prison for stealing army goods, but denied he was the Idaho prisoner. His ex-wife, he asserted, could prove that he was never in prison since their marriage in 1921. A search for Mrs. Kirk was fruitless last night. Investigators said she was not living at the last address she gave.

Order Norse Press to Call Refugee King a 'Prince'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 16 (AP).—Reports from Oslo, Norway, tonight said the propaganda ministry had ordered the Norwegian press to refer to the refugee King Haakon as "Prince Charles," his name before he ascended the Norwegian throne in 1905. For a while the papers must make clear that they mean Haakon when they print "Prince Charles."

Inaugural Gown



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Mrs. Henry Wallace wears blue satin evening gown which she chose for the inaugural concert. The deep brown velvet jacket has a two inch border of silver embroidery.

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP). — Mrs. Henry Wallace relaxed tonight, happy that she has finished her inauguration shopping. The smart black frock she will wear when her husband is sworn in as Vice President Monday and the handsome evening gown for the concert are on hangers in her clothes closet. The accessories—gloves, shoes, hat, bags—are at hand.

For evening—the concert is Sunday night at Constitution hall—she selected a gown of shimmering satin in a lively new blue that is near the color of cornflowers. With it she will wear a soft velvet jacket of deep brown with a plum undertone.

Mrs. Wallace's crêpe frock for the inauguration has long close-fitting sleeves and a high collarless neckline, the severity of which she is relieving with a choker of several twisted strands of small gold beads. The neckline is modified by small narrow flat plaits in back and front. On the left side of the blouse there is a pocket embroidered in gold in a Chinese-like design. The shoulder line is moderately square.

FORMER CONVICT CONFESSES PART IN TWO HOLDUPS

Fred Gurney, an ex-convict and the last of a gang of seven robbers to be apprehended by police, confessed last night, according to Lieut. Kyron Phelan, that he took part in the $2,843 holdup last May 1 of the American Furniture Mart and the $4,266 robbery last March 11 of the Ace Drug company store at 6258 South Halsted street. Gurney was returned here last Sunday after his arrest in Kansas City, Mo. Other members of the gang either have been sentenced to the penitentiary or are awaiting trial for robbery.

UNCLE SAM PULLS STAKES ON CITY GAMBLING CASES

Gives Up Fight to Break Racket; Bookies Gleeful.

The federal government closed its current prosecutions against the handbook and gambling racket in Chicago with an announcement yesterday by United States Attorney J. Albert Woll that no appeals would be taken from recent Federal District court decisions dismissing gambling indictments.

Handbook operators who have been under fire from state and local authorities, as well as the federal government, received the news with glee. Woll's announcement indicated that the government has, for the time being at least, quit its job of attempting to break up the racket.

No Further Prosecution.

The district attorney in a formal statement said that on instructions of the attorney general in Washington, there would be no further prosecution of the last four antigambling cases.

These cases were dismissed during November and December by Judges John P. Barnes, William H. Holly, and Michael L. Igoe.

Two of the cases charged violation of the federal lottery laws in the transmitting of race results over Western Union Telegraph wires, and two others charged violation of the federal communications act in transmitting results by short wave radio.

Indictments Ruled Invalid.

In one case Judge Holly ruled that sending race results over telegraph wires did not involve or violate lottery laws. In the three other cases Judges Barnes and Igoe held that the indictments were invalidated by the appearance before the grand jury of Samuel Klaus, a special assistant attorney general, without the proper authorization of the attorney general.

District Attorney Woll forwarded the files in the case before Judge Holly to the attorney general with a request for instructions. He received his answer yesterday.

"The letter from the attorney general," said Woll, "states that no appeal is to be taken from the decision of Judge Holly and that the case should be closed without further prosecution. In the other cases, the attorney general agreed he was in accord with the rulings of Judges Barnes and Igoe, and directed the cases be closed without further prosecution."

ARMY BOMBER WITH SEVEN MEN ON BOARD MANY HOURS OVERDUE

McChord Field, Wash., Jan. 16 (AP).—McChord Field officers reported late tonight an army bombing plane with seven men aboard was unreported since leaving the air base here at 10:20 a. m. today. It was en route alone for the Muroc bombing range near Lancaster, Cal., and was to have reported from Sacramento en route. The pilot was Lieut. Robert M. Krummens. The ship is a B-18A, twin motored Douglas bomber. Reports from southern Oregon told of a blizzard over northern California, but United Air Lines said the weather was not enough to interfere with flights.

DRIVER IS KILLED IN COLLISION ON SKOKIE HIGHWAY

Peter Demma, 21 years old, 910 Linden avenue, Winnetka, was killed last night when his car and another machine collided at Hibbard and Skokie roads in Wilmette. Two passengers in Demma's car were injured. Demma was employed as a clerk in his father's grocery store. The driver of the other car was George E. West of Skokie.

Samuel Stevens, 75 years old, 420 Wrightwood avenue, died yesterday in the American hospital of injuries suffered on Christmas day when he lost control of his automobile and it struck a tree at Foster avenue and the Outer drive. Stevens was a retired horse cab driver.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 48 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 34 were killed in Chicago, where 960 were injured in the same period.

WANTED: YOUNG LADIES TO DANCE WITH SOLDIERS

Note to the young ladies on the north shore:

The soldiers at Fort Sheridan haven't enough dancing partners for their weekly Thursday night dances in the post gymnasium and Maj. Glenn R. Douglas, morale officer in charge of entertainment, asks that if you have nothing else to do, come to the dances.

Maj. Douglas promised that special arrangements would be made to bring groups of young women to the dances and take them home with proper chaperons. Last night the 15 piece orchestra played loudly but there was a feeling of gloom—the soldiers outnumbered their partners by almost 4 to 1.

CITY'S FIVE MOST DEADLY STREETS TAKE 130 LIVES

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago's five most deadly streets, headed by Ashland avenue, were listed yesterday by George W. Fleming, general secretary of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe commission, in an analysis of the city's 1940 traffic toll. The other four, ranked in accordance with their fatality tallies, were Halsted street, Western avenue, State street and Roosevelt road. The five streets accounted for 130 of Chicago's toll of 654 for the year.

The mortality scores for Ashland avenue, Western avenue, and State street were lower last year than for 1939, but the 1940 scores for Halsted street and for Roosevelt road were higher than in the previous year.

Ashland avenue	33	46
Halsted street	32	29
Western avenue	23	36
State street	22	29
Roosevelt road	20	11

Notable reductions in their traffic tolls were credited to the following streets, listed with their totals for the two years:

	1940	'39		1940	'39
Irving Park	8	17	North	13	18
79th-st.	1	10	Stony Island	3	8

La Salle	3	11	Jackson	4	8
Montrose	1	6	Washington	4	7
Douglas	2	7	Diversey Pky.	4	8
Indiana	4	10

Streets showing increases in their deaths included the following:

	1940	'39		1940	'39
Belmont	8	3	California	11	6
Randolph	6	1	Sheridan	4	1
Cermak	9	1	Torrence	4	0
63d-st.	11	8	Clybourn	6	2
95th-st	8	3	Milwaukee	8	4
Clark	13	5	Doty	7	4

Streets with high pedestrian tolls were listed as follows with their scores in walkers killed: Clark street, 12; Michigan avenue, 13; South Park way, 10 Archer avenue, 10; Kedzie avenue, 12; Cicero avenue, 11; North avenue, 9; Cottage Grove avenue, 9; and Racine avenue, 9.

Army Plane Makes Forced Landing in Hawaii; 5 Hurt

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 16 (AP).—Five army men were cut and bruised making a forced landing in a Gruman amphibian plane yesterday. The ship descended directly over a submerged reef almost one mile off Kola point.

JOY RIDER GETS 60 DAYS AFTER FLEEING CRASH

Arthur Pasterino, 20 years old, 1639 Wolcott avenue, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Auto court to a total of 60 days in the Bridewell on charges of tampering with an automobile and leaving the scene of an accident. Pasterino "borrowed" an automobile from a garage on Dec. 8, went for a joy ride, and fled after the car became involved in a collision.

Irving Johnson, 19, of 2218 Highland avenue, a store clerk, was sentenced by Judge Edward S. Scheffler in Boys' court to 10 days in the Bridewell for driving while intoxicated. Johnson's car struck Policeman Michael Demith last May 6, pinning him against a parked car and crushing his legs, which became paralyzed.

witnesses. He remarked sharply that Fish had invited a number of witnesses to testify on "the President's dictator bill," and asserted there was no such measure. Bloom's announcement of an executive session was interpreted as an attempt to bar witnesses hostile to the bill.

Stresses Britain's Defense.

Secretary Stimson, in a two hour session with the committee, asserted that the defense of Great Britain is as important to the United States as is the defense of the South American republics.

Representative Fish asked Stimson whether he believed that any foreign nation could invade this country despite our naval strength.

"Not now, probably not," Stimson said, slowly.

"Any time this year?" insisted Fish.

"I wouldn't dare say any time this year," replied Stimson.

"Do you think the United States army could repel a force of 50,000 troops should they be landed?" asked Fish.

"I think they probably could if you mean a land invasion," was the reply. "I think air forces would accompany an attempted invasion by infantry."

Tells Fear of New Bases.

"Is there any airplane built which could span the Atlantic, drop bombs here, and return across the Atlantic?"

"Probably not the width of the Atlantic," said Stimson, "but they are rapidly developing in that direction and there are many bases short of the full width of the Atlantic. Newfoundland, for example, would be a base within easy range of all of our New England coast. Northern Canada would be within easy range of the New England coast."

"Does the secretary believe," Fish demanded, "that our navy would remain locked up in our harbors if any such invasion were attempted?"

"Where is our navy now?" retorted Stimson. [Most of the navy is stationed in the Pacific at present.] He added: "This nation is in very great danger of invasion by air if the British navy should surrender or be destroyed."

Calls Emergency Acute.

Stimson asserted that the present emergency is more acute than in 1917. Then, he said, the allies held a stable line in France, and Italy and Japan were arrayed against Germany. Munitions plants were then so abundant in France and Britain that they were able to supply the United States, while today this country must prepare its defense in consideration of Britain's needs, he told the committee.

The essence of the bill, Stimson asserted, is that the United States should become virtually the sole purchasing unit for all war materials manufactured in this country. He said centralization of control and power in the President would end the competition of many different purchasing agents; enable manufacturers to carry on all dealings with one purchaser; make possible a well ordered system of letting contracts; permit full utilization of the government's own arsenals and yards, as well as private plants.

"Far from being a surrender of our rights to other interests, however worthy," he insisted, "the provisions of this bill make it possible to place in American hands this important power and responsibility."

Against Requiring Security.

Fish asked Stimson whether he would oppose an amendment to provide that the West Indies and other British possessions be taken over as security for any aid extended to the London government.

Stimson replied that such an amendment would create great delay and that speed and prompt action are required in "wartime." For this reason, he said, he is opposed to any restrictions.

The war secretary became angry when Fish criticized comparison of this country's situation with that of Belgium and Holland before they were invaded. Fish noted that the boundaries of those two small countries were contiguous to Germany's. Rising from his chair, Stimson said loudly:

"The army of the United States today is nowhere near as large as the army of Holland was last May! It is not as large as the army of Belgium last May—and nowhere near as well trained!"

Question British Estimates.

Meanwhile, suspicion was directed from official quarters at the low estimate of British assets given the committee yesterday by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. The British "balance sheet," prepared by Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, showed totals that were said by government economists to be extremely low.

Morgenthau at a press conference today defended the figures as "frank and honest," saying he had never known the British treasury to mislead him. He said the resources of British dominions were not listed because they have their own purchasing problems.

"If there are any convertible British resources not shown on the balance sheet the British didn't tell me," said the treasury secretary.

He declared that practically all the 2 billion dollar British stabilization fund had been used to pay for British munitions orders in the United States.

Morgenthau had criticized as outdated, in his testimony, the federal reserve board report that the British have roughly 7 billion dollars in this country. He said the report had been made in August, 1939, before the European war started. But the reserve board only last week issued the same estimate.

Reports Are Contrasted.

The Morgenthau statement, in contrast to the reserve board report, said the British had dollar exchange assets of only one billion 775 million dollars. Officials said this statement omitted many items that could be classed as British resources.

The reserve board had reported that since the beginning of the war the British empire had produced one billion 100 millions in gold and sold one billion 400 millions worth of goods to the United States. It stated that Great Britain's central gold reserves were two billions when the war started. This was not shown in the Morgenthau table.

The board table showed total resources in gold and dollars of the United Kingdom as four billion 860 million; Canada, one billion 570 million, and the rest of the British empire 685 million, a total of seven billion 115 million. The Morgenthau table was confined to the United Kingdom, while the reserve board covered all of the British empire.

Officials expressed surprise that Morgenthau made no mention of annual British gold production as a potential British asset.

PROPOSES U. S. PAY MAINTENANCE COST OF BRITAIN'S FLEET

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 16 (AP).—Maj. Barclay H. Warburton, military attaché in Paris during the world war, has suggested to President Roosevelt that the United States pay the maintenance costs of the British and Free French navies as a form of "insurance" against aggression during expansion of this country's fleet.

Warburton said he had asked Presidential Secretary Stephen Early to relay the proposal to the President Dec. 18, but had received no acknowledgement. Widespread discussion of the President's lend-lease plan prompted him to release his memorandum now, Warburton added.

He said he felt the proposal "is practical and will not meet with objections voiced by critics of the lend-lease plan." Warburton formerly published a newspaper in Philadelphia.

Issues Challenge After Parley with Kennedy.

the purpose of discussing the strategy of the opposition, but did not deny that it was discussed. They have, he said, been friends for many years. Wheeler also denied that his challenge to President Roosevelt was a result of his conversation with Kennedy.

"I challenge the President to make public the reports of Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Bullitt [William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France] to his state department or to himself from the period immediately preceding the German invasion of Poland in 1939 down to the present time," said Senator Wheeler.

"Give the Facts."

"The President is talking about establishing democracy thruout the world. The way to make democracy work in this country is to give the American people facts, all the facts, on both sides. If he will make public all the reports he received from Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Bullitt and his other ambassadors the American people will know what secret promises and war commitments were made, and they can decide intelligently whether they want this war dictatorship bill to pass."

Ellender's amendment provides that "nothing contained in this act shall be deemed to authorize the employment or use of persons in the land or naval forces of the United States at any place outside the United States and its territories and possessions." The senator said it would apply to the air forces, since they are part of the army [land force], and the navy.

"Leading to War."

"I'm for aiding England to the limit of our ability, but the American people must be made to realize that such aid as is contemplated by this bill is bound to lead us into actual war," Ellender declared.

When a reporter suggested to Ellender that his amendment evidenced distrust of President Roosevelt, he replied:

"Well, the President has asserted repeatedly that no expeditionary force will be sent to Europe. I want to be certain of that. Moreover, we ought to make certain that the naval and air forces shall not be sent to Europe."

When questioned further as to the purpose of his amendment, Ellender indicated that it is intended to reserve to congress its constitutional power to declare war.

"I want congress to have a vote on the issue of going all the way into the war when that issue arises," he said.

"Thousands of Letters."

Ellender stated frankly that he was prompted to introduce his amendment by the "many thousands" of letters he has received from back home.

"My mail makes it clear that the people want to aid England to the limit of our ability, but to keep out of war," he said. "Of course you cannot do both. The time has come when they must be made to realize that. They must choose now between aiding England to the limit and keeping out of war."

Other senators said they had received a greater volume of mail since the President's war powers bill was introduced on Jan. 10 than they received during the controversy over repealing the arms embargo in 1939 or the fight against Mr. Roosevelt's scheme to pack the Supreme court in 1937.

DEFINE LIMITS OF WAR AID BILL, HOOVER URGES

Believes Clarity Would End Confusion.

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—Former President Herbert Hoover called today on the house foreign affairs committee to draft immediately into the proposed aid-to-Britain bill positive definitions of the powers to be given President Roosevelt.

In a letter to Committee Chairman Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.], who said Tuesday the committee would be glad to hear all opponents and supporters of the measure, Hoover said:

"There is unfortunately growing up in the country a bitterness of discussion which it seem to me in the interest of national unity could be allayed by the committee. This division lies largely in the interpretations and implications in respect to the powers proposed to be conferred in this bill and its meaning."

Opposed to Entering War.

Hoover, asserting that he favored extending "every practicable aid, short of war, to Britain," but that he did "not approve of our joining in the war," listed several points on which the controversy centered.

"For example," he wrote, "citizens of high patriotic thought and experience who desire to support the President believe that under the bill and even without any supplemental action by the congress:

"That battleships and other naval vessels could be given away.

Fear U. S. Naval Convoy.

"That equipment and materials provided in the bill could be transported thru the war zone in American ships convoyed by the American navy.

"That commodities and articles could be purchased in other countries with our money.

"That alien ships now in sanctuary in our harbors could be seized.

"That it opens American ports to repair of belligerent vessels and makes such ports bases for belligerent operations and may become the objective of them.

See Labor Law Peril.

"That the program of gifts to Britain could begin before the very considerable resources now available to the British government in the United States had been first called upon as payment or collateral.

"That the bill could cancel parts of the labor laws, the Johnson act, the neutrality acts, the Hague conventions, and possibly other laws.

"That it empowers involvement in war as distinguished from a declaration of war by the congress."

Hoover said there were many other questions which have been raised, among them time and expenditures limits, and added:

"It seems to me urgent that these matters should be at once clarified because the public mind is apprehensive and confused.

"If the committee would at once draft into the bill positive definitions of what these powers are and specifically exclude what they are not, I am sure such an early action would enable concrete debate and eliminate much controversy and bitterness. As I said, it would greatly contribute to national unity."

Riot Over Chaplin Movie in Uruguay; Seize Italians

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 16 (AP).—Nine persons, including two officers of the Italian freighter Adamello, were arrested tonight in disturbances attending the first showing of Charles Chaplin's motion picture, "The Great Dictator." Distributors for the film announced cancellation of a plan to operate ferry service between Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Colonia, Uruguay, where the picture is scheduled to open tomorrow.

CHALLENGE VETO POWER OF STARK IN VOTE DISPUTE

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP).—The Missouri legislature abruptly recessed for the rest of the week today while its puzzled Democratic majority considered new strategy to avoid turning over the governor's chair to a Republican, Forrest C. Donnell.

Attorney General Roy McKittrick.

Sessions of the house and senate were brought to a standstill by the action of Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, a Democrat, in vetoing yesterday a resolution to withhold the office from Donnell pending an investigation of election irregularities.

Democratic leaders rushed to Attorney General Roy McKittrick for an opinion on Stark's right to veto the resolution.

ANTI-WAR PLEAS START ROLLING IN TO CONGRESS

America First Protests Go to Illinois Leaders.

The Chicago chapter of the America First committee began forwarding to Illinois congressmen in Washington, D. C., yesterday the first of a deluge of protest petitions against President Roosevelt's bill seeking war dictatorship powers. A total of 123,000 persons already have given permission for the use of their names on the petitions.

At the same time national headquarters of the committee announced that Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman, will represent the committee at hearings before the senate foreign affairs committee on the President's bill. Gen. Wood was acting quartermaster-general of all United States forces during the world war.

House Group to Hear 2 Others.

Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee, and Hanford MacNider, member of the national committee and former national commander of the American Legion, will testify before the house foreign affairs committee on the bill.

Brig. Gen. Hammond, a world war soldier and former senior brigade commander of the Illinois National Guard, said that since he has agreed to appear before the house committee he would not raise any specific questions now, but added:

"I will say this: It will be a great thing if these hearings bring out the picture so that the American public can see the tombstones and filled hospitals that lie down the road toward another A. E. F. That's a road only about 15 per cent of the people want to see us take, according to the polls, and it's too bad that 15 per cent can take the other 85 per cent with them."

Gen. Wood, referring to the testimony of Secretary Hull before the house committee on Wednesday, said, "The view that invasion is imminent is absurd."

Mail Sets a New Mark.

Mail received by the Chicago chapter of the America First committee set a new record yesterday, according to Miss Cornelia Howe, secretary. The mails have become increasingly heavy since introduction of the President's bill, she said. About 3,500 letters were received, each letter containing on an average the names of five persons willing to have their names attached to petitions protesting the President's bill. These, with names called in over five telephones at an average rate of 960 an hour daily, already have brought the committee in sight of its goal of 150,000 names by the end of the week.

Offices of the Chicago chapter will be moved today to room 901, 122 South Michigan avenue. Phone numbers will remain the same. They are Wabash 5473, 5474, 5475, 5476, and 5477.

National headquarters announced that an organization luncheon for a Philadelphia, Pa., chapter of the America First committee was held yesterday and that permanent headquarters are being opened this week for chapters in San Francisco, Cal., and New York City. This brings the number of new chapters since the first of the year to 14 and the total of chapters over the nation to 30.

A total of 187 draftees from Chicago and the suburbs reported at the 122d field artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue, yesterday as inductions under the January selective service quota were resumed after a seven day layoff. By noon 40 men had been accepted for service by army medical specialists and had left for Fort Custer, Mich.

Seeks Injunction

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. FERN MARSHALL.

Richard Bond Marshall, 30 year old heir to the fortune of his father, Irving Franklin Marshall, late Boston banker, yesterday was ordered to appear in Superior court today to face an injunction plea which asks that his funds in Boston be tied up.

The order was issued by Judge Rudolph Desort on the plea of Marshall's wife, Fern, 24 years old, of 747 North Wabash avenue. Mrs. Marshall, who has a divorce suit on file charging cruelty and misconduct, appeared yesterday asking temporary alimony. Her attorney, Robert Cantwell Jr., said Marshall's income from the estate is $15,000 to $18,000 annually.

When Marsall's attorney, Frank Loverde, said his client is vacationing in Dallas, Tex., Judge Desort said he would withhold issuance of the injunction until today, and told Loverde to have Marshall appear in court, "coming by airplane if necessary."

The couple was married in 1932, and they separated last July 20. They have one son, Richard Jr., 6 years old.

RELIGIOUS ORGAN CALLS ROOSEVELT BILL A WAR PLAN

Demands Its Rejection in Entirety.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Christian Century, influential Protestant religious journal, charges in the leading editorial of its current issue that the President's aid to Britain bill "is in its effect a bill to put the United States into the war and to shift the government of this country from its democratic basis to a dictatorship."

The journal, published in Chicago, denounces the bill as "the most un-American proposal which the American people have ever had seriously to consider" and adds that it "spells the deliberate surrender of this nation to the ideology of the Nazi-Fascist order against which the President alleges that his war is to be waged."

Urges a Complete New Bill.

The editorial declares that to block America's entrance into the war congress should not merely modify the bill but reject it and write a new one designed to speed up the preparedness program. It adds: "The wings of the President's now fully disclosed purpose to force this nation into war cannot be clipped by merely modifying certain features of this bill.

"Any compromise with this Presidential determination is futile. To put a time limit of two years, or even of 90 days, upon the exercise of the powers which this bill would transfer to the President, is to take refuge in an illusion.

Calls War Move Unprecedented.

"By taking this country into war Mr. Roosevelt will have done what no President ever did before him. Thruout our history it has been the people who took the President into war. The determination to fight was generated in the channels of the democratic process, the President meanwhile exercising his powers with patience until the public will had crystallized.

"But Mr. Roosevelt, having shattered the most venerable tradition of the Presidency and won election to the third term, has thrown off all restraints of democratic leadership and audaciously purposes to lead a divided nation into the grave issue of world conflict.

"The 77th congress is the last bulwark for the protection of American democracy against the daring encroachments of a President who is willing to assume the terrific responsibility of taking an unwilling nation into war. Not Great Britain, but this congress is the front line of America's defense."

THRU THE SNOW AND IN THE MUD GREEKS PUSH ON

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE GREEK ARMY IN SOUTHWEST ALBANIA, Jan. 15. [Delayed.]—Greek forces still are pushing ahead in their offensive against the Italians, altho the cold weather and snow and mud make their advances slow and difficult. The gains recorded since the capture of Klisura on Jan. 10 have been made possible by that victory, which followed a two day battle. Snow has fallen during the last 24 hours.

I have just completed a two week tour of this sector of the battlefront. The Italians apparently are most interested in stabilizing their present line and holding it, at least during the winter. The Greeks, however, take the offensive whenever and wherever they can.

The Greek capture of Klisura deprived the Italians of one of the few crossroads existing in Albania. The next one lies about 50 miles farther north at Berat. The slowness of transportation because of the weather has done much to delay the Greek advance.

Greeks Claim Successes.

ATHENS, Jan. 17, Friday (AP).—The Greeks announced continuing successes against Italy on the Albanian battlefront yesterday despite snow and rain which reduced the scale of operations. The high command communique early today reported: "Restricted action; we took some prisoners."

A Greek government spokesman, elaborating on this, reported, "in the southern sector, a Greek patrol engaged an Italian patrol of the same strength. The result of this engagement has been that the whole Italian patrol was taken prisoner."

He added that according to information just obtained, "an Italian division has suffered such heavy losses that it has been necessary to reform it with men and equipment recently sent over from Italy."

Greeks Repulsed, Rome Says.

ROME, Jan. 16 (AP).—"Quick reaction" by Italian troops was claimed by the Italian high command today to have resulted in repulse of Greek attacks on the Albanian battle front. The daily communique failed to say on what sector the attacks took place and gave no other details of the fighting.

BELIEVE ITALIANS AT TOBRUK MAY RESIST TO DEATH

British Ponder Effect of Nazi Intervention.

WITH BRITISH FORCES OUTSIDE TOBRUK, Libya, Jan. 16 (AP).—Burrowed within the semicircle of a 30 mile defense line which includes a 10 foot tank trap, the 30,000 Italian regulars at Tobruk apparently have been ordered to resist the pending British assault to the death, if necessary.

The function of this prospective defense, the British believe, is to permit the remainder of Marshal Graziani's hard pressed African army to reorganize in the Bengazi region, about 200 miles west of Tobruk.

[The R. A. F. command at Cairo reported yesterday that on Monday and Tuesday nights the Bengazi waterfront, shipping, and government buildings were heavily bombed and that returning British airmen strafed Bengazi's airdrome at Benina, destroying or damaging planes aground.]

Nazis An Important Factor.

The presence of German dive bombers in the Mediterranean and the possibility that their activity may be extended to North Africa have become most important factors in this arena.

The British declare that Italy herself can no longer be regarded as a serious threat, but if the Germans get in the problem may become difficult. So far, no German planes have appeared in Libya, and the Italian air force in the area is not active.

With British armored units to the west of Tobruk's coast to coast defense semicircle, and infantry and artillery to the east and south while warships keep watch on the Mediterranean shore of the Italian base, the British say that Tobruk's position is about the same as Bardia's a week before it fell Jan. 5 to the British offensive into Libya.

The field guns thunder intermittently. By moonlight British patrols penetrate the Tobruk defense zone for sporadic skirmishes. The massing of British men and material continues.

Fight Around Oasis.

ROME, Jan. 16 (AP).—Fighting on the North African front was reported by the Italian high command today to be sharpest around the oasis of Giarabub, key point in the Libyan desert some 150 miles southeast of Tobruk. A communique told of engagements in which "swift columns" of Italian troops had participated, but did not indicate the outcome of these operations.

Activity in the Tobruk zone was said to be limited largely to artillery exchanges, while Italian planes were reported to have bombed highways and British supply depots to the south and east.

Some artillery activity was reported along the Sudanese frontier in East Africa. Italian planes were said to have scored hits in a raid on Port Sudan, while an R. A. F. raid on Assab was said to have caused little damage.

Fascism Is Doomed and Hitler Will Be Destroyed, Briton Says

Sir Archibald Sinclair.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Jan. 16 (AP).—Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair told a Glasgow public meeting tonight that Fascism is "doomed" and that Italy is "in deadly peril of complete Nazi domination."

He declared there would be no relaxation of the British war effort until the power of Adolf Hitler and Hermann Wilhelm Goering and "all those evil men who now rule Germany is finally and utterly destroyed."

Saying that Britain would not be Hitler's next "victim," Sinclair asserted that Italy had been brought to "the edge of destruction by the infatuated ambition" of Premier Mussolini.

Plane Losses in Mediterranean.

Mussolini's policy led Italy into "disaster and impoverishment," the air minister said, adding that it is hoped that Ethiopia will not have long to wait to regain her independence.

The air minister gave this tabulation of planes lost by both sides thus far in the Mediterranean conflict by fronts:

LIBYAN—205 Italian [90 in the air and 115 aground], 17 British.

TOTALS—303 Italian, 61 British.

He also disclosed that Britain had given Greece "some" aircraft to be flown by Greek pilots.

He asserted that the R. A. F. entered 1941 "stronger than ever before in men and machines" and that efforts to solve the problem of night raids on Britain had "not gone altogether unrewarded."

"Writing on Wall of Congress."

"No decisive result can be expected immediately," he said, "but as we gain experience and are able to hand it on to an increasing number of pilots, we can hope to inflict on night bombers a rate of casualties which will gradually increase and at length become sufficiently high to be a substantial deterrent."

Turning to aid from the United States, he said that "if Hitler and his German dupes dare raise their eyes they will see the writing upon the wall of congress—the aid to Britain bill."

2 BRITISH SHIPS ARE TORPEDOED IN N. ATLANTIC

New York, Jan. 17, Friday (AP).—The 14,935 ton British passenger liner Almeda Star radioed at 11:49 o'clock Chicago time last night that she had been torpedoed several hundred miles off Ireland. A distress call from the vessel was picked up by the Camperdown [Nova Scotia] radio. She was owned by Blue Star Line, Ltd., and her home port was London.

The Almeda Star's SOS was the second within a few hours from the same general area. The first came last night from the British motorship Zealandic, 10,578 tons, which reported being torpedoed 650 miles northwest of Londonderry, Ireland.

The Zealandic was 578 feet long. She arrived at Rio de Janeiro Sept. 30, 1939, armed, and on Nov. 14, 1939, Nazis classified her as a "pirate ship," saying she would be sunk without warning because she carried arms.

Flyer Who Led First British Raid on Nazis Feared Killed

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP).—William Ian Scott, 28 year old flyer who led the first British air raid on Germany in this war, today was listed officially as "presumed killed in action." The initial R. A. F. assault was directed against the German naval bases at Kiel and Wilhelmshaven Sept. 4, 1939.

FRENCH VESSEL RESUMES VOYAGE UP BRAZIL COAST

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil, Jan. 16 (AP).—The French freighter Mendoza, after idling several hours tonight off southern Brazil, has resumed her cautious voyage northward inside territorial waters, this time trailed by the British auxiliary cruiser Ericksen, the Rio Grande port captain reported.

He did not say what had become of the British auxiliary cruiser Asturias, which thwarted three attempts of the Mendoza to leave Punta del Este, Uruguay, and which trailed her to Rio Grande.

The 8,199 ton Mendoza is seeking to reach France with a cargo of food thru the British blockade. The British apparently are determined to keep watch on her until she has to leave the shelter of neutral waters.

Jugo-Slavia Closes Offices of British News Agency

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 16.—The Belgrade offices of the British news and propaganda agency "Britanova" was closed today by order of the prefect of police. No official explanation was given. Axis sources, however, sought to link the action with the re-appearance of anti-German propaganda here.

FRENCH CALL UP TROOPS TO STEM SIAM'S ADVANCE

SAIGON, French Indo-China, Jan. 16 (AP).—The French rushed reënforcements to the important town of Pakse tonight and prepared to make a stand against 1,500 Thai [Siamese] troops who have pushed 200 French soldiers 15 miles eastward from the border in two days of fighting. Meanwhile, on instructions from Vichy, Gov. Gen. Jean Decoux ordered the Belgian, Dutch, and Norwegian consulates in Saigon to close. The American consul was expected to look after Belgian interests and the Swedish consul the others.

French Routed, Says Thailand.

BANGKOK, Thailand, Jan. 15 [Delayed] (AP).—French forces yesterday launched a fresh attempt to penetrate Thai territory in the direction of Utaraditra, about 250 miles north of Bangkok, a Thai [Siamese] communique announced tonight.

The French were routed in a battle in which three French were killed and 30 wounded, the Thai announcement said. Meanwhile, it related, Thai forces are continuing to advance in the east and northeast.

DEMAND BRITISH FOOD CHIEF ACT TO SPEED UP DISTRIBUTION OF MEAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Dissatisfaction with the "chaotic state of meat distribution, resulting in a shortage of supplies" was expressed in a resolution which has been sent to Food Minister Lord Woolton by an emergency committee of the London borough of Deptford. The committee demanded that Woolton take steps to improve the situation immediately. Because of the meat scarcity, butchers at Gillingham decided to close on Mondays and every afternoon except Saturday. Later the food officer persuaded them to remain open.

NAZIS MAKE NEW RAID ON DAMAGED BRITISH WARSHIP

Claim Three Hits Disable the Illustrious.

BERLIN, Jan. 17, Friday (AP).—Informed German sources, reporting early today that German dive bombers had damaged the British aircraft carrier Illustrious anew in a second attack in six days, declared the vessel probably would not be fit for action for the remainder of the war.

They said three direct hits were scored on the carrier Thursday.

The same sources said the attack took place "in a British naval fortress in the Mediterranean, where a number of bombs were dropped."

[The 23,000 ton Illustrious made port in the Mediterranean under her own power Wednesday after being damaged in a ferocious attack by German dive bombers on Jan. 10. Dispatches from Valetta, Malta, told of a heavy raid by dive bombers on that island naval base Thursday and presumably this was where the Illustrious was attacked the second time.]

Claim Three Hits.

One heavy bomb and two medium bombs hit the Illustrious in the Thursday attack, the Germans said, and "despite fierce antiaircraft fire, only one German bomber has failed to return."

The German said they had made a direct hit on a steamer in the same engagement.

[In the first raid on the Illustrious more than 40 German planes smashed at the ship for seven hours, but failed to put her out of action.]

BRITISH CRUISER SUNK

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP).—The 9,100 ton cruiser Southampton has been sent to the bottom as the first major British casualty in the struggle between German dive bombers and the British fleet now developing so fiercely in the Mediterranean.

The admiralty announced tonight that the Southampton, hard hit Jan. 10 in the first engagement for German aerial formations sent south to coöperate with the Italians in an effort to break British sea power, had been sunk subsequently by her own command.

While she was being towed as a cripple to port, it was explained, fire broke out aboard and there was nothing left to do but to bury her in the sea.

Most of Crew Saved.

She was the fourth British cruiser lost since the war began—there were 64 in service at its outbreak—and the largest warship yet lost as the result of air attack.

"The great majority of her crew have been saved," the admiralty stated.

The Southampton previously had been listed merely as damaged along with the 23,000 ton aircraft carrier Illustrious and the 1,335 ton destroyer Gallant. Twelve of the attacking planes were reported shot down.

The royal air force today declared that in a previously reported British raid on Catania, Sicily, the main German aerial center in the Mediterranean, it had been determined that between 30 and 40 planes were either "burned out or severely damaged." Before it had been stated that nine craft were destroyed.

Too, in the running battle in those waters, the British submarine Pandora was credited with having sunk two Italian supply ships of about 5,000 tons each, both of them heading for Libya to help feed the punished Italian armies of North Africa.

Claim Plane Carrier Torpedoed.

ROME, Jan. 16 (AP).—The axis' report of its bomb and torpedo offensive against British sea power in the Mediterranean—a total claim of damage or destruction of 15 "enemy" vessels—was further filled in today by the assertion of a Rome newspaper that the 22,600 ton aircraft carrier Eagle had been torpedoed.

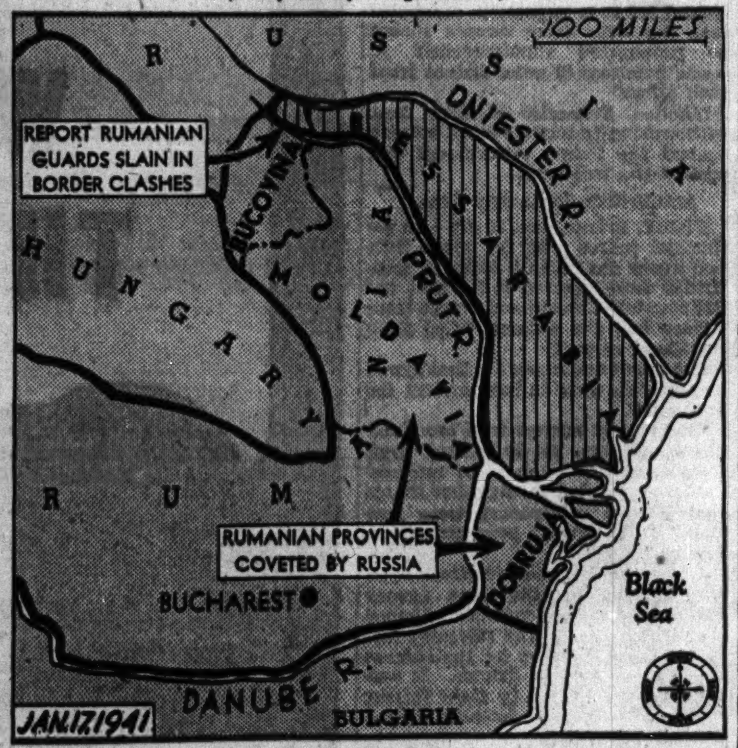
At the same time the high command acknowledged a new night attack by British warplanes on Catania, Sicily. The damage was minor, the high command communique said.

Il Giornale d'Italia, reporting the attack on the Eagle, a converted battleship, claimed only that a wave skimming Italian torpedo plane had scored a hit recently. The attack took place between Tobruk, Libya, and the Greek island of Crete, the paper said.

At the same time the Italians credited two of their submarines with torpedoing a British light cruiser in the Mediterranean and sinking a British merchant ship in the Atlantic.

Border Clashes Stir Balkans

(Story in adjoining column.)



With Russian and Rumanian border guards in conflict and a possible demand by Russia for the provinces of Moldavia and northern Dobruja, the Balkans are in a new state of anxiety.

SPAIN SAYS AMERICAN RED CROSS SENDING IT A SHIPLOAD OF FLOUR

MADRID, Jan. 16.—A communique issued tonight said the American Red Cross is donating a shipload of wheat flour to Spain "to meet the pressing necessities of the Spanish people."

The communique said the food will be bought from the fund for relieving distressed foreign nations, and that the American Red Cross will send representatives here to aid in the distribution.

RUMANIAN, RED BORDER CLASHES STIR UP BALKANS

Belgrade Hears Hitler May Take Over Rumania.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 16 (AP).—Repeated border clashes on the Russo-Rumanian frontiers, cancelation of passenger rail traffic in Hungary and reports that Germany would take over Rumania formally combined tonight to keep the Balkans in a state of disturbed anxiety.

A high diplomatic source said that an average of 5 to 10 Rumanian guards are being killed nightly in clashes on the Bessarabian-Bukovina frontiers.

One theory is that the Russians are using these incidents to test how far Germany's "rubber fence" might stretch—how far the Nazis might back up Rumania in case the soviet demanded Moldavia and northern Dobruja from Rumania. Altho the clashes are officially denied, a diplomatic source said they were causing worry in the Rumanian government.

Rail Traffic Halted.

An announcement in Budapest that all traffic on Hungarian railroads, except international trains, would be suspended at midnight led to the supposition in diplomatic circles here that the German military command, which is now running the Magyar railroads, had found drastic steps necessary in order to complete the projected movement of 300,000 troops with full motorized equipment during January.

Rumanian rail traffic, except for the movement of German military trains, already is virtually at a standstill. Thirty per cent of Jugo-Slavia's trains have been taken off, presumably to accelerate the shipment of supplies being demanded by the reich.

Some diplomatic quarters suggested that Hitler wants to completely control Rumania, which the Nazis already have converted into a military center.

Reds, Nazis May Make Deal.

It is generally believed that the new Nazi minister to Rumania, Baron Manfred von Killinger, will be gauleiter [Nazi district leader] if a protectorate is in fact declared.

Difficulties met by the Germans in controling the Rumanians, moving military trains, billeting troops, speeding production, smothering potential conflicts between the army and Iron Guard—all these are given in German quarters as reasons for an undisguised protectorate in order to safeguard the camping ground of a new German southeastern expeditionary force.

There are persistent reports that a Russo-German deal is still possible whereby soviet troops would be allowed to occupy the eastern provinces of Rumania in return for a free German hand in Bulgaria.

British, Turk Talks Continue.

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 16 (AP).—A British army-navy-air force delegation continued conferences with the Turkish high command today. It was expected the Britons would leave tomorrow for Egypt. Chief members of the delegation are Admiral Sir Howard Kelly, Lieut. Gen. Sir James Marshall-Cornwall of the war office, and Air Vice Admiral T. W. Elmhurst.

NOW IT'S BON JOUR, CA CHAUFFE? AS COLD SPELL HITS FRANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Jan. 16.—The cold spell here has continued so long that the French form of greeting has been modified. Instead of saying "Bon jour, ca va?" which means "Good day, how goes it?" the French now greet each other with "Bon jour, ca chauffe?" which means "Good day, how's your heating?"

HINT AT GERMAN DEMANDS IF U. S. AID BILL PASSES

MADRID, Spain, Jan. 16 (AP).—The aid-to-England bill before the United States congress is "diametrically opposed to international neutrality laws," the Spanish press commented today, and "specifically affects Spanish-American countries."

Commenting on the clause which would place United States ports at the disposal of the British fleet, the newspaper El Alcazar said:

"This allows the same process to be used by Germany in Japan."

In an almost identical article the newspaper Informaciones commented:

"If the bill passes, Germany has the right to demand that South American countries allow her warships to be repaired in their Atlantic and Pacific ports."

BRITISH 'SHOVEL' FIRE ON GERMAN NORTH SEA BASES

Claim Wilhelmshaven Left 'a Waste of Flame.'

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP).—With a bright moon and their first bombs to light the way, British flyers battered at German North Sea bases overnight, the air ministry said today, bombing docks at Emden and Bremerhaven and leaving Wilhelmshaven "a waste of flame."

For Wilhelmshaven, main base of the Reich's North Sea fleet, it was called the 40th and greatest British attack in this air war.

"It was more like stoking than bombing," said one pilot. "We just shoveled our bombs into the fires and watched them increase."

[The German high command acknowledged 20 persons were killed and 35 injured in the Wilhelmshaven attack, saying several bombs set fires in the harbor section. The British caused no "noteworthy damage," its communique insisted.]

Center on Vital Harbor.

By the British version, the royal air force centered its Wilhelmshaven attack on Bauhafen, a harbor where lie some of Germany's most vital war and port facilities.

"Serious fires" were started tonight in a town in the west of England by German bombers which also attacked targets in the south, southeast, and southwest portions of the country, the government acknowledged. The fires were "effectively brought under control," a communique said, but considerable damage was done to commercial and other buildings.

Casualties were described as "not large."

The night assaults on London were limited to two quick thrusts without serious damage, it was said.

Eight R. A. F. officers who have accounted for a total of 58 enemy planes were among 25 men decorated by King George today.

Nazis Tell of Raid on Dover.

BERLIN, Jan. 16 (AP).—The high command today reported that German planes made a "rolling raid" last night on a central England city, lesser attacks on London, and scored several direct hits on Dover, including the railway yards, the canal, and the port. It also claimed the Nazi air force "bombed a troop camp and another objective in southern England," adding that it continued its mining of English harbors. [The British claimed damage at Dover was slight.]

DNB, the official German news agency, claimed German planes sank a 4,000 ton merchant ship out of a convoy near Orford Ness, on England's southeastern coast. On the naval front, the Germans added a claim that a submarine sank a 14,000 ton merchantman, but gave no details.

2,400,000 ADDED TO NAZIS' 'ARMS ARMY' DURING '40

Plan to Enlist More Women Workers.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—The mobilization of Germany's labor force to produce armaments and new war equipment, which was developed to the highest degree before the war, has further been perfected in wartime, German authorities revealed today.

The authorities did not divulge the total number of workers engaged in armament industries, but their admission that 2,400,000 new workers assumed jobs in armament industries alone in 1940 gives an intimation of the tremendous size of the German armament army.

Many Women Given Jobs.

Many women have been put to work in the armament industry. Special training quarters for men and women prepared workers from other walks of life for their jobs in the armament plants.

The authorities have declared, however, that more women will have to work in the wartime factories. Women will be given a wide choice of fields of work within the armament industry. Those who feel they are not strong enough for a full time job will be allowed to work a half shift daily.

Prisoners Put to Work.

The Essener National Zeitung, Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's paper, declared that in "suitable industries a restricted number of war prisoners were employed." The number of foreigners working in the metal industry has been put at 70,000.

To release workers for armament industries, the production of goods not considered vital to the war will be further restricted. All German plants also must undergo an examination to establish whether their labor is being used as rationally as "the present situation requires."

STRIVE TO MAKE NAZIS HERB CONSCIOUS TO REPLACE FOREIGN TEAS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—Because home grown herbs are being used to take the place of Chinese or Indian teas and foreign medicines, German authorities are seeking to make the population herb conscious. The winter relief organization is lending its help to dramatize home grown medicinal herbs.

On one of its monthly tag days, the public will be offered boutonnieres of artificial flowers and berries, replicas of herbs and flowers used as teas or for medicinal purposes.

Tags with the name of the plant are attached to each boutonniere. The tag on the German equivalent of cranberries is marked, "The leaves and berries must be gathered."

CALL ON FRENCH FOR SILENCE IN 'WAR OF NERVES'

Press Warns Against New Crop of Rumors.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Jan. 16.—At this time, when silence is the watchword with regard to French internal and foreign policies, conservative newspapers here, such as L'Action Française and Gringoire are warning the public to be on guard against a renewed "war of nerves."

The newspapers indicate that this comes from a double barreled source—from foreign radio stations and from the conflict of opinion voiced in certain French newspapers published in Paris, particularly by Marcel Deat in L'Oeuvre.

But today's Le Journal declares that whatever may be the differences, there is no question about solid and loyal support everywhere behind Marshal Henri Philippe Petain. It says that despite Deat's criticisms of Vichy the fact stands that 3,500,000 photographs of the marshal were sold in the occupied zone to raise funds for charity.

Describes New Technique.

Advancing the idea that silence is the cure for the present efforts to disturb French public opinion, both from within and without, Le Nouvelliste of Lyons says that the war of nerves now going on is not a new thing, but now is applied in a different way.

"It is characterized by a rain of rumors of false and sensational reports which represent the occupying authorities as being at grips with inextricable difficulties while France may await with optimism the development of the military situation," the paper says.

"It is impossible not to believe that this campaign is not directed from a single source and richly financed, for it is impossible otherwise that the same false rumors should be propagated simultaneously in towns hundreds of miles distant from each other."

L'Action Francaise charges Deat with seeking to incite French opinion against the Petain government and against the free zone.

Anti-British Campaign Grows.

VICHY, France, Jan. 16 (AP).—An authorized source who for more than two weeks has taken a violently anti-British tone asserted today that the British stole Canada and Egypt from France and the anthem "God Save the King" as well.

The words and music for that hymn, he asserted, were in fact written for Louis XIV.

This was in answer to a broadcast made on Jan. 14 by Alfred Duff Cooper, British minister of information, who asserted among other things that French newspapers were now simply "the German press printed in French."

It was the day's second attack upon the English, for the news agency Havas, government-controled, blamed the British troops who retreated last spring from Flanders for the current shortage of food in France. It was asserted the British in their retreat destroyed food stocks intended for the French population.

Reveal Nazi Raids Damage Guildhall in Portsmouth

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP).—The government today disclosed that the Guildhall [municipal building], the Royal hospital, and the Hippodrome theater were damaged in recent Nazi raids on Portsmouth.

COURAGE'S RED BADGE FINDS A HOME IN LONDON

Victims of Raids Fight to Live—and Are Saved.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Hundreds of Pioneers, Air Raid Precautionists, and first aid workers today dug out the bodies and a surprisingly large percentage of survivors from the débris of a London lodging house wrecked by a high explosive bomb early today.

After they had worked ten hours with drills, acetylene torches, a searchlight, and two huge, mobile cranes, I witnessed a remarkable instance of the tenacity of the rescuers.

One man who still was in bed had his leg jammed under a mass of brickwork. Doctors decided to amputate but a Pioneer objected and finally raised the obstruction. The victim was dragged out, only slightly hurt. While being taken to an ambulance he turned to the pioneer and said, "Thanks, mate; I'll buy you a pint of beer."

Another survivor guided rescuers to him by pounding a bucket—into which his head had been wedged—against concrete. His first words when the squad reached him were:

British authorities are worried about an increase in looting by children. A magistrate of a Manchester juvenile court has written Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison urging that the wartime looting law be amended to permit the whipping of child offenders. The court recently ordered five boy looters to be given six strokes each with a birch stick, but was forced to countermand the sentence when it was discovered to be illegal under the existing regulations.

BRITISH EXPECT NEXT 'BLITZ' IN MEDITERRANEAN

Nazi Invasion of Ireland Held Improbable.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Adolf Hitler must do something, authoritative quarters here agree, but they are not prepared to say just what. Altho the possibility of an invasion attempt is uppermost in the minds of military strategists, the threat from the direction of Ireland is discounted for the time being because of the impossibility of the Germans to support any formidable landing force there.

A German move in the Balkans or the Mediterranean is more probable, these sources say. Large German troop concentrations, it is said, are known to be in Rumania and it is thought likely that they are aimed at Russia. The possibility that the Germans might try to force their way thru Bulgaria or Jugo-Slavia also is considered.

See Resistance in Two Lands.

It is generally believed here that Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria would resist the passage of German troops. This is regarded as the reason Germany has been unwilling to make a direct sweep to the Mediterranean over these routes, since it would start the war on another front and possibly involve Turkey on Britain's side.

The common frontier between Italy and Germany, of course, opens the possibility of the Germans sweeping directly thru Italy, Sicily, and Sardinia, and obtaining bases from which to carry on the war against Britain in the Mediterranean. The admiralty admits serious fleet losses as a result of the German dive bombing attack between Pantellaria and Malta. This might be an indictation of the tactics which the Germans may use to reduce the British naval preponderance in the Mediterranean.

The news from France is that Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, chief of state, is still holding a trump card in resisting German demands for naval units to attack the British.

The news from Spain indicates Gen. Francisco Franco would fight if the Germans attempted a drive thru Spain to Gibraltar, but it is admitted that the generalissimo has little with which to fight.

Hitler Paper Talks of Invasion.

BERLIN, Jan. 16 (AP).—"German invasion of Britain in the fall of 1940 would have spared the English people some distress and grief, because the present form of aerial warfare which was conjured up by Churchill would have been avoided," Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter said today.

The question as to why there was no invasion after the retreat at Dunkirk and after France's defeat will be answered by Germany at the opportune time and "not only with words," the paper said.

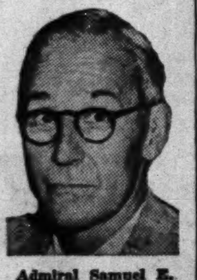
CONGRESS ASKED FOR 400 NAVAL, 200 CARGO SHIPS

Prefabrication at Great Lakes Yards Urged.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—Four hundred auxiliary vessels would be added to the navy and 200 prefabricated cargo ships to the merchant marine under programs presented in congress today.



Admiral Samuel E. Robinson.

The house naval affairs committee approved a new 1 billion 209 million dollar emergency authorization program to speed up shipbuilding, arm men of war against air attack, and add 400 auxiliary craft to the American fleet.

In a message to congress President Roosevelt asked for immediate funds to launch a 350 million dollar program which would provide the merchant marine with at least 200 cargo vessels. The vessels of 6,500 tons each will be of a type and design which will permit prefabrication in plants thruout the country and assembly in a half dozen seaports.

Build 280 This Year.

The naval bill, which was worked out by the house committee after a meeting with navy officials, would authorize:

1. Construction of auxiliary craft at a cost of $400,000,000. The navy would build 280 of the "most urgently needed" vessels this year and have authority to build 120 in the future.

2. Expansion of shipbuilding and ordnance production facilities at a cost of $509,000,000.

3. Additional protection against aircraft for 60 battleships, cruisers, and aircraft carriers in increased armor and antiaircraft batteries at a cost of $300,000,000.

36 Escort Ships Needed.

Among the auxiliary ships placed in the "urgently needed" class are 36 seagoing escort ships, which could be used to convoy merchant ships to Europe.

Other auxiliary vessels needed would include torpedo boats, submarine chasers and various tenders. Rear Admiral Samuel E. Robinson, chief of the bureau of ships, who presented the navy's program to the committee, said many of the smaller vessels can be built at shipyards in the Great Lakes area and be completed within the year.

Rear Admiral W. R. Furlong, chief of naval ordnance, urged the authorization of 509 million dollars for expansion of ship building and naval ordnance facilities. He said the navy wants to build the two ocean navy a great deal sooner than was contemplated last spring.

Merchantmen To Be Armed.

Expansion of the ordnance plants, it was said, will facilitate the arming of merchant ships. The navy has refused to discuss the implications of its plans to arm merchant vessels.

The present American fleet numbers 655 craft of all types and the projected navy will include 1,898 vessels of all types. The navy has in service 322 warships, 173 mine layers, tankers and other auxiliaries, and 160 patrol and district craft.

The navy has 716 ships building and is converting 127 merchant vessels to naval use. Building are 322 warships, 85 auxiliaries, 96 patrol boats and 166 district vessels. The program presented today would bring 400 ships to the building class.

SCALISE PLEADS GUILTY TO U. S. TAX INDICTMENT

New York, Jan. 16 [Special].—George Scalise, racketeer and expander serving a 10 to 20 year Sing Sing prison sentence for embezzling funds while he was president of the A. F. of L. International Building Service Employés' union, today pleaded guilty in Brooklyn federal court to a charge of income tax evasion. He was indicted last Oct. 9 on three counts, charging him with the evasion of taxes totaling $103,000 for 1937, 1938, and 1939.

Scalise entered a plea of not guilty on all three counts last Jan. 2, but on being brought back from Sing Sing today to face trial he changed his plea by admitting the evasion for 1937, involving a total of $24,243.

No disposition was made of the 1938 and 1939 counts, and Scalise was remanded to the custody of the United States marshal for sentencing on Jan. 30. He faces a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

APPROVE START IN CONDEMNATION FOR CONGRESS ST.

An ordinance authorizing the corporation counsel to start condemnation proceedings for property necessary for the 40 million dollar Congress street superhighway was passed by the city council yesterday. The section in which property may be condemned is that between State street and the Chicago river.

Another ordinance authorizing expenditure of $185,000 out of the city's share of gasoline tax funds for reconstruction and maintenance of state highway bridges, and $230,000 for the same purpose on arterial streets, was approved.

U. OF C. STUDENTS GIVEN NEW TYPE OF FLU VACCINE

More than 400 University of Chicago students have been inoculated with a new type of vaccine believed to be effective in preventing influenza, Dr. Dudley B. Reed, head of the student health service, said yesterday.

Inoculations began Tuesday and will continue thru tomorrow, when approximately 500 will have received the vaccine. Its effects will be studied to learn whether it contributes materially to the resistance of the students.

The vaccine was discovered recently by researchers in the Rockefeller Foundation in New York. Students in several other universities are participating in the experiment.

Baby Girl Found Abandoned in Cardboard Box in Hall

A newborn girl was found abandoned yesterday in a hallway at 3405 Broadway. The infant was wrapped in a woman's net blouse and pieces of muslin, and had been placed in a cardboard box with the words "circus wagon" written in crayon on it. A note, which was written in Italian and read, "I don't love you," was found in the box. Town Hall police were notified and took the baby to St. Vincent's orphanage. She was reported doing well.

INDICTED N. Y. HOLDUP SLAYER IS LINKED TO PREVIOUS ROBBERIES

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—Anthony Esposito, one of the two brothers indicted as the killers of a patrolman and their resisting victim in Tuesday's Fifth avenue holdup, today was linked with four other robberies.

Sullen and defiant and showing the marks of the beating received during capture, Esposito was identified by victims of the robberies, which included two pay roll holdups. The 35 year old gunman was brought to the police lineup under the guard of seven detectives, his wrists handcuffed to two guards.

Meanwhile Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine ordered a hunt for a companion of the brothers after declaring that "there must have been a fingerman in this case." Anthony and William Esposito, 28, were indicted for murder yesterday.

2 Gunmen Invade Home, Lock Up 3, Take $1,600

Two gunmen forced their way into the home of Mrs. Anna Godowski, 3143 West 37th place, yesterday, and locked her and a son, Matthew, 22, and a daughter, Victoria, 24, in a bedroom. Then they ramsacked the home and took $1,600.

Correction
In our Tribune advertisement of Tuesday, December 17, page 9, we advertised Harriet Hubbard Ayer's Honeysuckle Soap, Cologne and Talcum at 85c.
The Soap and Talcum should have been advertised at 85c and the Cologne at $1 additional.
We invite any dissatisfied customer to return her purchase for refund.

"If you could only get the machines
We could put them here"

Is production in your plant slowed up by insufficient equipment? If so, it will pay you to follow the Machinery and Equipment column in the Tribune want ad section. In it you will find offers of equipment and machines for many types of work at attractively low prices. Send a memo to your plant superintendent to review this column every day.

"OH, THOSE WENT OUT YESTERDAY!"
"Since we got another duplicator the sales bulletins go out on time."

One way to get ahead
No matter how much you earn, there always are opportunities to earn still more—when you are trained to hold a better paying job. To further your ambition, read the ads of schools and private instructors in the Tribune want ad section. For announcements of interest to both men and women, turn to the Instruction, Trade Schools, Musical and Dramatic, Dressmaking and Millinery Schools, and Dancing Schools columns in the want ad section.

Would another office machine—a duplicator, adding machine, calculator or mailroom equipment make your office run with greater efficiency and smoothness? For bargains in office aids which can save your time and money, follow the Office Furniture and Devices column in the Tribune want ad section.

"TALK ABOUT A BARGAIN!"
"You should see the swell late model I bought!"

This is no time to be driving an unreliable car. With your present car as down payment, you can become the owner of an attractive late model used car years ahead of your present car in appearance, performance and reliability. You will find prices reasonably low and terms generous. Today is the day to do something about owning a better car. Turn to the Used Automobiles for Sale want ads in today's Tribune for buying ideas.

Because want ad users get better results, they place more want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

MORGENTHAU AND ECCLES.

The two top financial men in leading countries are the minister of finance and the head of the central bank. In England the men are Sir Kingsley Wood and Montagu Norman; in the United States Henry Morgenthau and Marriner Eccles.

The twin financial bigwigs usually work together harmoniously. Occasionally their functions bring them into conflict. Now is one of those times. The period of the world war was another. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and the reserve board head, first C. S. Hamlin and then W. P. G. Harding, didn't get along at all. The war secretary of the treasury, having billions to borrow, wanted interest rates kept as low as possible. If the government was to get its money cheaply, there must be low rates for everybody. The federal reserve chairmen and their associates feared the consequences of artificially low interest rates upon prices and the solvency of banks.

McAdoo had his way and kept interest rates low thruout the war. The cheap money encouraged borrowers. The expansion of bank credit, outside of the needs of the government, was the greatest in the history of the country. The result was a doubling of the cost of living between 1915 and 1919.

Banks soon became fully loaned up and had to borrow at the reserve banks. The reserve banks in turn loaned so much to the banks that they couldn't extend any more credit and keep within the law.

As this situation was developing the reserve board repeatedly urged in the government councils that rediscount rates be raised. The general good required, in the opinion of the board members, that the volume of credit be reduced, because credit was to a large extent being used for speculation, for the hoarding of goods, and for the artificial raising of prices.

But the secretary of the treasury wanted his cheap money and he had his way. He was the President's financial guide as well as the President's son-in-law. He had seen to it that the reserve board was housed in a corner of the treasury building. He was able to bring pressure upon the reserve board. The board was powerless unless it went to the public, and in time of war the board felt that its highest duty was to avoid the disclosure of discord in official circles.

When the treasury had finally completed its borrowing by the flotation of the Victory Loan, and McAdoo had been succeeded in the treasury by Carter Glass, the impediment to higher rates was removed. Rediscount rates were jacked up fast, and there ensued the fatal collapse of commodity and security prices which we all remember.

Chairman Eccles of the federal reserve board, his fellow members, the federal reserve advisory council, and the governors of the reserve banks are all agreed that unless action is taken at once to prevent inflation there will be a recurrence of the 1915 to 1920 episode on a much greater scale. They have joined in asking that congress take several definite steps to avert such a catastrophe.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau takes the same position that Secretary McAdoo took against raising rates. Morgenthau has 10 billion dollars of fresh money to borrow and has also to finance the floating debt of 15 billion dollars. If Morgenthau had to pay a fair rate for his borrowings it would spoil the story he has been telling for years. He has said it doesn't make any difference how much of this stuff we borrow, it can be had for so little. Morgenthau is going to be the biggest borrower this year that this or any other country has ever seen. In acting upon the Eccles recommendations congress will do well to be guided by what is best for the general welfare, and not by what pleases Morgenthau or will help his record.

JUDGES AS TAX ASSESSORS.

While a hopeful attempt is being made to collect Cook county's delinquent real estate taxes, it should not be forgotten that three-fifths of the county's mountain of unpaid taxes consists of liens against personal property.

There are on the county treasurer's books more than a quarter of a billion dollars in unpaid personal property tax bills. Legally most of these taxes are valid assets of the local government by which they were levied. Practically, they are not being collected, and so long as present collection methods are followed, they are uncollectible. They can be collected if proper methods are followed.

Personal property taxes are not being collected for two reasons: First, by a time honored sequence in buck passing, they are being taken to the courts, where they do not belong. Second, the courts are not observing the law in passing on the cases. They are arrogating to themselves the function of tax assessors, which the Illinois constitution says plainly is not their function.

The state's attorney is not the tax collector. The county treasurer is. The state's attorney should not be asked to collect unpaid personal property taxes by suits for personal judgment. The treasurer, any time he has the courage to use it, has available a simpler method. This is a distress action, by which the treasurer seizes the delinquent taxpayer's property and sells it to satisfy the tax.

But just because the wrong collection method is being followed, the courts are not justified in abusing that method as they now do. An extreme instance is last year's record on the 1936 personal property levy. During 1940 $86,972 was collected on that levy. At the same time the courts refused judgments, in whole or in part, to a total of $689,599. In other words, on bills totaling three-quarters of a million dollars, they gave judgments for one-ninth, and threw the other eight-ninths out the window.

The record of recent years is that for all personal property tax collections, including millions paid without protest, the courts have lopped off from one-sixth to one-quarter of the taxes involved. The record explains why personalty taxpayers waited to be sued before offering payment.

Much of this voiding of part or the whole of assessments is the result of the usurpation by the courts of the function of the assessor. The state constitution provides that value for the purpose of taxation shall be ascertained by some person or persons to be elected or appointed in the manner directed by the legislature [in this case, by the county assessor] and not otherwise.

Thru more than a half century of litigation the Supreme court has permitted a few exceptions to this general rule that courts cannot change valuations, but has hedged these exceptions tightly. Justices of the peace and courts of record in Cook county are going far beyond anything the Supreme court has said is permissible in reducing assessments, but have escaped reversals because the majority of the cases are not appealed.

Since the constitution makes the assessor responsible for valuations, he should have the fullest opportunity to defend his judgment and methods when they are attacked in court. If necessary, he should be made by law a formal party to the proceedings, which would give him more standing in court than he now has as a witness summoned at the pleasure of the state's attorney.

Such a statutory change would not be necessary if the assessor were summoned as a witness in every suit to collect personal property taxes in which valuations are attacked. He is not summoned now in all such cases. The state's attorney should not compromise any tax suit involving valuations unless the assessor admits a mistake. In cases where courts exceed their powers, appeals should be taken. A few reversals would cure much of the unjustified leniency, since no judge likes to be corrected by appeals courts.

The amount of revenue now being lost by refusal of judgments in personal property suits is between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 a year. That is a large enough stake to prompt close attention to the problem by every local government and by all taxpayers who pay their bills.

OFF-EXCHANGE STOCK MARKET.

On Monday two New York security houses offered 80,000 shares of Montgomery Ward stock at 39, thru a number of security dealers with offices thruout the country. The stock could have been bought at the same price on the open market but the offering, it was announced, was heavily oversubscribed two hours after the offer to sell was made.

The sales were not effected thru the New York Stock exchange. The common belief is that if an attempt had been made to sell so many shares on the floor of the exchange the price would have fallen badly. A pool of brokers to take on a block of stock wouldn't be tolerated, and directors and officers of a corporation are not permitted to place resting orders to keep fluctuations in their company's stock within bounds.

The week before the offering transactions in Montgomery Ward on the big board totaled 12,300 shares. In two hours six and one-half times as much business was done privately, and not subject to SEC regulations, as had been done all of the preceding week under close government supervision on the floor of the exchange.

This was not an isolated incident. There have been big blocks of stock of Consolidated Gas company, Texas corporation, North American company, Union Pacific railroad, and of other companies sold in exactly the same way. No one has said so specifically, but it is understood that the stocks come from England where the government has taken over American securities to raise money to pay for armament orders placed here.

Stocks are sold much as they were from August to December, 1914, when the stock exchange was closed. This time it isn't closed, but SEC laws and regulations prevent it from functioning as an open market.

UNMASKING THE NLRB.

[Tulsa Tribune.]

The congressional committee to investigate the National Labor Relations board turned in its report last week after 17 months of exhaustive inquiry. The result was the most scathing denunciation of a federal bureau ever made by such an investigating body.

> That the act itself requires amendment, particularly along procedural lines, is overwhelmingly demonstrated by the record of the committee. Moreover, as this final report reveals, the record establishes the existence of certain fundamental and basic wrongs which are the very antithesis of the result intended by the congress in the enactment of the national labor relations act. These are:
>
> 1. The existence of a large group among the board's personnel motivated by the social concept of an employer-employé relationship based upon class conflict rather than coöperative enterprise.
>
> 2. A complete lack of loyalty and belief in democratic institutions and processes, demonstrated at times by an open or half concealed allegiance to alien and subversive doctrines and by affiliation with or sympathy for un-American organizations advocating the overthrow of our political and economic system; at others, by a bold defiance of the will of the people of the United States.
>
> 3. A flagrant disregard of constitutional rights and procedural safeguards demonstrated by the invention of nonstatutory remedies, the use of economic pressure devices, and the abuse of administrative discretion.
>
> 4. The interpretation of this law by certain members of the board and its staff as an affirmative mandate to use the power of their official position and prestige as a stimulus to drive employés to accept and join forms of organization not of their own choice, thereby actually depriving the workers themselves of their statutory right of self-organization.

It was in order to obtain easier appeals from the arbitrary and prejudiced decisions of kangaroo courts like the NLRB that the Logan-Walter bill was passed by both the house and the senate. And it was to defeat this purpose that the President vetoed it.

It's quite obvious that those Norwegians don't like Hitler. They won't award a Nobel peace prize this year, after all he has done to preserve and restore the peace of Europe.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

SINGING GIRL AND ALDERMAN.

The problem about May De Sousa and Bathhouse John's song, "Dear Midnight of Love" [Jan. 14], is well on its way toward solution. This column's contributors have rallied nobly to the cause and submitted some interesting evidence on a tricky little point in Chicago lore.

It seems that May De Sousa gave the song two debuts, one late in 1899, at the 1st ward ball, when she was an amateur, and another in 1901, at the Chicago Opera house, as a professional. The latter occasion is the one that most Chicagoans remember. At both performances the song was used on a vaudeville bill.

"From family records it would appear that the song was introduced by my aunt in 1899 when she was about 16 years of age. It was after this that she made her debut in the theater, I believe in 'The Spring Chicken,' with Richard Carle and Mabel Barrison.

"At the age of 16 May De Sousa was studying with one of the teachers in the Ziegfeld School of Music on Van Buren street and my grandpop always accompanied her to her lessons. On one of these occasions John Coughlin walked into the school for the purpose of finding some one to introduce his song and he encountered my grandpop, John De Sousa, and asked him what he was doing there. Grandpop said 'I am waiting for my daughter who is taking a singing lesson.'

"They stopped further conversation to listen to a voice and Coughlin asked, 'Wonder who that is singing?,' and my grandfather replied that it was his daughter. Mr. Coughlin then and there said, 'That is the voice I would like to have introduce my song, "Dear Midnight of Love."' There have been many versions as to how my aunt happened to sing this song, but the above is authentic, according to family records."

The 1901 debut was attended by Mayor Harrison, a strong delegation from the city council, and many other politicos. The Bath bought a large block of tickets and passed them out to his friends. Everybody liked the song and admired Miss De Sousa's voice.

She remained on the bill at the Chicago Opera house for two weeks; then had engagements of one week at the Olympic and the Haymarket. She also went on a vaudeville tour of midwestern cities.

TO BEN FRANKLIN.

[Born Jan. 17, 1706.]

This is the chilly day that saw your birth,
Ben Franklin, wise and well-loved patriot,
That destined you for greatness on this earth,
And blessed you with an eager mind that sought
The ways of mankind and of natural things
In endless questing and experiment.
At home with children or with mighty kings
You found them kindred and you were content.
But we recall you best, when from the farm
You came to trudge along a city street,
In homespun garbed, a loaf beneath your arm;
And there you saw your future fresh and sweet
Leaning against a door. You gave a start,
You lost the bread. She laughed. You lost your heart.

Modesta.

Another Thing to Worry About.

An appeal to Americans for contributions to the London hospital, damaged by German bombs, carries this instruction:

"In either case [checks or postal orders] they should be crossed."

We have been reading about "crossed" checks in English novels all our life without knowing what the expression meant. This time we decided to learn, so we consulted the big Webster, which says:

"To cross a check, English banking: To draw two parallel transverse lines across the face of the check, with or without the addition of the words between them, 'and company'; with or without the words 'not negotiable'; or to draw the transverse lines simply, with or without the words, 'not negotiable.' [The check in any of these cases being crossed generally.] Also, to write or print across the face of a check the name of a banker, with or without the words, 'not negotiable' [the check being then crossed specially]. A check crossed generally is payable only thru a bank; one crossed specially only when presented thru the bank mentioned."

We're still pretty groggy on the subject of crossing checks.

SPEAKING OF TRIOLETS.

[Footnote to a paragraph of Jan. 14.]

The Line Book has no triolet?
No eight-line diamond! Thus who cares
For trick French forms cannot forget
The Line Book has no triolet;
It's rich in gems of thought, and yet
One lady in a pique declares
The Line Book has no triolet—
No eight-line diamond, thus! Who cares?

Casual.

The Class in French Verse Forms.

A hatful of triolets [see above] was received in answer to the plaint of Jan. 14 about their absence from the Line. That will be sufficient. A verse form of eight lines in which one line is used three times and another twice cannot say enough to satisfy the Linemaster's desire for content.

Contributor Neanderthal Man, who entered the contest, asks, "What is a perfect triolet?" The answer is: One that contrives to get a change of meaning, no matter how slight, into the repetitions. Casual's triolet [above] turns the trick.

The war mongering phrase, "all out," is English slang which means, in the American language, "shoot the works."

What's all this talking about "a changing world"? Nonsense, as a certain fireside chatter recently said. "Blossom Time" is coming back again.

It might be gathered from the remarks of Secretary of State Hull that the subject of a possible peace is being kept in an office marked "private."

HOW TO LOSE FRIENDS.

The nasal appendage is made for the passage of air. Thus it is that mankind, as well as animals, use it for breathing. Only when they desire to get rid of excess heat, will dogs pant.

The reason we choose the nose as the best route to the lungs is because moisture is supplied easily by the mucous covering of the respiratory apparatus. When air passes in and out of the mouth, not only are the membranes dried to the point of injury, but tiny cracks may appear. In addition, bacteria may multiply in profusion. This explains why we protect youngsters against the development of masses of adenoid tissue which may block the free flow of "ozone." Removing the obstruction converts a mouth breather into a natural one.

A most grievous social error is offensive breath. It indicates defective health, as foul emanations cannot come from a healthy region. Unfortunately, the disorder does not cause pain and the victim may not be conscious of the affliction. Nevertheless, the objectionable effluvia detected during conversation may oblige companions to keep at a distance.

While the source of the stench may lie within the nostrils, ofttimes the trouble may be traced to the mouth. In his "Natural History" Pliny records that, "Man's breath becomes affected by the bad quality of food, by the bad state of the teeth, and still more by old age."

What is the origin of obnoxious exhalations? Frequently the oral cavity will harbor bits of putrefying edibles and, occasionally, condiments will be at fault. At second hand, they may be anything but pleasant. Then, too, the tongue will be observed to carry a rather heavy coat of fur, consisting of cell débris, bacteria, and growing plant fungi. Cleansing the lingual equipment gently with an antiseptic wash [using a soft rubber brush] may relieve the condition completely.

Naturally, the teeth deserve attention. Cavities or crevices where food and microbes can cavort together, where nutriment can ferment with the production of acids and gases, must be eliminated. Furthermore, the adherence of a thin film of albumen-like material [from our meals] to the surfaces of the teeth may present a favorable opportunity for germ action. Even more commonly, infections along the gum margins will produce a mild state of chronic inflammation. Small abscesses are formed which sooner or later exude pus. The disagreeable taste detected each morning may point to irritation of the soft tissues.

How often poorly fitting crowns or artificial teeth are the culprits depends upon hygienic practices. Neglect to remove and scrub plates regularly will be attended with the typical "false teeth smell."

More often than we realize, perhaps, bacteria, plant fungi, or the Vincent's organisms mingle at will about the chewing parts. When they do so we may know that the system is not quite up to par. In addition to thoro rinsing, gargling, and brushing—we will need to check the condition of the blood, the intestines, and the urinary tract to determine what is wrong.

But before we blame the alimentary canal, careful attention to the mouth itself will eliminate 90 per cent—at least—of all our disturbances. A good wash, one that is not too strong—if employed habitually—will give a sense of cleanliness. Even gum chewing will help keep the parts sweet thru increasing the flow of saliva which serves as a flushing agent.

We must not forget that a toothbrush may be so dirty that it is worse than none. Washing the device daily in soap and water is necessary.

GALLSTONES.

R. G. writes: Can gallstones be passed or dissolved?

REPLY.

They are passed frequently, but rarely dissolved. Surgical removal becomes necessary when they give trouble—the typical gallstone attack.

NO BEER.

M. M. writes: Is beer harmful to a victim of mucous colitis?

REPLY.

Alcohol in any form is not advised. Furthermore, preparations of malt are not recommended.

CHAPPING.

J. L. writes: What can be done for chapped lips?

REPLY.

SELECTION AND EDUCATION.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Your correspondent, N. F. Shamberg, complained that a 400 hour training course provided by the government did not get him a job. "Tradesman" in today's Tribune says "our trouble is we have given leadership to learned men and any one who can read and memorize can become a learned man."

However, "Tradesman" implies it takes about nine years for an intelligent person to become a first class artisan, thus putting himself into the same class with the academic professors whose work he criticizes. I know by observation and eight years of practical experience that it is possible for men, young or old, to become expert in highly skilled trades and acquire the proficiency of the average skilled tradesman in anywhere from six months to two years. I have seen this in hundreds of cases in the most technical trades in America, if you consider the mental capacities involved. This we accomplished by selecting only applicants who possessed aptitude for our particular kind of work. The selection was made by a practical system of vocational aptitude tests which proved 90% accurate, even in testing 15 year old grammar grade boys. We developed and used a system of education which is almost completely opposite to the academic methods in common use.

The application of these principles of selection and education to aviation and other vocations now under the control of college graduates or professors, who apparently practice unfair useless discrimination in selecting applicants, would open the door of opportunity to thousands of ambitious young men much better fitted for such jobs than the average college graduate now accepted.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Why is it necessary to hire additional workers in Mr. Toman's office to collect personal property taxes?

The system used in Kansas City, Mo., is this:

When a party applies to license bureau for a license for business, automobiles, trucks, etc., he is given a card which must be taken to the bureau where personal property taxes are paid and this bureau marks on this card that personal property taxes have been paid.

This card is then taken back to the license bureau and a license is then issued if the card shows that the personal property taxes have been paid.

Henderson White.

FREEDOM JEOPARDIZED.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 13.—If we get actively into war, everything we buy and own will be taxed. The government will print defense bonds, and we will be compelled—not asked—to buy them. Freedom of speech, freedom of the press, yes, and even freedom of religion, will be sharply curtailed.

There is one power that can stop all this, and that is the power of the press. The newspapers of this country influence public opinion to a great extent. If they want to keep on printing real, uncensored news they had better get busy before it is too late.

REFUGEES.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—There was an unkind reference to the supposed wealth of the European refugee, which appeared last Sunday in the society columns edited by Cousin Eve.

If there are any refugees who were so clever and fortunate as to have rescued their money from the clutches of Mr. Hitler and are now spending it in this country, why should Cousin Eve be so peeved about it?

On the other hand, if it is of any comfort to her, I could take her among hundreds of refugees here, and show her the women working as housemaids, or peddling hosiery, or making cookies, lingerie, or gloves, to maintain their families until their husbands have mastered the English language sufficiently to get a job, people whose background of distinction and breeding would come quite up to the standards of Cousin Eve.

Your society editor had best keep within her home ground of debuts and teas. When she attempts to discourse on world affairs or refugees she would seem to be beyond her mental depth, and her comments are dangerous because they are intolerant and misleading, and certainly not in accord with the democratic ideal which this country is trying [with The Tribune's help, we hope] to maintain.

MUSIC ON THE AIR.

Arlington Heights, Ill., Jan. 11.—In my humble opinion the radio broadcasting systems are assuming a great deal when they say that the public is satisfied with the musical fare heard on the radio these days. Some of the music is atrocious.

Aggie.

THE DRAFT.

Youngstown, O., Jan. 13.—I take your paper and am in full accord with your attempt to keep us out of war. In fact, I think you lead our country in this crusade and that we owe you daily thanks.

In your editorial of Jan. 11, entitled "The Legion and the Draft," you advocated drafting only boys from 18 to 21. In peacetimes this might be sensible, but with the nation on the verge of war it seems almost incredible to put the whole burden of a foreign war on the shoulders of those least responsible for it—boys who are almost entirely opposed to war and who cannot even vote and help decide the policy of the nation. I believe it would be a further step toward war as well as inhuman in the extreme.

Mrs. G. W. Glasgow.

JAMMING THE SHORT WAVES.

Riverside, Ill., Jan. 13.—After investing in an expensive instrument so that I might pick up European broadcasts, imagine my chagrin at finding the air jammed in our own country against the reception of any program except that which is sent from England.

Sunday eve I picked up Italy, where they were giving to the world some of the best music one could wish to hear by the Apostolic choir at the Vatican. The reception was made abominable by a broadcast from a New York station sponsored by the American Committee for the Dissemination of Foreign News. A. F. B.

TIME WORKS A CHANGE.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 12.—In this country we used to have ideals. Now we have I-deals with the deck stacked against us.

Test Your Horse Sense

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 31.

1. Which of the following substances is the lightest?
   Helium Hydrogen Oxygen Carbon Monoxide.
2. In English speaking nations, one league usually indicates how many miles 1 3 5 7
3. Which of the following is the name of a type of cloud
   Cerebrum Cumulus Cerebellum Cirrhosis.
4. If you should run a rusty nail into your foot, your physician would probably inject serum into your arm to protect you from Typhoid Diphtheria Tularemia Tetanus.
5. If you wished to measure the wind velocity, you should employ An Anemometer An Odometer A Barometer A Hydrometer
6. Here is a test of your sense of humor. Suppose a politician took sick and was excessively worried lest he die. He called his wife frantically and asked her to take his temperature. In her haste and excitement she stuck the barometer into her husband's mouth. A few minutes later when he fearfully inquired what it said she exclaimed, "Why, it reads —— Stormy weather ahead.
   —— Colder and probably snow.
   —— Fair and warmer.
   —— Dry and windy."

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—the last question counts five points.]

LEGALITY OF WILL.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a will be destroyed when I happened to be made executrix without notifying me? My mother passed away Dec. 13, 1939, and about a month later we were all together in her home and I asked where the will was. The answer was that there was no will. I, being the only daughter with three brothers, two bachelors and one married, thought I should know about same.

On Nov. 14 mother told me everything had been changed and she wanted it to be the way the will was made out in 1933. Of course, she had a terrible sickness and in constant pain most of the time. We hired a nurse on Dec. 2 and the chart she kept for mother showed in red ink that mother insisted upon having her daughter at her bedside.

2. On Dec. 1 a note was written me and signed by my mother and two witnesses leaving me $500. Now I have not heard anything about same which was produced to my older brother who now is residing at the home, with the married brother and family, that my mother owned. This older brother tried to get this note mother signed for me by taking it out of my aunt's hand but he didn't get it.

3. My aunt told the older brother that mother wanted an attorney in so she could change things the way they were in the will because she wanted it left that way. He begged my aunt not to bother calling in an attorney because he would give me my share without any trouble—but up to this date I have received no word of same.

4. How can I go about this ordeal? What must I do? I know mother had been under a great deal of narcotics due to her illness but she always kept her mind. The younger brother made it miserable for me while I stayed at mother's during her illness. My home and husband were some 30 miles or more away from my mother's home but I spent most of the time from the middle of November until the time of her death with her.

5. Never knowing what became of the will I would like to fight for more than the $500. I have been married 26 years and never caused mother a day's worry since then or any expense like the rest of them have.

C. G.

1. In general a testator can destroy his will any time before his death.

2. Such a gift if not executed in the manner provided for wills would not be enforceable.

3. Such facts might be considered on an issue of undue influence.

4. If you wish to force matters the first step is to employ an attorney.

5. You do not make clear whether your mother destroyed it before her death or whether others destroyed it after. The latter would of course be improper.

GET FLEET OUT OF HAWAII, JAP PRESS TELLS U. S.

Calls Warships 'Challenge and Threat.'

TOKIO, Jan. 16 (AP).—A newspaper controlled by the Japanese foreign office today described United States Pacific fleet concentrations as "a challenge and a threat" and advised President Roosevelt to withdraw the warships from Hawaii as the best way to keep American troops out of foreign wars.

This comment by the Japan Times came on a day which saw intense activity at the government bureau of information and a spattering of critical headlines as a result of Secretary of State Cordell Hull's declarations of Wednesday before the United States house foreign affairs committee. The newspaper said:

"To the Japanese it looks very much like the United States is going the long way around for sending armed forces into the scene of action abroad by maintenance of a fleet at Hawaii.

Calls It Boundary Extension.

"The best way to insure the President's pledge of no troops on foreign soil would be to withdraw the navy to home waters. Hawaii may be 'a home away from home,' but it should not be a permanent station for the bulk of the fleet.

"Huge overseas naval concentrations are equivalent to an extension of national boundaries."

Other newspapers asserted Hull's declaration was "a clear challenge to the axis, short of an ultimatum."

Asahi, under the headline: "Outrageous utterance by the American secretary of state," accused the United States of intending to control New Zealand, Australia, Singapore, and the East Indies.

Call Air Bases "Encirclement."

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—The Domei [Japanese news agency] radio quoted the newspaper Hochi Shimbun tonight as saying that construction of proposed Canadian-American air bases along the Canadian west coast "will be regarded as a continuation of the horse-shoe shaped encirclement of Japan by the Washington government."

Nazis Reveal Attitude.

BERLIN, Jan. 16 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull's remarks before the house foreign affairs committee in Washington, D. C., interested official Germany for two reasons, authorized sources said today. The first was because of his altogether too "obviously clear evasion of the Russian question," and the second because of "his veiled threats against Japanese expansionist intentions."

Dyes Expected to Aid Science in War on Cancer

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—Two blue dyes, made especially for cancer, were announced today in Science, the official organ of American scientists. The dyes themselves have no effect on cancer, but they increase by nearly 50 per cent the effectiveness of the new neutron rays with which physicians have been experimenting on cancer treatment for several years.

The experiments were made on mice and reported by Paul A. Zahl of Memorial hospital and Franklin S. Cooper of the Haskins laboratories, New York.

Shot Twice by Gunman When He Resists Holdup

William D. Rini was shot in the left hip and left shoulder last night by a bandit in the garage behind the Rini home at 3522 Bosworth avenue. Rini, who is 47 years old, was taken to the Burrows hospital, 669 Irving Park road. He told police that as he drove into the garage he was confronted by a gunman. Rini lunged at the bandit, who fired two shots point blank and fled.

Strike Closes Harvester Plant at East Moline, Ill.

Moline, Ill., Jan. 16 [Special].—The East Moline works of the International Harvester company, employing 1,400 men, closed this afternoon after an independent union called a strike. E. W. Stahl, works superintendent, announced tonight that it will be reopened tomorrow for those who wish to return to work. Negotiations will be opened with leaders of the union.

Sings on W-G-N

Gertrude Niesen on the In Chicago Tonight program. In background is Conductor Harold Stokes.

Gypsy Rose Lee, best known as a strip tease performer, visited W-G-N last night and revealed another side of herself. As a guest on the In Chicago Tonight program, along with Songstress Gertrude Niesen, Drummer Gene Krupa, and that wacky threesome, Tom, Dick and Harry, Gypsy Rose told about her struggles as a writer.

Gypsy Rose in a literary tête-à-tête with Jess Kirkpatrick disclosed that she has written 150 pages of a murder mystery. Gypsy started on the long road toward acquaintance with six syllable words by spending a total of two weeks in school. Later she rented a typewriter, she said, bought a dictionary and pitched into the unknown—spelling, punctuation, and all that. She had a column published in a newspaper. And this she later dressed up with capitals and semicolons to make the first chapter of her book!

Gene Krupa made the drums come up like thunder; Gertrude Niesen showed the range of her unusual voice in "Shadows of the Night," and Tom, Dick, and Harry, W-G-N's own buffoons, kept the studio audience roaring with their comic antics.

Next week Comedian Lou Holtz and Lola Lane, who open at the State Lake today, will be featured on In Chicago Tonight.

GIRL, 4, INJURED; WOMAN ACCUSED OF BEATING HER

Theresa Pungiture, 4 years old, was taken to Post Graduate hospital last night suffering from a skull fracture, concussion of the brain and severe bruises about the body. Police arrested the child's stepmother, Mrs. Isabelle Pungiture, 20, charged her with assault and accused her of severely beating the girl. Mrs. Pungiture insisted to Policemen James Micus and James Burns that the child suffered the injuries in a fall in their home at 2817 Shields avenue. Physicians at the hospital said the child's condition is critical.

1 Injured, 2 Rescued in Rooming House Fire

One man was burned and two women were assisted to safety by firemen early yesterday when fire caused damage estimated at $1,000 to a three story rooming house at 5 West Delaware place. The fire is believed to have been caused by a cigaret tossed into a rubbish chute. The man burned, John Quigley, 35 years old, shouted for help and was guided down a ladder by firemen, who also assisted Mrs. Alice Sarles, 55, and Miss Ida Jesuiter, 47, to safety.

4 U. S. EXPERTS WATCH WAR IN MEDITERRANEAN

Fifth Will Join British Fleet Unit Soon.

WITH THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN FLEET, Jan. 16 (AP).—The United States, closely watching British fleet operations in the Mediterranean, has boosted its staff of official observers to four, with a fifth expected to arrive soon.

To help gather data which British fleet officers say should be invaluable to the United States navy department in connection with its vast construction program, Lieutenant Commander James Fife Jr. of Reno, Nev., until recently assistant naval attaché at London, has joined Lieutenant Commanders Kenneth P. Hartman of Philadelphia and John N. Opie III. of Long Beach, Cal., as observers with the eastern Mediterranean units. Lieutenant Commander Augustus D. Clark of New York is with the western Mediterranean squadron. Hartman was aboard the aircraft carrier Illustrious during the seven hours it was attacked by German dive bombers Jan. 10 off Sicily.

Rapidly Developing Field.

The rapidly developing field of naval air operations will bring an aeronautics expert, Lieutenant Commander Steadman Teller of Locust Valley, N. Y., to the Mediterranean soon. He is expected to be assigned to an aircraft carrier immediately.

Aboard the Illustrious, Hartman saw what may well go down in history as one of the most magnificent displays of courage under fire ever recorded. Youthful seamen and their officers stood up under seven hours of attack by German dive bombers which rained thousands of pounds of bombs alongside and on deck and flung torpedo after torpedo at the side of the Illustrious. They manned guns sprayed by German machine gun fire and blazed away at the attackers.

Convoy Is Saved.

Observers agreed that had it not been for their courage the British would have lost not only their convoy but would have suffered far more damage than that caused by the loss of the cruiser Southampton and the battering of the Illustrious.

The fact that the big convoy carrying supplies and men to Greece successfully ran the gantlet was undoubtedly encouraging not only to the Greeks but to Britain's other allies in this area.

INDUCT CHICAGO AVIATION GUARD SQUADRON FEB. 3

Twenty-five officers and 116 men of the 108th observation squadron, Illinois National Guard, will be inducted into federal service Feb. 3, Maj. Clifford McElvain, commander of the squadron, was informed yesterday by war department officials. The squadron, which now is equipped with 15 planes, is to be stationed at Fort Custer, near Battle Creek, Mich. Because of delays in constructing a landing field at Fort Custer, the squadron probably will remain in Chicago for at least a month after its induction.

MRS. W. S. HEFFERAN TO END 18 YEARS ON CITY SCHOOL BOARD

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan.

Mrs. William S. Hefferan, a member of the board of education for 18 years, offered her resignation by mail yesterday to Mayor Kelly. Her term will expire May 1. Action on the resignation will be delayed until the mayor returns from Florida where he is vacationing.

In her request to Mayor Kelly to accept her resignation, Mrs. Hefferan said she thought she had discharged her civic duty during her long term in office, that she did not feel she is indispensable to the welfare of education in Chicago, and that she wants to rest. She expects to leave the city soon for a vacation in Florida. She will be 75 years old in April.

Thruout her long career she has been active in woman's clubs, Democratic politics, and the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers which she helped to found in 1888. She was elected second president of the congress in 1903. She regards her work

LONDON 'PEOPLE'S CONVENTION' IS HAILED BY REDS

Called Step Toward Union of Workers.

MOSCOW, Jan. 16 (AP).—A "people's convention" in London last Sunday which urged creation of a new British government to make a "people's peace" and establish friendship with Russia was hailed today by Tass, official Russian news agency, as "a new step toward union of the working class and democratic elements in England."

The Tass account of the convention, to which Izvestia, the government paper, devoted half a page, attributed the following statements to convention speakers:

"England is almost in a state of war with the U. S. S. R. because she maintains in London the Polish government which declared war on the soviet union."

"The soviet union cannot coöperate with England until there is a [British] government which really and sincerely will coöperate with the soviet union."

ASK REDS' FRIENDSHIP.

The "people's convention" in London, attended by approximately 2,000, adopted resolutions calling for a "people's government" to take over major industries, banks and land transportation.

The resolutions, submitted by Denis Pritt, a former Labor party member, also asked friendship with the soviet, a "people's peace," better living conditions, independence for India, and restoration of all trade union rights.

Pritt said the policy of the group was "to offer to the peoples of the enemy a peace of no annexations, no reparations or indemnities, with liberty to all peoples to determine their own destiny."

WATCHMAN SHOT BY BURGLARS.

Emil Gatterseld of 4646 Sheridan road, a watchman, was shot in the leg early today when he surprised three burglars attempting to break into a storehouse at 5130 Broadway. The burglars fled after firing at Gatterseld.

SAYS JAPS WON'T GET PREFERENCE IN DUTCH INDIES

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Jan. 16 (AP).—The Netherlands East Indies government grants no preferential economic treatment to any nation and intends to continue this policy with respect to Japan, H. J. Van Mook, commercial minister extraordinary, asserted today.

He said in an interview that an amicable atmosphere marked present negotiations with the Japanese trade delegation and that there was no reason to believe this would change.

Informed opinion, however, was unanimous that any Japanese attempts to high pressure the Dutch into an agreement would be met with counter-pressure and that the island government was prepared to meet all eventualities. A Japanese mission, headed by Kenkichi Yoshizawa, ex-foreign minister, is here attempting to conclude contracts for raw materials, particularly rubber and tin.

HUNT FOR ITALIAN PLANE DOWN OFF BRAZIL IS FUTILE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 16 (AP).—Brazilian ships and airplanes searching off the coast today found no trace of the Italian airliner Ibayr, forced to alight with a disabled motor, or any of the ten persons aboard the craft. Hours after the trans-Atlantic plane sent an S O S late yesterday it did not answer calls from the Olinda radio, one of Brazil's most powerful stations.

Carrying four crewmen, four other airline employés, and two passengers, the plane radioed late yesterday it had been forced down about 300 miles off the island of Fernando de Noronha. That island is 125 miles east of Brazil.

The plane was en route from Natal, Brazil, to Cape Verde, Africa, and Europe.

FINKLE TO HEAD ASSEMBLY'S BILL DRAFTING BUREAU

Green's Friend, but That Was No Factor.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—Attorney Jerome R. Finkle of Springfield was chosen today as the new head of the Illinois legislative reference bureau, the bill drafting and advisory unit of the general assembly.

When the selection became known there was general acceptance of a theory that he had been named because he was a classmate and fraternity brother of Gov. Dwight H. Green at the University of Chicago law school. But the fact is that he was selected before the governor knew he was under consideration, and he was picked by men who did not know that there was any link between him and Green.

Succeeds Dewitt Billman.

The story was told in confidence two days ago by one of the men from whom the governor had requested a recommendation for the vacancy created by the death of Dewitt Billman, who had been secretary of this extremely important nonpolitical bureau for 15 years.

When, last Tuesday, on his first business day in office, these advisers reported to Green that they had found what they thought was the right man for the place, they recited his qualifications and not until Green asked for it did they mention Finkle's name.

"Why, I know him well," said Green. "He was a classmate of mine."

Governor Has a Cold.

Technically the selection was made today at a meeting of the five members of the bureau—they have no other titles in this connection—at the executive mansion where, for the second day, Gov. Green remained because of a slight cold. The governor is ex-officio chairman of the bureau, and the other members are the chairman of the house and senate committees on judiciary and appropriations.

The four legislative members, announced yesterday, are Representative David I. Swanson and Hugh Green and Senators Richard J. Barr and Thomas P. Gunning.

Career of Finkle.

Finkle is 47 years old and was born in Galva, Kas., of German extraction. He is a graduate of Valparaiso university and the University of Chicago law school and received his degree of doctor of jurisprudence from the latter institution in 1922. He served as assistant secretary of the legislative reference bureau from 1922 to 1926, and was recalled for special service in 1929 and 1934. He now practices law in Springfield, and is secretary and assistant dean of the Lincoln College of Law here, a night school.

JUDGE COMBINES TWO TEST CASES ON SALES LEVY

Whether contractors and contractors' supply companies are liable for the Illinois retailers' occupational [sales] tax will be decided in one court ruling now being prepared, Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher decided yesterday. He consolidated two test cases, one brought by 150 supply firms, and the other by 125 contractors.

The case involves the payment of about $500,000 a year now levied upon the two groups. Each group claims the other is liable for the tax. The suits consolidated were those brought by the Material Service corporation, a supply firm, and H. P. Heger & Co., plumbing contractor.

Under a state finance department ruling of 1938, supply firms are now paying the sales tax on "materials," while contractors are paying it on "fixtures." Both groups contend they do not make sales at retail. Last Nov. 4 a subsequent ruling held neither group was liable, but both have continued to pay the tax under protest pending the oucome of the present litigation.

Sleet Puts Steno on Her Own, but She Gets There!

Catonsville, Md., Jan. 16 (AP).—When a sleet storm coated streets with ice today Miss Evelyn Anderson, stenographer, donned ice skates to navigate the mile from her house to a street car. She made that decision after an unceremonious slide down her front steps. She made the trolley after a second down. The score: Two runs in her stockings.

CITES HUSBAND'S $5,000 TOY TRAIN IN ALIMONY PLEA

Wife Says She Needs $200 a Week.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Townsend Strom contended in court yesterday that if her husband can afford to play with $5,000 toy trains, buy expensive cars, and live comfortably without working, he should be able to pay $200 a week for the support of his wife and daughter.

Mrs. Strom testified before Judge Rudolph Desort in the divorce suit brought by her husband, Walter H. Strom Jr., 7811 Greenfield avenue, River Forest. Strom charges his wife with drunkenness and seeks the custody of their daughter, Barbara, 3.

Discusses Grocery Bills.

"After the birth of our daughter my husband told me that he was worth around $800,000," Mrs. Strom testified under examination by her attorney, Frank Cantwell. "I think his income now is about $1,500 a month. He is part owner of a miniature locomotive concern at Palisades Park, N. J. Miniature trains are his hobby and he has models at home which he plays with in the attic. They are supposed to be worth $5,000.

"Before our separation in August last year he gave me $250 a month for myself and doctor bills for the baby. You see, four weeks after she was born he wouldn't allow her in the house and she had to live with my parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Townsend, 239 South Maple avenue, Oak Park. He only allowed $15 a week for groceries, which wasn't enough to feed us, our company, and three dogs."

Asks $200 a Week.

She asked for the River Forest home or $200 a week.

Strom testified at a hearing on Jan. 10 that his income was $400 to $600 a month. He was ordered to supply a list of his assets. His attorney, James J. Shepero, produced Strom's 1939 income tax receipt yesterday. It showed that he had had an income of $16,000.

After the hearing Judge Desort sought to bring about a reconciliation. When this was unsuccessful he set the next hearing of the case on Jan. 30.

COURT TOLD CAR LINES CAN'T MEET COUNCIL'S TERMS

Funds for Modernizing Called Inadequate.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Two officials prominent in Chicago's transit unification dispute told Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday that the proposed unified transit company will not be able to carry out the long delayed 102 million dollar transit improvement program under terms of the city's pending tractio ordinance. The ordinance was introduced into the city council last week.

Judge Igoe, whose court has jurisdiction over the surface and elevated lines, summoned Edward E. Brown, spokesman for the surface and elevated lines, and Walter A. Shaw, court traction adviser, to tell their attitude on the ordinance.

Tells Financial Outlook.

Brown told the court the only funds in sight to finance the modernization program are approximately 30 million dollars in cash now held by the surface lines and 6 or 7 millions that will result from a proposed federal transit loan.

The loan would amount to 53 millions, but under the terms 40 millions would be paid for partial redemptions to present transit bondholders and additional millions would be required to purchase the properties of the Chicago Motor Coach company.

"I don't think the public should be under misapprehension as to the amount of improvements that actually are in sight," Brown said. "The only source of further financing that can now be seen, beyond the federal loan, is additional government money."

He said the ordinance does not require the company to forfeit its franchise if it is not able to make improvements.

Orders Final Report.

Judge Igoe commented that the city council apparently had passed an ordinance without making provision for raising the money to carry it out. He ordered the transit representatives to make a final report next Thursday on their attitude toward the ordinance.

Shaw said the prospective modernization program could not be put thru under the ordinance and that the questions of a loan commitment from federal officials, terms of a pension plan for transit employés, and a price for the bus properties, are still hanging fire. The motor coach owners have asked 10 million dollars. The transit lines would be the buyer. Many aldermen have termed the price excessive.

RFC Studies Ordinance.

In Washington, attorneys for the Reconstruction Finance corporation began a study of the proposed traction unification ordinance. Results of their study, it was said, will determine the advisability of granting the city's request for the 53 million dollar RFC loan to complete unification.

R. J. Lindquist, chief auditor for the RFC, said he believed RFC attorneys would be able to confer with city officials and their representatives by early next week for preliminary discussion of the ordinance. He said that altho the ordinance is scheduled to be presented to the city council in final form on Feb. 11, he did not believe the RFC study would be completed by that time.

TAX PREJUDGING LEGISLATION TO BE SOUGHT AGAIN

Suggest Other State Laws Be Changed.

Adoption for the third time of a tax preadjudication law, designed to give all Cook county taxpayers equal benefits from reductions in tax levies allowed by the courts, will be sought in the state legislature next month. This was disclosed yesterday by State Senator Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago], who is drafting the new tax bill.

Two previous laws to require prejudging of the tax levies were declared unconstitutional by the Illinois Supreme court in 1938 and 1940. Daley said he is seeking to overcome the court's objections in the new legislation.

Plan Court Hearings First.

The bill provides that objections to levies of Cook county's six major governments be ruled on in the courts before the tax bills are mailed out. In this way taxpayers would not be billed for illegal levies. Under the present system, levies are declared illegal in the courts after taxes for the year have been paid, and only those taxpayers who have paid under protest receive refunds.

Daley said the high court has held preadjudication laws invalid because they provide insufficient notice to taxpayers. He proposes to meet this objection by having notices mailed to taxpayers informing them of court hearings on the levies before the bills are mailed.

Several proposed state laws and amendments were recommended yesterday by the legislative committee of the county board. One would require the city to pay the costs of operating the Municipal court, relieving the county of $400,000 a year in expenses. The city formerly paid the costs, but a state Supreme court ruling in 1939 held the county must pay court costs on cases involving state law violations.

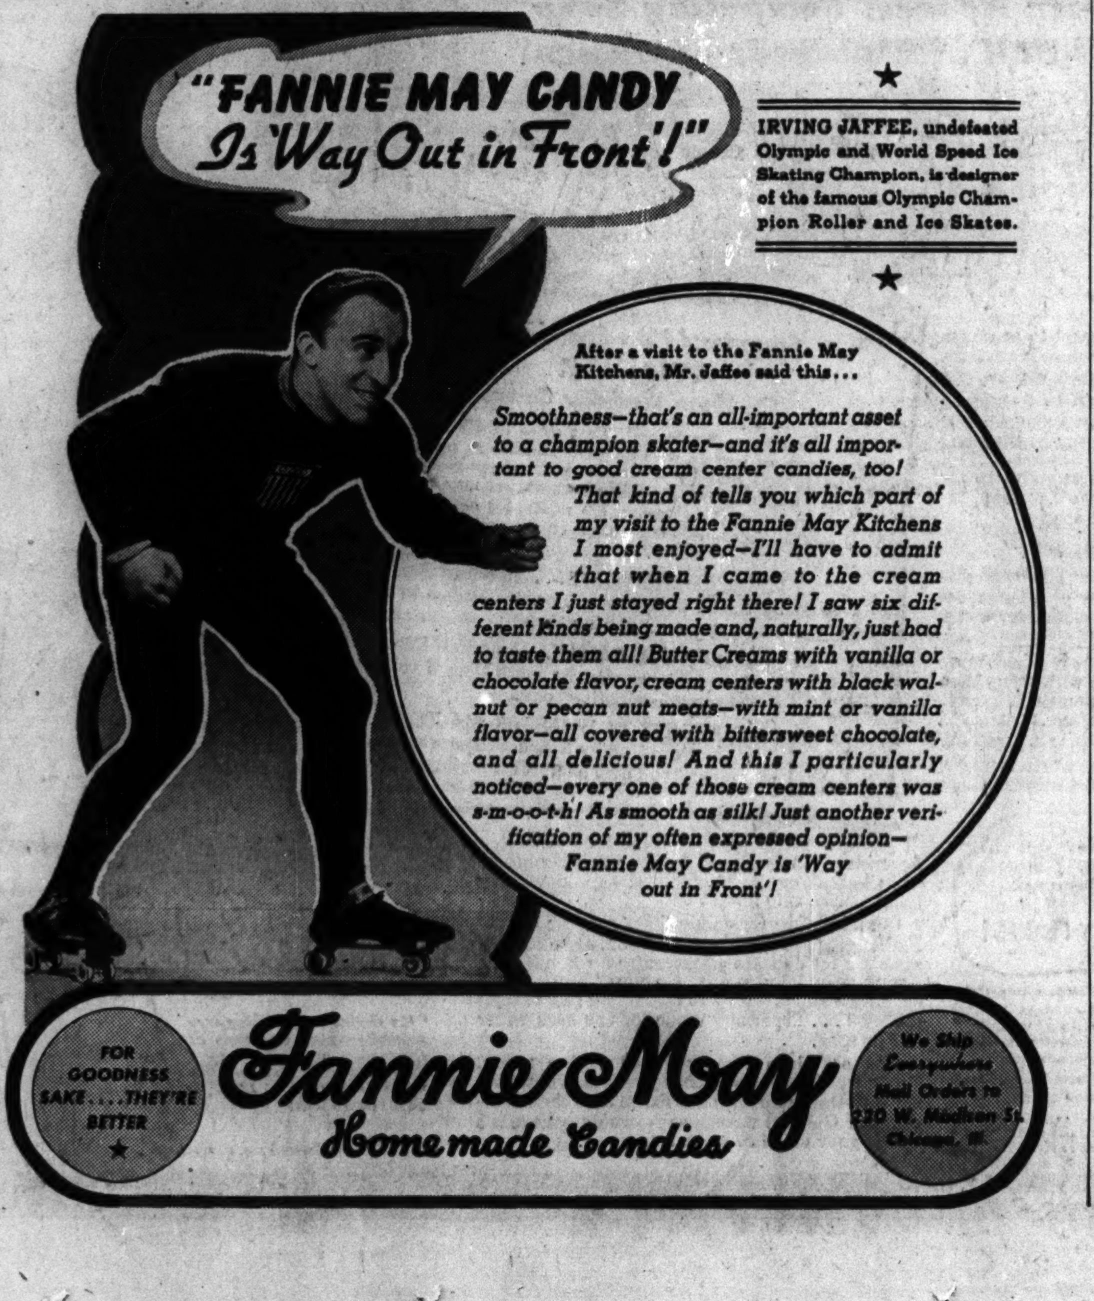
Suggest Other Changes.

Another amendment would save the county a million dollars for pensions to the blind and care of dependent children. This would be accomplished by bringing the pensions plan under the scope of the federal social security act, placing the cost of the pensions on the federal and state governments, instead of the state and county governments.

The committee also recommended legislation to: Give tax buyers the right to title to property after four years; change tax penalty dates from the present June 1 and Sept. 1 to May 1 and Oct. 1; eliminate advertising in tax litigation, and give the county a share of the state's revenue derived from license fees on race tracks.

Report Jury Refuses True Bill in Juke Box Slaying

The grand jury was reported yesterday to have refused to vote a true bill against John Bosquez, held for the slaying last Nov. 12 of Joseph Maloney, 8903 Mackinaw avenue, and the wounding of Maloney's brother-in-law, Policman Francis Farrell. Bosquez, cook in a chili parlor at 8901 Mackinaw avenue, reportedly told the jurors he fired in self-defense during a quarrel over a noisy juke box in the place.



"FANNIE MAY CANDY Is 'Way Out in Front'!"

IRVING JAFFEE, undefeated Olympic and World Speed Ice Skating Champion, is designer of the famous Olympic Champion Roller and Ice Skates.

After a visit to the Fannie May Kitchens, Mr. Jaffee said this...

Smoothness—that's an all-important asset to a champion skater—and it's all important to good cream center candies, too! That kind of tells you which part of my visit to the Fannie May Kitchens I most enjoyed—I'll have to admit that when I came to the cream centers I just stayed right there! I saw six different kinds being made and, naturally, just had to taste them all! Butter Creams with vanilla or chocolate flavor, cream centers with black walnut or pecan nut meats—with mint or vanilla flavor—all covered with bittersweet chocolate, and all delicious! And this I particularly noticed—every one of those cream centers was s-m-o-o-t-h! As smooth as silk! Just another verification of my often expressed opinion—Fannie May Candy is 'Way out in Front'!

FAITHFUL RALLY TO KUM BUMMER; HEAR RAPE STORY

BY THOMAS MORROW.

Hugh Carruthers.

The faithful members of the Neological [new logic] Foundation, 32 West Randolph street, crowded into the court of Judge Joseph A. Graber yesterday and chewed gum anxiously as their high priest, Hugh Greer Carruthers, was brought to trial on a charge of rape.

Carruthers says he is 74 years old, and a former priest of a Tibetan lamasery called Kum Bum. By the time he took his place at the defense table, all seats were filled and spectators lined the wall. Foundation members, the idly curious, and a jury of five women and seven men heard a 13 year old girl tell how Carruthers raped her in his office after assuring her it was "for her own good."

She went to the office with her mother, aunt, and cousin, last July 20, the witness said, to be treated for heart trouble. There, she testified, a Mrs. Jones told her that "Dr." Carruthers could look into her eyes and tell right away what was wrong.

Calls for "The Silence."

Mrs. Jones felt, according to the testimony, that "the silence" had best be called into the treatment. At the dictation of Mrs. Jones, the witness said, she wrote a note to Carruthers which said:

"I am suffering from heart trouble, and if Dr. Carruthers will treat me with silence, I will love him for it."

The girl said that gained her admittance to the inner office from which Carruthers barred her mother, aunt, and cousin. In the office, she charged, Carruthers did not bother to look into her eyes, dispensed with the silence treatment, and raped her.

Has Doubts on Astrology.

On cross-examination Defense Attorney Cameron Latter inquired the attitude of the witness toward Mrs. Jones. The girl said she thought Mrs. Jones was nice, but added that she didn't believe everything the woman said about astronomy.

"Astrology," Latter corrected her. "You mean you thought she was a little cracked?"

"No," the witness replied, "but I didn't believe all of it about the signs."

DOUGLAS SEEKS GAME LICENSE FEES FOR CITY

Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th] in yesterday's city council meeting introduced a resolution that the city clerk "in a friendly spirit" hand over to the corporate fund the fees collected on fish and game licenses in this and subsequent years. The resolution also asked that the council request the state legislature to amend the fish and game act to make the income from fees payable to the city.

Ald. John J. Grealis [44th] declared he saw no reason to reopen the previously discussed question and asked that the resolution be filed—a move tantamount to burying the motion. However, virtually the same result was obtained when the resolution was referred automatically to the rules committee after two other committees had asked that it be referred to them.

SEEK REPEALER OF THREE DAY MARRIAGE LAW

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn announced last night he is sponsoring a legislative bill to abolish the law requiring three days' notice of intention to marry. The bill will also include a provision to improve the medical test law.

The bill, now being prepared by State Senator Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago], will be introduced in the state legislature before the end of January. Flynn said that the three day notice requirement is a nuisance and that its purpose is already served by the health test law in that the latter prevents hasty marriages.

The county clerk said the bill provides that marriage applicants must sign their signatures on health certificates in the presence of examining physicians so that when they apply for marriage licenses their signatures can be compared.

OYSTER SHUCKING IS A SHELL GAME THAT YOU'LL LIKE

Even if There Are No Pearls, You Eat Well.

Whether oysters are purchased in the shell, canned, or ready shucked, they can be prepared in dozens of tempting ways to lend variety to fall menus. To open and clean oysters in the shell, wash thoroly and rinse in cold water. Insert a strong thin knife between the shells, near the thick end, and run it around until the muscle holding the shells together is cut. Turn oysters and the liquor into a bowl. Strain liquor before using and examine oysters closely for pieces of shell. Use as desired, allowing about ⅝ cup per serving.

Sauteed Oysters.

Drain oysters and dry thoroly between pieces of absorbent paper on a clean towel. Roll in fine bread or cracker crumbs. Fry on well greased hot griddle or frying pan for 2 minutes, turning to brown both sides. Serve on toast.

Panned Oysters.

Place oysters in shallow dripping pan, add a small amount of oyster liquor. Bake in hot over [425 degrees] for 3 to 5 minutes, or until they are plump and hot. Serve on buttered toast softened with hot oyster liquor.

French Fried Oysters.

Dry oysters. Dip in slightly beaten egg, roll in fine, dry bread crumbs and fry in deep hot fat for 2 to 3 minutes, or until golden brown.

Grilled Oysters.

[Serves 6.]

18 shucked large oysters
2 eggs, slightly beaten
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Fine, dry bread crumbs
¼ cup butter, melted
6 slices buttered toast

Drain oysters and dry thoroly. Dip in egg, seasoned with salt and pepper, roll in crumbs, and place on greased broiler. Pour a drop or two of butter on each oyster and broil under moderate heat 1 minute, or until browned. Turn, pour another drop of butter on each, and broil for 1 minute. Serve on toast, garnished with lemon slice and parsley.

Deviled Oysters.

[Serves 6.]

1 onion, finely chopped
¼ cup butter
1 quart oysters, chopped
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Dash of cayenne
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup cracker crumbs
¼ cup fine bread crumbs

Saute onion in 3 tablespoons of butter for 3 minutes, or until tender. Add oysters, parsley, cayenne, and Worcestershire sauce, and cook 1 minute. Add to well beaten eggs. Add cracker crumbs and turn into shells or small ramekins. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and dot with remaining tablespoon of butter. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees, for 15 minutes or until browned. Serve immediately.

Here's a Quickie Dessert That Exalts Prune Juice

1½ cups hot prune juice
Dash of salt
Juice of 1 lemon and maraschino cherry juice to make ½ cup

Dissolve gelatin in hot prune juice. Add salt and fruit juices. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Serve with whipped cream if desired.

A PEPPERMINT CANDY CAKE! IT'S JUST THE THING FOR GAY PARTY

Cream shortening thoroly and add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Add alternately with milk to creamed mixture, mixing well after each addition. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into batter. Fold in finely crushed peppermint candy. Pour into a greased 8 inch tube pan and bake in a moderately slow oven, 325 degrees, for 1 hour. Frost with 7 minute icing.

Dried Apricots Retain All Properties of Fresh Fruit

It requires five and one-half pounds of fresh apricots to produce just one pound of the dried fruit. All the health and flavor properties of the fresh fruit are concentrated in the dried product. Dried apricots are a good sources of iron and copper in the dietary.

THIS LITTLE PIG WENT TO MARKET —AT A HIGH PRICE

Pork Is Up; Other Meats Make Bargain Lists.

BY MARY MEADE.

Biggest bit of news to bargain-seeking grocery shoppers this week is the increased price of pork. The price jump is big enough to almost wipe pork off the list of specials being offered by grocers.

Best meat buys this week are smoked meats and the less tender cuts of beef from the fore quarter of the animal. This means more chuck roasts, arm and blade Swiss steaks, and stews on the menu, as well as the substitution of the cheaper smoked pork cuts for fresh pork cuts.

If your mouth waters for a tender cut of beef plan to serve a rib roast. These are not cheap, but they are sale priced in several stores. Lamb shoulder is a fairly good buy, tho not widely featured. Poultry is getting quite a bit of attention on the bargain lists at many stores. But there is almost no mention of fresh pork in this week's list of specials.

Many Vegetables Lower.

This appears to be as good a time as any to slip a vegetable plate into your menus. There are some excellent buys and quite a few lowered price tags on the vegetable racks.

Put carrots, cauliflower, creamed celery, and greens of some kind on that vegetable plate for a real budget saver. Cauliflower and greens of all kinds are among the best buys on the market. Squash is also cheap. Celery, carrots, and spinach are cheaper this week-end, while broccoli [particularly the best quality broccoli], cabbage, and tomatoes are higher. The last named vegetable is definitely a luxury item. Cabbage is still a good buy as vegetable prices go, and broccoli is not out of season.

Cucumbers are high, but you can make up for the lack of them in your salads by using a greater variety of greens and by pepping up the salad bowl with a shallot or two. Shallots [many grocers sell them as green onions] are quite reasonable. All the root vegetables are budget savers. Green peas are luxury priced, and green beans, while not entirely out of line, are no longer the good bargain bet they were a few weeks ago.

Citrus Fruits Bargain Priced.

You can't go wrong on citrus fruits. They're of peak quality and reasonably priced. Even tangerines are low priced, and grapefruit is the best fruit buy on the market.

When you buy Jonathan or greening apples look carefully for quality. Some of them are coming out of storage in poor condition, others are of fine quality. Apples which are consistently of good quality are Winesaps, McIntosh, Delicious, and Rome Beauties.

Cranberries and grapes are winding up their respective seasons. The rhubarb season is just getting under way, and this fruit is reasonably priced. It's coming from Michigan hothouses. Receipts of Florida strawberries are rather light, and the price has gone up again.

1 No. 2½ can tomatoes
2 small onions, sliced
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 12-ounce can corned beef
6 slices buttered toast

Delicious Disguise Found for Leftover Potatoes

Leftover potatoes are deliciously disguised when sliced and baked in butter. Simply slice the cooked, peeled potatoes ¼ inch thick and place in buttered baking plan. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] until thoroly heated and lightly browned.

TRY MINCEMEAT APPLE DUMPLING FOR A NEW TREAT

It's hard to choose between those two dessert favorites, mince meat pie and apple dumplings, so why not try a combination of the two to satisfy all tastes?

MINCEMEAT APPLE DUMPLINGS.
[Serves 6.]

1 recipe for 2 crust pastry
6 small cooking apples
⅛ cup prepared mincemeat
½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter

Roll pastry thin and cut into 6 squares, large enough to fit around the apples. Peel and core apples. Fill centers with mincemeat. Place each apple on a square of pastry. Sprinkle with sugar and dot with butter. Bring pastry around apple and seal edges. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 400 degrees and continue baking for about half an hour. Serve hot or cold with cream.

HERE'S THE RECIPE FOR TASTY JAM OF SPICED APPLE

If your shelf of jams and jellies is being depleted, here's a recipe you will welcome. It's a temptingly delicious jam, one that is good with meats as well as on breads.

SPICED APPLE FRUIT JAM.

4 pounds apples
1½ cups water
1 cup canned raspberries
4 cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Wash and quarter apples, but do not remove cores or skins. Add water and cook slowly, keeping tightly covered, until apples are soft. Press thru colander. Add remaining ingredients and cook rapidly until jam is thick. Seal immediately in hot, sterilized jars.

Bleaching or Ageing Needed to Make Flour Standard

White flour is bleached to improve its baking qualities. Before bleaching, flour is "green" and makes a sticky dough. Only by ageing—a long and hard-to-control process or by bleaching, can flour make standard, good quality bread. The bleaches which may be used are controled by government standards.

EIGHT INDICTED IN ILLINOIS-OHIO ALCOHOL PLOT

Three Chicagoans were named in liquor conspiracy indictments returned in the federal District court in Cleveland, O., yesterday. The indictments charged them and five others with conspiracy to transport untaxed alcohol from Illinois to Cleveland.

The Chicagoans named are Anthony Hodorowicz, Mack Price, and Joseph Genovese. All live on the far south side. Hodorowicz is a brother of Frank Hodorowicz, a convicted bootlegger who testified against two former assistant United States district attorneys in a bribery trial a year ago. Two other brothers, Mike and Pete Hodorowicz, have also been convicted of bootlegging.

OLD HAMBURG CITY HALL SITE WILL BE SOLD

The site of the old "Hamburg City Hall," at 742-744 W. 35th street, where Stephen Kelly, father of Mayor Edward J. Kelly, once served as a fireman and policeman, will be sold to the highest bidder, the city council decided yesterday. On recommendation of the finance committee, the council authorized that the land be advertised for a week. The sale will be approved at the next meeting. The building that formerly stood on the plot was erected shortly after the fire of 1871. It housed a fire company, a police station and a police court. The area that surrounded it was predominantly German, hence the name.

HEWITT ASKS GAS TAX CASH FOR 3 CHICAGO BRIDGES

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, asked the corporation counsel's office yesterday to draft an order drawing on motor fuel gas tax funds for the construction of three new bridges on the north branch of the river. The order will be submitted to the council finance committee. The bridges and estimated cost, as outlined in the order, are: Halsted street bascule bridge, $1,250,000; Fullerton avenue fixed bridge, $500,000, and Diversey avenue fixed bridge, $800,000.

BURNED IN APARTMENT BLAZE.

John Miller, 40 years old, a machinist, was severely burned yesterday when fire damaged his apartment at 519 South Damen avenue. Firemen said that the flames were started by a cigaret.

Judge Green ruled that McReynolds showed his "good intentions" by bellowing "And how!" when asked by the court if he still wanted to marry Miss Rebikauskas. She was evasive when asked about her own feelings.

Miss Rebikauskas had accused McReynolds of swindling her by posing as a medical student who needed financial help. Her brother, Edward, tried to grab McReynolds as the latter left the courtroom, but was restrained by bailiffs.

JUDGE RULES OUT JURY'S $1 AWARD IN $100,000 SUIT

A jury award of $1 in a $100,000 false arrest suit brought by J. Claude Youdan, an attorney of Grand Rapids, Mich., was termed "outrageous" and set aside yesterday by Judge John P. Barnes of the federal District court. Youdan had sued the Majestic Hotel Management association, Matt E. Evans, manager of the Majestic, and the Hotel Sherman.

The attorney charged that last March 19 two Chicago policemen, led to his room in the Sherman by Evans, arrested him at 1:30 a. m., charged him with defrauding the hotel, and locked him up overnight. This was an attempt by the Majestic hotel, Youdan charged, to collect a $14 bill dating from November, 1939, which he paid after this episode. He asserted he was never in arrears to the Sherman.

Youdan, who is 61 years old, charged he became ill as a result of his night in a police cell and had to spend 10 days in bed. The jury awarded the $1 damages against the Majestic hotel and acquitted Evans and the Sherman. Judge Barnes dismissed the suit against the Sherman but ordered new trials for the two other defendants.

JAIL PLAINTIFF AND JUROR FOR DISCUSSING CASE

Attorneys Floyd E. Eckert and C. Russell Allen expressed amazement yesterday when their client in a $10,000 damage suit, Harold Bell, 33 years old, of Ringwood, McHenry county, told them he had talked over the case with a juror Wednesday night. Judge Thomas E. Gill, sitting in McHenry county Circuit court at Woodstock, where the suit was being tried, expressed the same emotion.

Judge Gill questioned Bell, who admitted he talked with Joseph King of McHenry, a juror. Judge Gill declared a mistrial and sentenced Bell to one year and King to six months in the McHenry county jail for contempt.

State's Attorney William M. Carroll began an investigation to determine if criminal charges should be placed against Bell and King. Bell was asking $10,000 damages under the dram shop act against Joseph Friend of Woodstock, a former Richmond tavern owner, in connection with an auto accident.

ASKS ANNULMENT AFTER LEARNING OF ANOTHER WIFE

A suit seeking the annulment of her marriage to Frederick A. Lippold, naval architect with offices at 35 East Wacker drive, was filed in Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Marie Hauck Lippold, 27 years old.

Mrs. Lippold's petition states that she learned last Saturday that her husband, who lives at 6125 Kenwood avenue, had another wife before their marriage in Cleveland Dec. 4, 1939. The first wife, Mrs. Anna Lippold, is now living in Chicago with their two children, Fritz, 12, and William, 8, the suit states. It asserts Lippold married the first wife in Germany in 1923.

Mrs. Marie Lippold's attorney, J. A. Cobbey, said a separate maintenance suit against Lippold filed in February, 1940, by Mrs. Anna Lippold, charges nonsupport. The suit is now pending before Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

MOST OF EAST COAST COVERED BY SHEET OF ICE

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—Sleet, snow, and freezing rain swept over most of the Atlantic seaboard today covering the entire area from New England to Georgia with a treacherous coating of frozen slush and ice, slowing highway traffic to a crawl, causing uncounted accidents, grounding planes, and threatening serious property damage.

The Baltimore, Md., office of the weather bureau said the ice glaze in Maryland was the worst it could recall and the state reported nine traffic deaths. Most maritime operations were halted there.

Air liners were grounded from Maine to Georgia all day, with no let-up in the bad flying weather in sight. Pennsylvania reported at least five persons killed on icy streets, with hundreds treated in hospitals for fractures and bruises suffered in falls and skidding vehicles.

Key West Calls to Chicagoans and They Heed

BY JUDITH CASS.

MRS. LOUIS C. Sudler's memories of Key West this year will be of more than the scarlet and purple Bougainvillaea and of the thatched cabanas dotting the beaches. Down on the peaceful little island in the heart of the sailfish and barracuda belt, Mrs. Sudler is finding challenges for her numerous talents.

Only last week-end she walked, or rather, danced—off with top honors in the Casa Marina's champagne dance, held in the patio of the lovely resort hotel where she and Mr. Sudler are staying. Her partner for the evening was Commander Wilder D. Baker of Washington.

When the Casa Marina held its first putting contest of the season on Sunday, Mrs. Sudler tied for first place with Mrs. Peter Schutt. She was nosed out by just one stroke in the playoff.

Key West Is Lure for Number of Chicagoans.

In the same contest another Chicagoan, H. Peter Henschein, tied for second honors in the men's division with W. Montgomery Jackson of New York. The Henscheins, who departed for Florida before Christmas, will return to Flossmoor in about two weeks.

Formerly known as Cayo Hueso or "Bone Island" [the haunt of such storybook desperados as Capt. Kidd, Black Cæsar, and Gasparilla], Key West is luring many Chicagoans. Dr. and Mrs. George J. Dennis left their apartment in the Drake about the first of January, and are now enjoying the easygoing hospitality of the unspoiled little island.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene B. Heywood of Evanston, accompanied by her uncle, A. N. Marquis, made the trip from the mainland over the Florida keys last week-end. They will spend a month at the Casa Marina, where they go every year.

Caroline La Tour Spades Being Married Today.

Miss Caroline La Tour Spades, whose engagement to John Harold Cummins was announced last month in Florida, is being married today in St. Augustine. The quiet ceremony is being performed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Cox Spades, formerly of Chicago. Officiating at the wedding will be the Rev. Charles Frederick Schilling, rector of Trinity Episcopal church of St. Augustine.

The couple plan to reside in St. Augustine. Mr. Cummins' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Cummins of Vincennes, Ind. Miss Spades is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles La Tour Furey and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael H. Spades of Chicago.

If tonight's Twelfth Night ball at the Racquet club runs true to tradition, and the guests all come masked as well as costumed, "Who's that?" will be a much used phrase by the time unmasking ceremonies roll around. Half the fun of the old time Twelfth Night parties lay in the complete disguises every one wore and altho masks are not entrance requirements for tonight many plan to wear them.

The Aldis J. Brownes and Dr. and Mrs. William George Lee will entertain at dinner tonight at the Fortnightly club for friends of their daughters, Elizabeth Browne and Mary and Ruth Lee. All three young hostesses attend the Girls' Latin school. The dinner precedes the Fortnightly dance, which starts at 9 o'clock.

Iron Mountain Calls Chicago Snow Chasers.

"P. S.—There's now over a foot of snow at Iron Mountain," is the latest bulletin from the Snow Chase club. And a group will troop into a special train at 7:25 tonight with their skis. The Snow Chasers can sing and wax skis till the wee sma' hours, too, since their train will be sidetracked until morning and they won't have to stumble out into the chill dark.

Other Snow Chase parties depart tomorrow at one o'clock and on Sunday at 6:30 a. m. All will return together Sunday night and a group of yodelers will regale them on the way back.

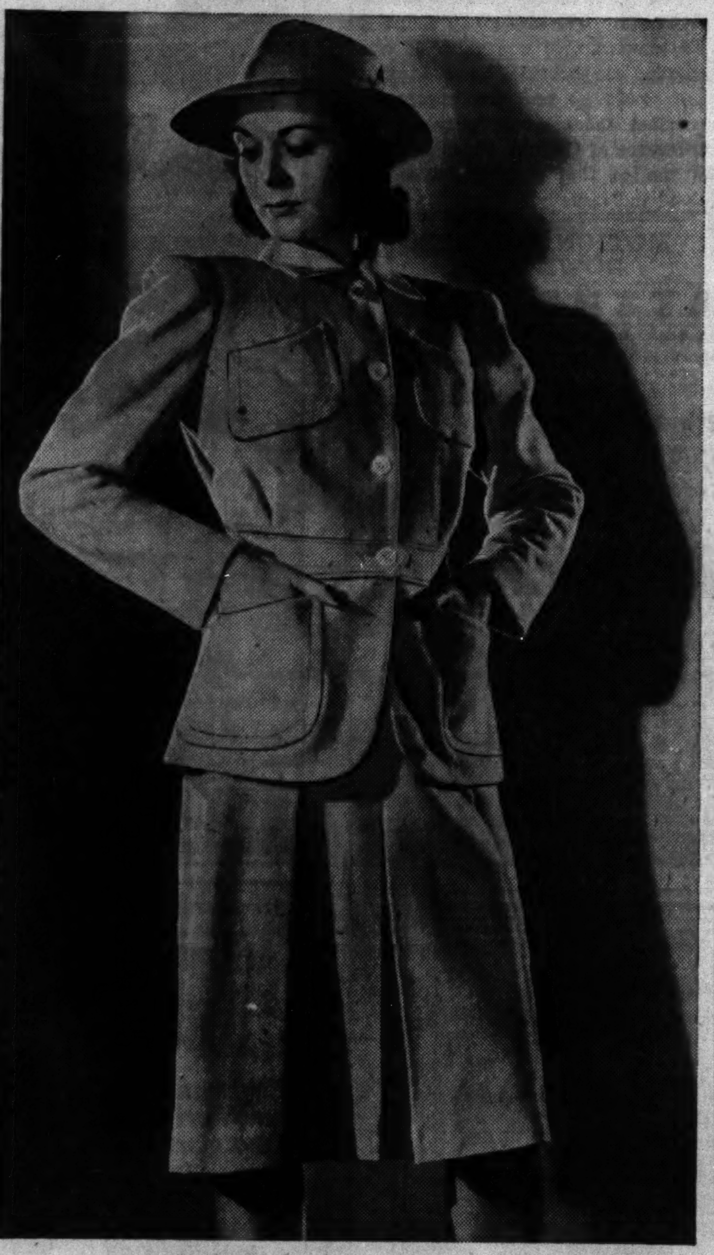
A Smart Midseason Suit



Smart contrast for black, brown or dark green winter coats or midseason topcoats without fur trim can be achieved with this clever two piece suit of caramel beige camel's hair cloth. A simple straight skirt has inverted plaits front and back, while the fitted jacket boasts four patch pockets, four pearl buttons, a high collar line, and a sewed on belt.

Patent Leather Footgear Tops for Slushy Day

BY REA SEEGER.

New patent leather footgear, belts, and bags are here for blustery and sloppy weather ahead. Acclaimed by the fastidious, approved by the folks bothered by inertia, patent leather street pumps and oxfords top the list of the current best buys. No other foot covering is as easy to keep spotless, no other material needs as little attention or looks as sharp, smooth, and neat as gleaming patent leather. Wading thru midwinter slush and mud therefore holds no terror for the persnickity shoppers and those kindred souls who sniff at protective sheaths of rubber over the smart footwear.

High heels are especially well designed in the newest showings. Slender and square in outline, they achieve a definite smartness most needed to complement trim tailored costumes. Square cut toes and lower heels also squared in outline make the swanky oxford or brogue type street models. Glittering nail head trim, square cut tailored bows, and contrasting stitchery are details that are 1941 in character.

When contrast is stressed, such contrast is made with patent leather against gabardine, both in heels and the shoe itself. New, also, are the strap pumps with the patent leather gathered or pleated or deftly shirred in place. While this stunt might sound a trifle unwieldy the results are anything but. Those strapped sandals for wear with dress parade clothes are bright examples of this softer detail worked with particularly supple patent leather. Matching or companion bags feature the same combinations of materials, the same detail and general outline of any of the pumps, street brogues, oxfords, and sandals.

Fashion photograph . . . a find for the owners of brown fur coats short or long! A two piece suit in caramel beige camel's hair cloth has such interesting high fashion details as four patch pockets of unusual shape with contrasting stitching. The belt is smoothly sewed on to define the waistline and four flat pearl buttons go up the front to a high collarline. A simple skirt is pleated front and back.

Gitta Gradova Acclaimed for Rare Artistry

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Gitta Gradova.

If a pianist of the quality of Gitta Gradova were suddenly to burst upon us from some such exotic place as Sofia or Kiev we would be limp with excitement. But she was born in Chicago and still lives here, so despite all the record of her successes in other towns we tend to take her for granted much as we take Lake Michigan for granted.

But her work last evening, when she appeared as soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra under Frederick Stock's direction, was of an excellence which should force even her fellow townsmen to admit that she is an extraordinary artist. As a matter of fact, the 2,500 fellow townsmen who packed Orchestra hall admitted it by tendering two major ovations.

Her playing of the Schumann concerto did justice to the piece's flooding romanticism, as well as to its lucid musical thought. There was a rapturous quality in the performance which sprang partly from the pianist's ability to coax delicate, luminous sounds out of her instrument, partly from her knack for giving a phrase a gracious, sensitive, meaningful shape.

One does not often hear the concerto's opening movement played so brightly and candidly nor the second done with a tone so fragile and yet so well supported. And in her announcement of the third movement's resplendent first theme Miss Gradova achieved that proud, sonorous strength which is of the melody's very essence and which establishes the movement's character before 16 bars have been played.

Half an hour later Miss Gradova returned to the stage to cope with Rachmaninoff's Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini. Her delivery had a wiry strength and an icy purity where the music called for such effects, and it became almost languishing [in a tasteful way] in those slow episodes where the sad sort of exaltation which characterizes Rachmaninoff is most strongly in evidence.

The program included also Sibelius' concentrated, economical Fifth Symphony—a work which for all of its lack of immediate attractiveness nevertheless succeeds in building up to quite an august and moving conclusion. Between the two piano solos the orchestra presented a first Chicago performance of Albert Noelte's Prolog to a Romantic Drama, which is dedicated to the Chicago Symphony orchestra and was written for its golden jubilee season.

The new Prolog is sincerely felt, expertly written music. It is romantic in tone, full of the clash of contrasting emotions. The audience liked it and applauded Dr. Noelte cordially.

Local Dog Makes Good.

Maybe you didn't know it, but it was a local dog that made its stage debut in the new Massine ballet, The New Yorker, during the recent stay of the Monte Carlo ballet in Chicago. The dog was Nanki-poo, the Pekinese that belongs to Mrs. Anna Anderson, maid to Mrs. John Alden Carpenter. Anna Anderson, who has been with Mrs. Carpenter many years, has owned a succession of Pekinese. She follows what Mr. Carpenter calls the Gertrude Stein method in easing her heart after the demise of a pet—she acquires another as similar as possible to the one before. (Thus did Basket II. come into the Stein ménage hard on the passing of Basket I.)

Massine saw the Pekinese at the Carpenter house and asked to borrow it for the ballet. The dog was bathed and taken down to the Auditorium. It made its appearance on the stage, with its mistress, Anna Anderson, watching proudly from the wings. Mr. Carpenter went to see the second performance of The New Yorker. The distinguished composer produced his opera glasses to watch intently, not Massine, not Danilova, not one of the other dancers, but his wife's maid's dog, so he could discuss Nanki-poo's performance with her afterward.

By Way of Report.

Dmitri Metropoulos, conductor of the Minneaoplis Symphony, who will bring his orchestra to Orchestra hall the evening of Jan. 27 to play a benefit concert for the Greek-American Progressive association, returned to Minneapolis this week after four weeks as conductor of the New York Philharmonic. At the first rehearsal of the Minneapolis orchestra a purse was presented to him for Greek war relief, contributed by the men of the orchestra and the orchestra office. "A token of appreciation of your New York success and of the men's pleasure in having you back," Manager Gaines told Metropoulos.

Excerpt from note of Carl Sandburg: Isn't it nice that Bob Andrews is doing a script for a picture around Henry Justin Smith? I hope and pray he gets some of that fine purple mist always around my remembering of HJ. (Henry Justin Smith, as readers probably know, was the late beloved Chicago newspaper editor and author.)

Sandburg himself is at work on a new book, but we haven't permission to release info about it.

Dr. Neilson Debevoise, research associate of the Oriental institute and expert on near east history, a young man with a reddish mustache and a Van Dyke beard, made a pertinent remark during his talk on ancient war making, in connection with an exhibit of ancient war implements in Oriental institute:

Thru the LOOKING GLASS.

A nice bright little lipstick shade has come along to brighten up the dreary winter picture. It's nasturtium red, perky and crisp and red as the flower it's named for.

Goodness knows we can do with a brilliant, face lifting kind of a red these days, when the winter clothes that struck us as being pretty snazzy when we first climbed into them seem as dark and dreary as the weather.

This nasturtium red is brilliant, but not in a hård, shallow way. It's glowing and warm, the kind of a color that makes your skin look fairer by contrast without making your mouth look like a dark blob. It brightens up your whole face.

The texture is very nice, more on the creamy than the dry side, and the stick stays on well. It comes in two sizes, one the more or less regulation size and one that's rather enormous and lasts you for months. There is cheek rouge in the same shade, either dry or cream.

With this wonderful new shade to pep up your midwinter face there's a beautiful shade of face powder that you might wear. It's one of those nice warm but not dark shades that makes you look radiant.

The house that thought up this nasturtium shade to help you look flowerlike has some wonderful purse kits. Not expensive, and gay as can be, fitted with your cosmetics in some of the triggest containers to be found. You might take a look at these.

Calls on United Charities for Help Increase

Edw. D. McDougal Jr.

Despite improved business conditions requests for aid from the United Charities were far more numerous last year than in 1939 according to the report submitted yesterday by Dexter Cummings, president, at the annual meeting in the Harris Trust building. The total number of families aided was 15,005—3,000 more than in the previous year.

Mr. Cummings attributed the increased load to a change in the Illinois pauper law. An amendment which became effective Nov. 1, 1939, barred all types of public aid from persons who have not resided in one township continuously for three years, he said.

"The United Charities had to spend $131,245 in emergency relief—food, fuel, and shelter—to victims of this law last year," said Mr. Cummings. "Many of those who suffered had taken jobs in a suburb in order to get off relief, and when these jobs ended they found all doors to aid closed."

Total expenditures for the year amounted to $959,995. This was nearly $50,000 more than in 1939. Of this amount $528,361 was spent for family relief. The legal aid bureau, which supplied legal counsel for nearly 18,000 persons, spent $51,731. Expenses for administration and maintenance amounted to $55,845.

The bulk of the 1940 budget came from the United Charities share of the Community fund which amounted to $617,231. Private contributions, endowments, and proceeds from newspaper charities' funds supplied the remainder.

Mr. Cummings said he expected defense plans to cause even heavier demands in 1941. Soldiers' families in many instances will require assistance, he said. Calls on the legal aid service by soldiers and draftees are expected to increase.

New officers were elected. Edward D. McDougal Jr., an attorney who has been chairman of the legal aid committee for five years, was named president. Edison Dick was elected vice president, and Sewell Avery and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen were reëlected vice presidents. Solomon Byron Smith will continue as treasurer and Joel D. Hunter will continue as secretary.

New board members are Stuart J. Templeton and William Hayden Jackson. Twenty-eight other board members were reëlected.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Jan. 16.—Certainly to be listed among the most valuable theatrical properties of all time is the late Brandon Thomas' comedy, "Charley's Aunt," which has been running somewhere—either on the pro stage or in amateur theatricals—ever since its première in London Dec. 21, 1892. And now Darryl F. Zanuck has enriched the Thomas estate by paying $110,000 for the film rights to the comedy. An interesting part of the deal is that this near-record price is for a lease, and not an outright sale. For its money 20th-Fox gets exclusive rights for only five years—but it won't wait long for a production.

The sudden interest of Hollywood in the play is due, of course, to the success of the New York production, with José Ferrer in the title rôle. It wouldn't be a bad guess to say that Zanuck will have Ferrer in the film version.

"Charley's Aunt" ran for 1,466 performances during its first run in London and has had many revivals there and in New York. It has been filmed twice—once, quite notably, with Syd Chaplin in a silent, and again in 1930 with Charley Ruggles.

Writers are obvious rebels against anything that smacks of a time clock, and many is the fictioneer who has come out here for a script job and been rendered aghast and taken aback by the discovery that he has to work in an office from 9 to 5. Even the best of them keep office hours, but they never quite grow used to it. Famous is the case of William Faulkner, who captures his sentences when they bubble out of Mississippi bogs. When the films hired Faulkner some years ago he was such a hot shot that, when he asked if he could do his work at home, the studio said yes. Then one day they needed him for a conference, called the place he was supposed to be living in—and found that he really had gone home . . . to Mississippi.

One famously economical studio head is particularly strict about writers writing from 9 to 5. He used to snoop in their desks to see how much they were turning out per hour. An equally famous hireling just wouldn't give in to the system. He'd wander in at 10:30, knock off at 4. Finally the big boss called him down for it.

Shortly afterward a story problem was baffling writer and boss. One morning the writer said, "I think I've got the idea how to fix it." "Well, come on, give," said the boss.

"Not unless you pay me extra," said the writer. "I got this idea last night at 9 o'clock—on my own time."

Never again was he made to keep office hours.

I like, too, the tale of one of Hollywood's most powerful bosses—a guy so important that everybody calls him mister. He was at a party some years ago and somebody asked him how he felt and he said he felt awful. "I'm tired. I don't know what's wrong with me, but I can't sleep." In the group was the late irrepressible Ted Healy. "Why don't you try giving some of the money back?" suggested Ted.

Without much fuss Jack Benny this week put some temporarily immortal prints in the sidewalk at Grauman's Chinese. Prints of his violin and his are tossing mittens and toe warmers into suitcases for tonight's trip. Miss Barbara Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Boal, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fabian will hop aboard tomorrow's train.

Lake Pewaukee Having Ice Yacht Regatta.

Another group of frostbite enthusiasts will shout themselves hoarse in the Wisconsin hills today. This week-end brings the Northwest Ice Yachting association regatta to Lake Pewaukee. Champions Jack Vilas Jr. and John S. Clifford are two Chicagoans who have tucked their "skeeters" onto trailers and taken them to Pewaukee for the meet. Mrs. Vilas and Mrs. Clifford will enter the ladies' races.

Other members of the Lake Geneva Skeeter Iceboat club who will sail in the races are Frederick Clifford, Robert Ferris, Charles Sawyer, Russell N. Crawford Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Chester Granath, Donald Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Franz Koehler, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Fitzcharles.

Lockwood Pirie, secretary of the association, isn't entering his Tartan in the meet, but he'll be among those cheering from the sidelines. Mr. and Mrs. A. Frederick Gartz Jr. and their son, Frederick Crane Gartz; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer T. Stevens, Ernst C. Schmidt, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Wakely and their subdebutante daughter, Barbara, will also "look on." Barbara sails her own iceboat, but isn't racing this week-end.

Country Club of Evanston Having Ice Carnival Tonight.

If Jack Frost doesn't play tricks tonight, guests at the midwinter ice carnival of the Country club of Evanston will skate to music all evening. Otherwise bowling, badminton, bridge, and dancing will be substituted.

Memories traded back and forth at the Dearborn Seminary alumnae luncheon today will sound as if they'd been taken from "When Chicago was Young." Today marks the 60th anniversary of the association, which was founded in 1850 and closed in 1908.

Altho Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, who will speak at the luncheon in the Blackstone hotel, is not an alumna, her recollections will bring to mind pranks and parties enjoyed by the former seminary students. Today, Jan. 17, is the birthday of the founder of the school, Zuinglius Grover, and the alumnae always hold their celebrations on this date.

Mrs. Lincoln M. Coy is president of the association; Mrs. Robert E. Peacock, Mrs. Frederic Woodward, and Mrs. John Leeming, vice presidents; Mrs. Leonora Temple Hoyne, treasurer; Mrs. S. Margaret Richards, recording secretary, and Mrs. John G. McDonald, corresponding secretary.

Miss Helen Gunsaulus heads the Dearborn Seminary scholarship committee, which maintains a scholarship fund at the Art institute. Mrs. Woodward is in charge of the Zuinglius Grover scholarship fund, which gives a scholarship to the University of Chicago. Mrs. Asa J. Caldwell and Mrs. Algenia Trude Kern compose the executive committee. All will continue to hold office for another year.

Because of the inclement weather it is doubtful if Mrs. Ferdinand Peck and Mrs. Cornelia W. McLaury, the oldest alumnae of the school, will venture forth to the Blackstone. Mrs. Walter E. Faithorn, however, plans to drive all the way from Oconomowoc unless the roads are absolutely impassable.

Hans Lange, associate conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will be a guest of the College club at tea today after the regular Friday concert. Mrs. William G. Hibbard and Mrs. Hervey B. Lemon will pour.

Flora Robson, who is now appearing in Chicago in "Ladies in Retirement," will be entertained at tea at the Cordon club today between 4 and 6 o'clock. A program will be provided by Florence Gullans Smith, soprano, and Margaret Smith, pianist.

Mrs. Alfred Wolfe will be hostess today at the Cliff Dwellers' tea. She will have the assistance of Mrs. John Carey Murphy, Princess Rostislav, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Daniel Saidenberg, Mrs. Edmund Kurtz, and Mrs. Eric Oldberg.

feet. He was to have made the latter barefoot, but reconsidered and wore a pair of Rochester's shoes. Fred Allen apparently scotched the barefoot thing by cracking to George Phair: "If the imprint of the right foot reveals a dime, dated 1894, that's Benny. He had it in his shoe when he left Waukegan."

Margaret Tallichet will be Gene Autry's gal in "Song at Twilight"—which, incidentally, will be the 43d picture for Gene and Smiley Burnette. This beats the Hopalong Cassidy series by six. . . . Lionel Barrymore is about to close a deal with a publisher for his autobiography. Lionel is working with Edward Arnold in a gangster picture, "Roosty," and is walking for the first time in a long time. . . . Brian Aherne, Claudette Colbert, and Ray Milland will be Paramount's trio in "Skylark." Vera Vague will play the heavy. . . . 20th - Fox expects Anna Kiess, said to be socially prominent in New York, to report for screen duty on Feb. 14—her 21st birthday. She was tested and approved some months ago, but her mother, Mrs. Edgar Kiess, said nix on a movie career for her little girl. So screenstruck Anna will take the job anyhow the day she comes of age. . . . Metro's deal with the Metropolitan Opera's Rise Stevens, calls for 10 years' services—with the usual finger-crossing options. Miss Stevens will arrive in May and her first assignment probably will be opposite Nelson Eddy. . . . Doug Fairbanks Jr. has bought a Cosmo Hamilton story, "His Majesty the King." . . . In addition to his duties as president of the new Visograph peep-box outfit, Rudy Vallee now has two full size movie assignments. One at Universal, then a flicker at Columbia called "Time Out for Music." . . . Local gossips are expecting an announcement of wedding plans to emerge from a birthday dinner Barbara Hutton is giving Saturday night to Cary Grant. . . . Working at Metro in "The Trial of Mary Dugan" are 20 old timers, including Matt Moore, May McAvoy, and Anna Q. Nilsson. . . . Preston Sturges' next picture will be called "Sullivan's Travels."

★ Your Stars Today ★

—By WYNN—

Friday, Jan. 17.

In practically all departments of living, today can be made the best day of this week. Use the big ideas, the coöperative plans, the sympathetic impulses that it offers. But look far ahead, too, at the long distance effects to follow.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead is beginning of new and bigger things, if today is your birthday, and you deserve. Account is on love life, travel, self-improvement, new goals, relief from hampering past. Danger: March 17-30; Dec. 26-Jan. 7, 1942.

Tomorrow.

Better later than too soon; down the groove in morning.

German Bishop Will Visit Rome at Pope's Invitation

BERLIN, Jan. 16 (AP).—The Bishop of Muenster, Count Clemens von Gaalen, is preparing to leave for Rome within the next few days on invitation of Pope Pius XII., reliable sources said tonight. Whether other leaders of the Roman Catholic church in Germany will also go to Rome is still uncertain, it was said. It was regarded as probable, however, that they would go and the impression prevailed there would either be a conference of German bishops at the Vatican or that they would be received individually.

Who Is This Girl?

By Helen Topping Miller

[Copyright 1941: By Helen Topping Miller.]

SYNOPSIS.

Dining at the apartment of his employer, Harp Greenlee, a sheepman, who has gone soft with city ways, Dan McCullough, manager of the ranch, San Mateo, meets Storm, a lovely young girl. Harp introduces her as his niece, but Mac has heard him introduce many women before as his nieces, and he wonders just who Storm is. Mac tells Harp and Steele Dunlap, Harp's lawyer, the ranch needs money to fight Humphrey Dane, who is trying to shut off their water, and they suspect him of stealing their sheep.

INSTALMENT V.

EX-HUSBAND

McCullough slid into his coat again, opened the door as soon as Lank was safely out of sight. But it was not Dunlap who stood there, it was Beatrice Abney.

She wore a short wrap of red fur and her dress rippled softly around her feet.

"How do you do, Mr. McCullough? May I come in for a few minutes? I know it's outrageously late, but I'm busy tomorrow and I had to talk to you. Thank you." She took the chair McCullough drew up. "Don't bother—I'll just drop my coat here."

"Cigaret? And may I order anything for you—some wine perhaps?

"No, thank you. After tasting Harp's cocktails one wonders if the white ribbon ladies may not be a sainted tribe after all. You haven't always lived in the plains country, have you, Mr. McCullough? You haven't the look."

"Is there a plains look?" Mac smiled, lighting his own cigaret.

"You know there is. Harp has it—and that long, brown boy who came with you. A sort of dust and leather look."

"The look of far places? I haven't lived on the plains all my life but I was born on the Rio Grande, in a little town planted with palm trees and full of sleepy Mexicans. I went to college in the east, and then came thirty-one—and too many college men looking for jobs, jerking soda, hanging around Washington—so I went back to the range. Harp Greenlee is an old friend of my father. He gave me a job."

"And you're satisfied out there?"

"Of course. Big things are happening in the southwest. It's stimulating country—courageous, a little reckless, but exciting. And a man who wants to work can make a place for himself."

She turned the bracelet on her arm slowly. The light turned her silvering hair into fine waves of pearl.

"And a man who wanted to lose himself could do that, could he?"

"Yes, a man who wanted to lose himself could do it, in that country—or he could lose the world if he didn't like it. Altho I'm not sure a man can really lose himself, from himself, anywhere."

"No," she kept her eyes on her hands. "A man couldn't lose himself—from himself. Tell me about Francis Abney."

"I haven't seen much of Abney. Now and then he rides in, spends an evening talking and smoking but not often. He's a solitary sort of fellow."

"He's quite well? He wasn't—years ago. He had some sort of asthmatic trouble. It tormented him at times. I think perhaps—" she stopped abruptly.

"He seems well now," McCullough said, after the small silence. "The dry air out there cures that kind of thing. A great many people came to that country on stretchers. Abney's thin and nervous. He's restless and irritable at times. But I never heard of him being really sick. He works frantically for weeks at a time and then he throws everything into a corner and rides the hills for days."

"I know," she said.

"You knew him pretty well?"

She looked up, she looked older, haggard, her eyes deep and dark.

"I was married to him," she said. "Twenty-four years ago, we were married—we lived together for eight years. We had a little son. He—died. We hadn't any money. Francis went to war—and then came home—it did something to him, over there, something cruel and frightful. He was never the same any more. Never the lighthearted boy I had married. He wanted to paint. He was driven by that desire—it was almost inhuman sometimes, the ambitious fever that scorched him. But the things he did didn't please him. He wanted to study abroad—and we hadn't any money. So—I went to work. We had to have money. We had to have a roof—and shoes and food. I liked my job. I was doing something interesting, meeting people—I was a success. But our marriage was a failure."

She rose quickly, walked to the window, twisting the pendant she wore with nervous fingers. Her eyes burned in a white face.

"I—don't know why I'm telling you all this," she smiled without mirth. "I don't usually—let myself remember. And of course Francis wouldn't wish to remember."

"Perhaps he does remember. Men aren't less sentimental than women. They merely hide their feelings better—from themselves too. I don't think Abney is a very happy man. He was—well, call it bitter, when I first knew him. He's calmer now. He doesn't go off into frenzies and bar his door against everybody. He doesn't ride out with a rifle and order the sheep herders out of his sight any more."

"He did that?"

"There was a time when he did. But now he gives them coffee and brandy and gets them to pose for him, dozing in the sun or half asleep on the back of a burro. His hair is getting white. He wears a little beard—grandee effect. And a big black sombrero. Black glasses usually, because his eyes aren't so good. There's a lot of white light in that country and not much to relieve it."

"So—he's getting old. And time is taking the anger out of him. Perhaps now he will paint. Paint as he could paint—patiently, without flying into furies if the work doesn't show up to please him. Thank you, Mr. McCullough, for being kind to a foolish woman. I'll be content now—now that I know."

"You want me to give him a message?"

"No, no message. It might—spoil something for him—make him think again when thinking is not happy. I just wanted to know. You see—you're a very young man, Mr. McCullough—and I have lived a long time. Nearly 50 years. Long enough to know that you can't be married to any one—and then be definitely unmarried to that person. The prayer book has the words—one flesh. It's true. And no matter how much people may laugh or how brittle or sophisticated they become, in their hearts they know that it's true. Good night. No, don't come down with me. I live not far away. I'll take a taxi. I'm quite accustomed to going about alone—New York, Paris—anywhere. I'm not afraid. I learned years ago not to be afraid. Good night."

The door closed after her and the bedroom door opened and Lank stood there, looking curious, in his underwear.

"That was Francis Abney's wife," McCullough said. "She wanted to hear about him."

"She uses swell perfume," Lank sniffed. "She was at Harp's place, wasn't she?"

"She's a lady—a successful business woman."

"And he's a drunken bum and locoed, too. You didn't tell her that?"

"Paints 'em and then kicks holes in 'em, or hangs 'em on a tree. And then goes down to Aguilar's dump and lies around there drunk for a week," Lank said. "So she left him? She's a smart woman."

"Smart and unhappy. It was in her face—and her voice."

"Women ruin a man," philosophized Lank. "I'd rather have a saguero thorn in my hide than a woman to stick to me. Look at Harp and Hump Dane. Hating each other for 20 years—and all about a woman, so they say."

"Nobody knows exactly what it was about. You can hear any kind of story about that fight, if you listen."

"I ain't listening—not tonight." Lank yawned and returned to his bed. But it was very late before Dan McCullough slept.

Late next day, he walked in the park after a long session in Harp Greenlee's office. The day had dragged, been full of irritations. Harp had been touchy, pigheaded, inclined to unreasoning and to lengthy arguments about unimportant details.

He had appeared more flushed than usual, jumpy, irascible, he had tired early, mopping his face and breathing hard, and all day he had drunk, hard and steadily.

Lank Parrish had stayed around awhile, answering questions, defending McCullough when he could against Harp's impatience. Then Lank had disappeared. He had gone somewhere to get very drunk, McCullough suspected, not blaming Lank very much.

Phases Just an Indication of Child's Growth

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Have you a young son of nine or perhaps eleven? And is he driving you distracted? And are you up a tree as to what to do about it? Do the conversations in your home run something like this one, which is a "verbatim" report?

"Such hands! Go wash them thoroly—the wrists, too—and be sure you use the brush, and you might try the cake of kitchen soap this time."

Thinking of the many times his mother had wanted to and didn't, she was adamant.

He came out of the bathroom and held them out before his mother. One was soft and pink and clean, and the other almost hard with dirt.

"Wonderful!" she said. "You certainly made a good job of that one, but they don't look like a pair yet."

"Which do you like best?" he asked.

"Why, this one, of course," his mother said, taking the clean one and sniffing it with enthusiasm. "Don't you?"

"I? I should say not! I think it looks hawribble!"

Just a phase—it will pass, she thought.

Or does this sound familiar?

"So," the mother of the little ten year old girl related. "I called up her teacher and asked her if she thought Julie could possibly be below normal. You know, in the mornings I'm desperate. After jogging her memory several times I think she's all ready for school, so I say, 'Have you done all your morning stunts, Julie?'

"'Yes, mother,' she'll say.

"'And have you a clean handkerchief?'

"'O, no, I forgot it.'

"'Did you brush your teeth?'

"'No, I guess I didn't, mother.'

"'Well, that's all—except your rubbers that I put out for you.'

"'Er . . . what did you say, mother?' And that's the way it is every day. And slow! Julie puts on one shoe and dreams. And the other shoe and dreams. So I was really worried. But her teacher laughed and said that Julie was above normal if anything. She said it was just a phase."

There are many other phases and they cause many mothers much worrying. They think, "is my child going to be always heedless—or unkempt—or disrespectful—or boisterous—or always in trouble—or pugnacious—or any of the other things that growing boys and girls can be? But there's no need to worry as a rule.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

Jan. 17, 1941.

Universal day—Build substanially today. Rule wisely but firmly.

Vocations—Eight is a powerful number and as a vocation number suggests positions of authority. The combination of one and seven in this 17th of the month gives the strong eight the leadership of the one and the keen mentality of the seven. Those born on the 17th should be executives in the highest sense of the word. Some examples of those born on the 17th are ex-King Alphonso of Spain, Rabbi Stephen Wise, and David Lloyd George. All three are forceful characters. There is a tendency to be overconfident with the eight's and we have examples of this in James Cagney and Mae West, both born on the 17th. Those born on today's date should watch the career of David Lloyd George, as he was born on Jan. 17 and so is in a six-year. Watch the adjustments he will have to make in the world's family affairs.

Snowflake Luncheon Doily

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a crocheted luncheon set which is, by all odds, one of the quickest and easiest of the innumerable designs available. It is lacy, dainty, and handsome in its finished state, altho it consists of a group of medallions set together with tiny fill-in motifs which completely change the effect of the large design. No crochet worker can afford to overlook this attractive pattern, since handmade luncheon sets are at a premium.

For instructions in crocheting the luncheon doily in snowflake design, No. 496, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand occurred the other night in our duplicate tournament. There was some dispute as to the way the hand should be bid.

"I would appreciate any comments you might have on this interesting hand and I might add that contracts arrived at by the four East and West teams were: One at four hearts, one at six hearts, which was made and gave the team the top on that board, and two six no trump contracts, both of which were down three. I was one of these.—F. B. F., Pennsylvania."

At rubber bridge the East-West hands would not be at all difficult to bid, with six hearts becoming the obviously correct contract via this bidding:

East	South	West	North
2 spades	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
5 spades	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

At match-point duplicate the same bidding should obtain up to and including West's six heart call, but admittedly the exigencies of match-point scoring might make East greedy and induce a "top-score try" of six no trump. Actually, however, this dangerous bid should turn out beautifully for the East-West teams, because West would not be able to stand this contract and would be forced to go to seven hearts if only as a rescue.

This seven heart contract would be easily makable with the cards distributed as they were. North would undoubtedly open the diamond king. Winning with dummy's ace, West's correct play would be to ruff a low spade, then to return to the heart ace and ruff another low spade. Now the outstanding trumps would be drawn, and since the spade suit was divided 4-3, declarer could refuse the club finesse and discard two clubs and a diamond on the good spades. Or, if he were in doubt about the drop of the spade queen, he could take the club finesse and win all the tricks in that way. In short, he could scarcely go wrong.

To revert to the bidding, the only trap in this hand is for those players who cannot or refuse to visualize a suit in partner's hand which is even better than their own cherished suit. Thus, altho West answers the opening two-bid with a negative two no trump [because, despite his tremendous heart length, he holds less than one honor trick], his subsequent jump to five hearts should convince East that the blank heart ace is sufficient support. At the same time, East must realize that South's original denial of one honor trick makes it very likely that he will have no entry outside of hearts. Hence East should be not only willing, but anxious, to let West play the hand at hearts where his great length will take the place of high cards. Thus it goes without saying that, even at match-point duplicate, which puts undue emphasis on no trump contracts, East should defer to West's six heart bid and not risk going beyond the depth of the combined hands by persisting with no trump or spades.

I note that one East-West team of this duplicate game ended up with only four hearts. This was undoubtedly due to the fact that West attached so little value to his eight card suit that over East's probable three spade bid, he ventured only four hearts.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Artificial Teeth of Glass Forecast for Near Future

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 16 [Special].—Artificial teeth made of glass are prospects of the near future, Dr. Le Mar W. Harris, Chicago, secretary of the American Academy for Plastic Research told the Milwaukee county dental society today. Dr. Harris said he had hammered a sample tooth of the material into a board without hurting the tooth. The dentist will mold the teeth of white powder under pressure. Dr. Harris said they will be stronger than natural teeth, harder than other artificial ones, and be shatter proof to protect the wearers against cut mouths in automobile accidents.

Doctors Seek Aid for Young Heart Victims

An investigatory group of 70 physicians met yesterday in LaRabida Jackson Park sanitarium to discuss means of curbing the mysterious disease, rheumatic fever, which, according to the health department, kills more Chicagoans annually than cancer, nephritis, tuberculosis, and pneumonia combined. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Chicago Heart association in connection with its annual financial drive.

The association is seeking to raise $15,000 for the care of children convalescing from rheumatic fever, which weakens the heart. According to Ruth Pearce McEldowney, executive director, $6,000 has been obtained so far thru the sale of penny Valentine stamps. The sale will close Valentine day, Feb. 14.

As a health education group the association works in close coöperation with LaRabida sanitarium, where 60 boys and girls between the ages of 4 and 12 are convalescing from rheumatic fever. Under the direction of Dr. Robert A. Black, medical director, the children are given specialized treatment. Occupational therapy is an important part of the régime for their recovery. Elementary school courses are taught daily by a teacher from the division of special schools of the board of education.

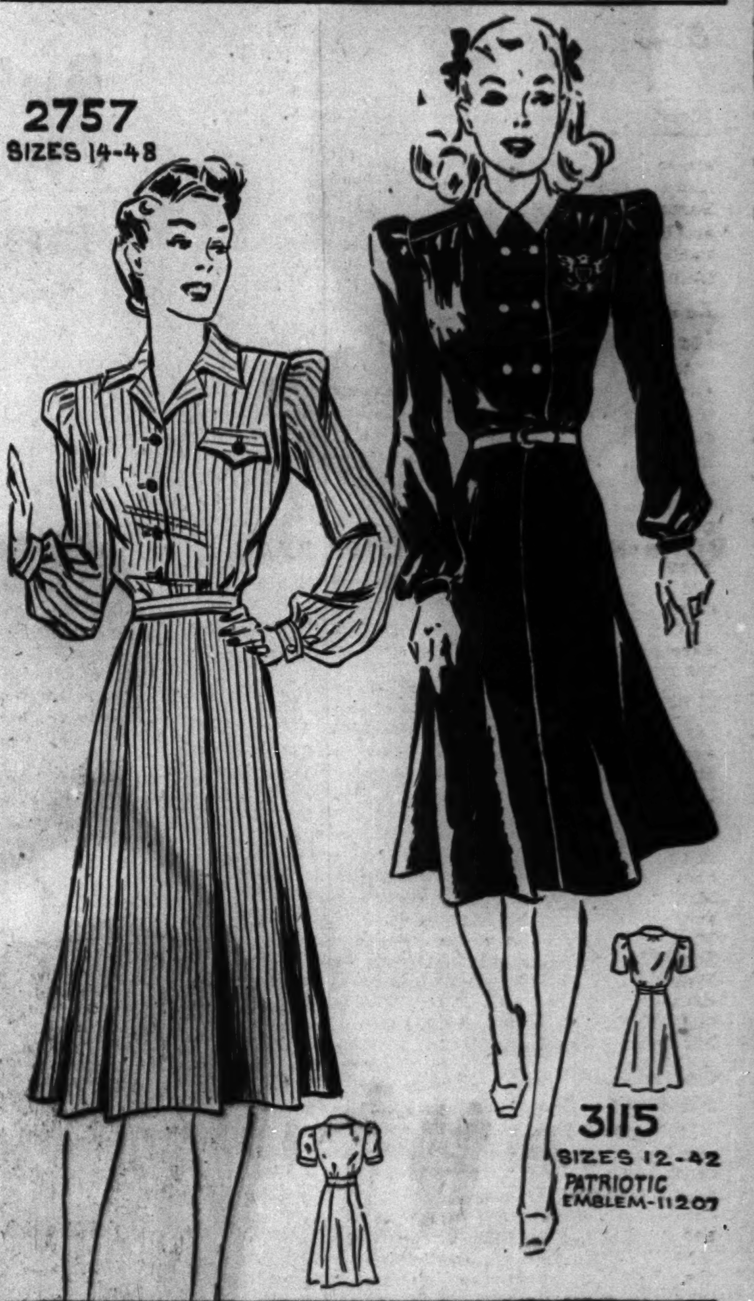
The Chicago Heart association takes care of many children for whom there is no room in the sanitarium and who must remain in their homes during the same long convalescence if they are to live and regain a measure of health. Thirty-two wheel chairs are at the convenience of poor children. Thirty-five weekly visits are made to the children by Mrs. Gladys Brophil, occupational therapist, who instructs and interests them in hobbies which take their minds off their weakness.

Because between 1 and 2 per cent of all grade children in Chicago are stricken annually with the dreaded disease, with approximately 10,000 cases in the city at present, the Chicago Heart association also disseminates special information to parents who do not appeal for direct care. It is aided in this work by 25 volunteer workers.

Hundreds of other volunteer workers are helping the association in its sale of Valentine stamps at service desks in large department stores and at out-patient departments of leading hospitals and institutions. An appeal for funds is also being made by direct mail.

A corps of city physicians also is aiding the association in its annual drive. Nine of these doctors were forum leaders at the meeting in La Rabida sanitarium yesterday. They were Dr. Black, a member of the board of governors; Dr. Clayton J. Lundy, Dr. Arthur F. Abt, Dr. Lewis W. Woodruff, Dr. Carl F. Schaub, Dr. Herbert T. Nash, Dr. William H. Elghammer, Dr. Robert E. Widerborg, and Dr. Myron W. Larson.

Two Pretty Tailored Frocks



WOMAN'S AND MISS' TAILORED FROCKS.

Suitable to a wide variety of figure types and wardrobe needs are the two patterns sketched today. One shirtwaist dress is especially flattering to mature figures, and makes up handsomely in striped material, as shown. The other, decidedly youthful in type, goes nautical with contrasting lingerie collar and eagle emblem on the bodice. Incidentally, this emblem pattern costs 10 cents extra. The number is 11207.

Style No. 2757 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

Style No. 3115 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 4⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of contrasting.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred — wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Now is the Time to Beware of Contagious Colds!

At a treacherous time like this, with contagious colds all around you, what you do today may save you and your family a lot of sickness, worry and trouble later.

Follow these simple rules of health: Live normally. Avoid excesses. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Take some exercise daily—preferably outdoors. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

Then use these two time-tested treatments when needed.

AT THE FIRST SNIFFLE, SNEEZE OR SIGN OF NASAL IRRITATION . . . put a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril right away. This helps to prevent many colds from developing, because Va-tro-nol is expressly designed to help Nature's own defenses against colds. (If a head cold causes stuffiness, you'll find that a few drops of Va-tro-nol helps clear the clogging mucus and makes breathing freer and easier.)

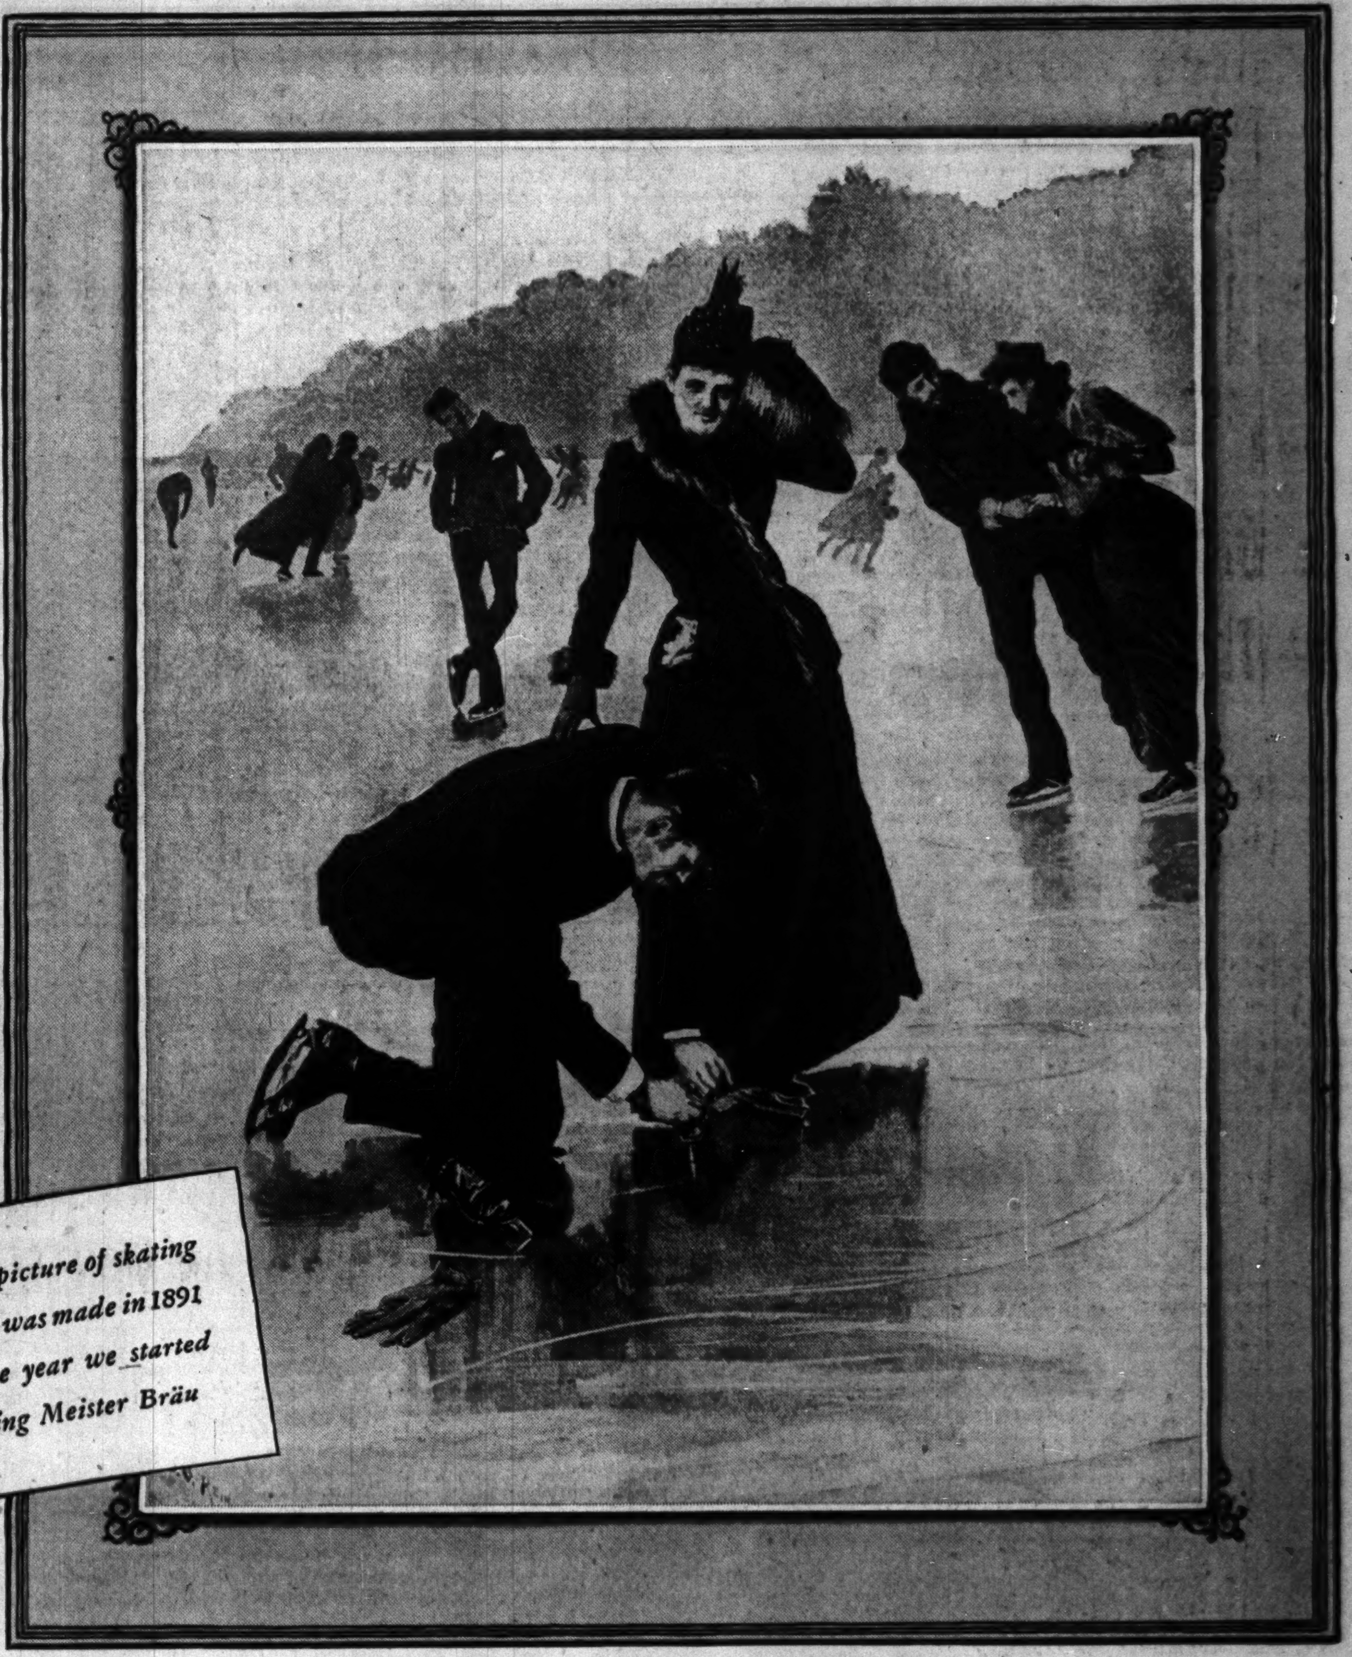
IF A CHEST COLD OR COUGHING COLD DEVELOPS (some colds get by all precautions) depend on Vicks VapoRub to relieve miseries. Rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back and cover with a warmed cloth. VapoRub acts to bring relief 2 ways at once. It stimulates surface of chest and back like a warming poultice. At the same time it releases helpful medicinal vapors that are breathed direct into the irritated air passages.

Both Va-tro-nol and VapoRub have been tested through years of use in millions of homes. When you use these two medicines you are not experimenting, you are not taking needless chances. Remember: If the condition of the cold fails to respond quickly to treatment—or if more serious trouble is indicated—call your family physician right away. In the meantime be prepared! Get a bottle of Vicks Va-tro-nol and a jar of Vicks VapoRub today—have them handy, ready to use.

Richard Seibold, MEISTER BRÄU BREWMASTER

"Sure, lots of things have changed in 50 years

But I challenge anyone to equal the old-time beer by using modern short-cuts"



This old picture of skating I dug up was made in 1891 . . . the year we started brewing Meister Bräu

Without Added Sugars or Syrups

Please Taste and Compare with any other beer regardless of price

YES, folks, our way of making beer is just as old-fashioned as this old picture. Of course, I'm not talking about our brewery or our equipment like bottling machines and aging vats. They're right up to the minute—the best we can find. But our brewing methods—no short cuts for us! And that's the way its been with us for 50 years.

Adding sugars or syrups to the brew—that's an easy short cut. But we'll never do it. We'll keep right on brewing an all-grain beer just as always. You get the natural flavor of the malt and hops—finest ingredients we can get anywhere. No stems or seeds in the hops, because we know that's one cause of bitter beer that nobody likes compared with true old-time flavor.

We make sure you get the old-time, all-grain flavor by bottling with only Natural Draft Beer Carbonation created right in the brew itself. That keeps the natural life and sparkle—and the true beer flavor like in draft beer.

Just taste and compare Meister Bräu with any beer—regardless of price. Use the old-time test beer experts use when they want the real lowdown on quality and flavor—the "50-Degrees" Test. You see, folks, too much cold disguises beer flavor. But at 50 degrees temperature, true flavor shows up—all the delicate tastes—good or bad—which cold covers up. So judge your beer like experts do—and get full benefit of goodness you miss when it's too cold.

Thousands of people have already made the "50-Degrees" Test, and that's one reason Meister Bräu is getting more popular all the time.

AWAIT LAMBEAU BEFORE PICKING FOOTBALL CHIEF

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Owners of nine of the ten clubs in the National Football league, gathered in the Blackstone hotel yesterday to discuss selection of a high commissioner, whose duties and authority would be similar to those of K. M. Landis in baseball, were no nearer a decision last evening than they were when the session began.

Action awaited the arrival of Curley Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers, whose plane from California was grounded in Dallas, Tex., by bad weather. Lambeau, one of the leading proponents of the commissioner plan, will arrive early today.

After a brief recess for dinner, the club owners, resumed their deliberations and announced late last night that the session would carry over thru today.

Brundage's Name Bobs Up.

Among the names which bobbed up last night to enlarge the long list mentioned for the commissionership were those of Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the American Olympic committee, and former president of the Amateur Athletic Union, and William Alfs, former president of the Detroit Lions.

Alfs, who resigned at Detroit after the close of last season, helped rewrite the constitution to accommodate the commissioner clause. He is regarded as somewhat of a dark horse in the present race but he is known to have been interested in the league presidency ever since the death of Joe Carr of Columbus, O. Alfs left last night for Los Angeles.

Bert Bell and Art Rooney, owners of the Philadelphia Eagles, and Fred Mandel Jr. of Chicago, owner of the Detroit Lions, took time out from the discussions to interview Pete Cawthon, Texas Tech coach. The Eagles have first call on Cawthon's services, but Mandel stands ready to sign him if the other negotiations strike a snag. Link Lyman, line coach at the University of Nebraska, also is a candidate for the Philadelphia job.

Discuss Ruling on Officials.

The executives also discussed the ruling by the Eastern Intercollegiate Officials association which prohibits college game officials from working professional contests. Some five or six eastern officials already have agreed to switch to the pros and others are expected to follow suit.

The current meeting, which was to have been secret, was brought into the open Tuesday with the disclosure that Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, had turned down an offer from the club owners to become commissioner for 10 years.

Will Continue Presidency.

George Halas, president of the Chicago Bears, said in the event a commissioner is appointed, the office of president will be retained. "The commissioner, in case we pick one, would have more power than the president, but the presidency will be continued," he said.

Executives attending the meeting, in addition to Halas, Bell, Rooney, and Mandel, include Charles Bidwill of the Chicago Cardinals, Edward Bruch of the Cleveland Rams, John Mara, New York Giants; Dan Topping, Brooklyn Dodgers; George P. Marshall, Washington Redskins, and Alexis Thompson, new owner of the Pittsburgh team, which Thompson announced henceforth would be known as the Iron Men. The team previously was known as the Pirates, then became the Steelers.

Two Deals Announced.

Observers are agreed that a commissioner will be appointed at the April meeting and that the matter would have been approved yesterday had Lambeau been present.

Two deals were announced last night by Thompson, 26 year old Pittsburgh owner. The Iron Men acquired Len [Feets] Barnum, veteran triple threat half back, from the Giants in exchange for Pittsburgh's draft rights to Chester Gladchuk, Boston college's star center. The Iron Men also purchased Banks McFadden, Clemson wing back, from Brooklyn.

12 Hour Freeze Is All That's Needed for Silver Skates

Twelve hours of freezing weather will produce perfect ice at the Waveland rink, Otto Laurence, supervisor in charge, said yesterday. Consequently the Silver Skates Derbies, scheduled tomorrow and Sunday at Waveland will be held. If postponement is necessary announcement will be made tomorrow.

According to present schedule four age classes [all boys and girls under 16 years of age] must report tomorrow at Waveland, 3700 North Sheridan road. Racing numbers will be distributed between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Pro Officials Plan Future Course

In another corner Bert Bell, Philadelphia Eagles (left); Charles Bidwill, Chicago Cardinals (center), and John V. Mara, New York Giants, got together to discuss the proposal.

Armstrong to Meet Zivic for Title Tonight

New York, Jan. 16 [Special].—Henry Armstrong, the only warrior to hold three championships simultaneously, will try tomorrow night to regain the world welterweight championship from Fritzie Zivic in a scheduled 15 round title bout in Madison Square Garden before an expected crowd of 18,000, the biggest of the indoor season.

Tho most of the evidence points to a repeat victory for the youngest of the five Pittsburgh Zivics, Armstrong remained a surprise 5 to 8 favorite to win. Zivic, who defeated Armstrong last October, has been particularly impressive in his training.

Armstrong Changes Style.

Henry is shooting at the goal of retiring as a champion, but Fritzie has an incentive, too. He remembers seven years of fighting for coffee and cake money and won't give up easily. He will have a weight advantage of five pounds.

Armstrong will be trying a new style of fighting. He has been standing straighter and thinking of defense, a foreign thought for a fellow who has known no way of battling except to throw punches.

Missing from Armstrong's corner, for the first time since Henry came out of the west to rule the featherweight, lightweight, and welterweight divisions, will be his manager, Eddie Mead, who is recovering from a heart attack. In his place will be Ray Arcel, one of the top men among ring seconds.

Al Smith Faces McCoy.

Minnesota Hockey Team Defeats Michigan, 4 to 0

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16 [Special].—The Minnesota hockey team whipped Michigan, 4 to 0, tonight. Coach Larry Armstrong of the Gophers, ill with pneumonia, msised a game for the first time in five years.

MONTREAL, Canada, Jan. 16 (AP).—A winning streak, possessed by the Chicago Blackhawks, and a losing streak, owned by the Montreal Canadiens, collided here tonight and both were ended, to the discomfort of the Chicagoans, who had been unbeaten in four previous games. The Canadiens, scoring four goals in the last two periods, romped off with a 5 to 1 National Hockey league victory to snap a string of five defeats.

Rookie, Veteran Star.

Leading the Montreal attack with a goal and assist each were the veteran Ray Getliffe and Rookie Joe Benoit, back in the lineup after a two game absence thru injuries. Polly Drouin picked up two assists while the other goals went to Elmer Lach, Red Goupille and Tony Demers.

The Hawks got their only goal midway thru the first period, when George Allen lifted the puck into the net to tie the score at 1 to 1 after Benoit had counted for the Canadiens.

At the other end, Lo Presti, who never had more than two goals scored against him in four starts for Chicago, was harassed continually as Montreal dominated the play. Lach's goal broke the tie early in the second period.

Canadiens Get Going.

The Canadiens held their one goal lead thru the second period and increased it 22 seconds after the start of the next when Goupille's bullet shot to Lo Presti while Defense Man Johnny Mariucci of the Hawks was serving a penalty. Montreal clinched the verdict on late goals by Getliffe and Demers on breakaways.

Purely as constructive criticism, do you not think the Cubs might have done better by appointing George Halas manager instead of Jimmy Wilson? From what I saw of the North Siders last season they could have used a few men in motion. —Grump.

The charm of quiet living, and the glow

Yet we have these that cannot be despoiled . . .
The wonder, infinite, of growing things;

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Sophomore Art Rubin and Freshman Irving Crane yesterday were the heroes of the fourth day of fighting in the world three cushion billiard tournament in Bensinger's Wabash avenue arena. Rubin, the New York Jewish star, who made his debut in the big leagues only last year, chose the final match last night to beat Jake Schaefer of Chicago, 1940 runner-up, 50 to 44, in 42 innings. These 42 frames, by the way, added another honor to Arthur's collection, for they constituted a new best game record, lowering by two innings the previous record of 44, set by Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., Tuesday night. Art also holds the tournament high run mark of 10 scored on Tuesday evening.

Crane, the 26 year old Livonia, N. Y., blond who admits that he doesn't know much about three cushion billiards—yet—won the afternoon opener yesterday from John Fitzpatrick, the Los Angeles dark horse. Irv overcame a 12 point deficit in rallying to win, 50 to 49, in 57 innings.

Art Takes Early Lead.

Rubin led by as much as 9 to 3 in the early stages of the Schaefer match, but the former balkline champion fought back and ran 6 in the 21st inning for a 25 to 19 advantage at the intermission. Rubin then put on a little show of his own, taking temporary command at 31 to 29 and again at 39 to 38. Schaefer retorted with four billiards, only to have Art fire a five at him in the 37th. Art got two more in the next frame, but Jake matched those and trailed by only 44 to 46. That was the end of the Schaefer scoring for the night, since Rubin got three in the 41st and then scored his 50th in the 42d on a natural which had to be struck very thin.

Good News for Jerome.

Old Jerome Keogh of Rochester, N. Y., must have felt mighty proud when he heard about Crane's victory. Irv, it happens, is the No. 1 protégé of Keogh, who held five world pocket billiard crowns from 1897 to 1910. The young man allowed at the outset of the tournament that pocket billiards was his game, but that he aimed to get some three cushion l'arnin' out of the current clinic. Even in losing his first two matches, Crane looked quite apt for a novice, since he scored 39 and 43 points, respectively, in those two defeats.

Score by innings:

RUBIN—213 003 000 231 100 100 113 003 015 003 300 020 520 031—50. High run, 5. Innings, 42.

SCHAEFER—100 020 001 241 310 000 406 120 100 502 1*02 003 102 000—44. High run, 6. Innings, 42.

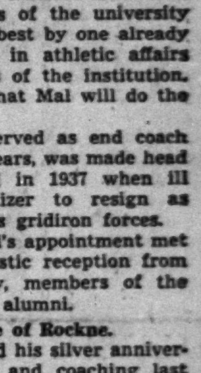
FILLS POSITION LEFT VACANT BY KIZER'S DEATH

He'll Retain Head Coaching Job.



Mal Elward

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 16 [Special].—Allen H. [Mal] Elward, head football coach at Purdue university, today was appointed athletic director to take over the office vacated by the death of Noble E. Kizer. Elward will assume his new position Feb. 1.

President E. C. Elliott, who made known the decision of the university's board of trustees, said Elward will continue as football coach. The board authorized President Elliott to appoint such assistants to the director as may be deemed necessary.

Promotion Is Earned.

"The naming of Mr. Elward as director of physical education for men is in accordance with the university's athletic policy of advancing capable men already on the staff," Mr. Elliott said. "The trustees considered that the interests of the university would be served best by one already long experienced in athletic affairs and the problems of the institution. I am convinced that Mal will do the job."

Elward, who served as end coach under Kizer for years, was made head coach of football in 1937 when ill health forced Kizer to resign as leader of Purdue's gridiron forces.

Teammate of Rockne.

Elward observed his silver anniversary in athletics and coaching last fall. A former teammate of the late Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, he has been a contemporary of the development of collegiate athletics, and is recognized as a progressive leader as well as a keen football technician and strategist.

An end on the Notre Dame elevens of 1912 to 1915, when he weighed but 142 pounds, he was credited with devising the end shift that now is recognized as an integral part of the Notre Dame system. He has been actively associated with football coaching since his graduation in 1916.

He launched his coaching career at St. John's prep in Danvers, Mass., where his team won the Catholic prep championship of the east in 1916.

Brought Grinnell Title.

Elward spent the next four years in the Naval Air service, where he was closely associated as a player and coach with the outstanding success of the elevens representing the Hampton Roads training station, Newport Naval reserve, and Hampton Roads air station.

Called to Grinnell as head football coach in 1922, he brought the Iowans their first conference title. Then he moved to John Carroll at Cleveland, where he remained three years, turning out the best team in the institution's history in 1924. He came to Purdue in the fall of 1927.

EARL M. BROWN NAMED HARLOW AID AT HARVARD

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 16 (AP).—Earl M. Brown Jr., varsity end coach at Brown university, today was named to succeed Wes Fesler on Coach Dick Harlow's Harvard varsity football staff. Brown, one of the best ends Notre Dame has produced in recent years, will report for spring practice on March 15. Brown also will coach the Harvard basketball squad next season.

6 QUINTETS WIN, STAY UNBEATEN IN CITY PREP RACE

Hirsch Juniors, Seniors Whip Morgan Park.

Six quintets remained undefeated in the junior and senior basketball divisions of the Public High School league as 17 games were played yesterday. The victorious junior squads extending their strings were Hirsch, Waller, and Du Sable. Heading the senior parade were Roosevelt, Austin, and Hirsch.

Hirsch's juniors and seniors registered their third consecutive triumphs at the expense of Morgan Park. The Hirsch juniors won 24 to 12, and the Hirsch seniors triumphed 29 to 23.

Roosevelt's seniors ran up the highest score of the day as they routed Waller, 61 to 33, on Roosevelt's floor. It was Roosevelt's second victory in the north division.

Austin's seniors scored their third straight in the west section, defeating Foreman, 37 to 29, in the winners' gymnasium. Lineups:

To All Golden Glovers: File Entries Soon

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While no date for the close of entries in Chicago's 14th annual Golden Gloves tournament has been set, it is obvious that no amateur boxers can be permitted to compete in the south side novice meet in St. Sabina's gymnasium who are not examined either Jan. 27 or Jan. 30. Since each boxer must receive a letter of instructions and a parental consent card, it is likely that only those who enter the tournament by Jan. 28 can be examined and placed in the south side tournament which will be held Feb. 4, 5, and 6.

The first examination on Jan. 27 will be held in the C. Y. O. gymnasium, 31 East Congress street. The second and later examinations will be held in Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street.

Loyola Tourney Opens Feb. 10.

The examination on Feb. 3 at Trafton's gymnasium will qualify novice fighters for the bouts on the north side in Loyola university gymnasium Feb. 10, 11, and 12. Two boxers in each weight in each of these novice sections will be awarded gold qualifying medals. They also will be eligible to compete in the Chicago city championship tournament in the Coliseum on Feb. 17, 18, and 19.

Advancing down the Golden Gloves trail, eight Chicago champions will be chosen Feb. 19 in the Coliseum. These winners of Golden Gloves then will be outfitted as Chicago's team and will represent the metropolitan area in the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium Feb. 24, 25, and 26.

Only experienced boxers may enter the Coliseum tournament. These boys must send in their entry blanks and be assigned to one of the examination periods, Jan. 27, Jan. 30, or Feb. 3. The field of boxers for the Chicago championships thus will be known two weeks in advance of the tournament.

Reserved Seats Available Now.

Reserved seats for the finals of the Chicago championships may be purchased by mail now. Tickets for the final night in the Coliseum are $1.65.

Fourty-four teams from 14 states will compete in the Stadium Feb. 24, 25, and 26. The additional team will represent Camp Beauregard, La. and it will be chosen from the 32d division. This is the first army camp to become affiliated with the Tournament of Champions altho in other years teams have fought in the regional tournaments. The Alexandria, La., Daily Town Talk will coöperate in holding the tournament.

Ray Brown yesterday became the second 1940 Illinois Athletic club amateur boxing champion to return for competition in the 11th annual tournament in the I. A. C., Jan. 21, 22, and 29. Brown, who lives at 421 East 46th place and is 17 years old won the bantamweight title last year, but is returning in quest of Jack Ballangee's featherweight championship.

Deadline for entries is tomorrow. Application blanks can be obtained at the I. A. C., 112 South Michigan avenue; C. Y. O., 31 East Congress street, and Central A. A. U., 538 South Clark street.

Three matches of four rounds have been added to the professional card in Marigold Gardens Monday. Joe Dotey, Detroit junior welterweight, will face Wayne Fidler; Andy Canal, local lightweight, will oppose Bert Ardt, and Jack Whittinghill, Bloomington, Ill., middleweight, will encounter Leif Erickson. The show is headed by a 10 round contest between Nate Bolden, 1937 intercity Golden Gloves middleweight winner, and Saverio Turiello of Italy. O'Dell Riley, Detroit light heavyweight, and Frank McBride are principals in a five round semiwindup.

SPORTSMEN EAT CROW MEAT AND FIND IT TASTY

Compare Flavor to That of Game Birds.

BY BOB BECKER.

A representive group of Chicago sportsmen, who have hunted and eaten many kinds of game birds, last night ate crow meat and pronounced it a tasty dish. Among the 27 outdoorsmen, scientists, waterfowl hunters and upland game shooters, who attended the dinner in the Sherman hotel, were men who have eaten snow geese, jacksnipe, ducks, woodcock, quail and even many species of South American birds. All enjoyed crow en casserole as prepared by Fernand Pointreau of the Sherman staff, and many called for second helpings of the dark-meated, tender birds.

The dinner proved to Chicagoland sportsmen that the common crow, a pest that worries both the farmer and the outdoor fan, has a place on the sportsman's table by virtue of its edibility. No other meat was served.

The birds were cooked in a flavored sauce much like other game birds would be prepared. The menu of the crow dinner follows:

Grapefruit Cocktail
Vegetable Soup
Hearts of Celery—Mixed Olives
Smothered Crow en Casserole
Mixed Salad in Bowl
Dessert and Coffee

How to Cook Them.

The crows, all obtained from northern Illinois, were prepared as follows: First they were skinned and dressed and put in a pan with butter to which a small amount of garlic had been added. Then the pan was drenched with one-third of a cup of white wine. Strong veal gravy [three tablespoons] and soy bean sauce were added. This sauce was poured over the crow meat and then the birds were cooked in a covered dish for about two hours. [Very young birds taken in the spring require just one hour, according to Chef Pointreau.] Mushrooms, small cubes of fried salt pork, and small glazed onions were added.

Among the opinions expressed after the dinner were the following:

E. R. Blake, assistant curator of birds, Field Museum of Natural History—"On seven scientific expeditions to many different countries I have eaten scores of species of birds, and I was agreeably surprised at the taste of crow. It compares favorably with wild duck. I see no reason why it shouldn't be a popular item of food on the sportsman's table."

Diners Like It.

Paul H. Davis, Kenilworth, member of Glen View club—"The crow was excellent. I liked it better than jacksnipe. The flavor is similar to that of a wild goose, tho somewhat better."

Kenneth A. Reid, Chicago, executive secretary Izaak Walton League of America—"A very tasty dark meat, deliciously prepared."

L. H. Barkhausen, Chicago, Ducks Unlimited—"Really very good."

John A. Marzall, Chicago, former president Lincoln Park Gun club—"If you didn't know it was crow you might have guessed it to be wild grouse."

Paul C. Clovis, Kenilworth, member of Glen View club—"Excellent food. The flavor resembles that of wild goose, the meat being dark, firm, and tender."

F. W. Kahler, manager International Outdoor Sportsmen's show—"Good food."

All the others who attended the dinner said they intended to try crow meat on their own tables. They were: Walter Haertel, Harold Haertel, Edward Wright, Robert Mundhenk, and Fred Witt, all members of the Dundee chapter of the Kane County Sportsmen's league; Colin C. Sanborn, curator of mammalogy, Field Museum of Natural History; C. O. Thompson, Northwest Gun club; Eliot C. Williams Jr., assistant to the director of the Chicago Academy of Sciences; L. E. Doll, secretary of the Illinois Skeet association; Allen M. Clary, Sail and Trail club; Tom Evert, Lake Bluff; G. S. Nicolson, Flossmoor; A. R. Gentry, Chicago; S. N. Branch, Chicago; Jacques de La Chapelle, Chicago; Charles P. Hunter, Highland Park, and E. L. Weidner, Chicago.

Rangers and Bruins Play to 2-2 Deadlock

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—Milt Schmidt, Boston center, scored the cleverest goal New York fans have seen in many a day as the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers drew, 2 to 2, in a National Hockey league game before 10,234 tonight.

Schmidt's goal, half way thru the second period, and two goals by Lynn Patrick within two minutes of each other, were the features of the game. In getting his goal Schmidt snared a loose puck in center ice, side stepped Phil Watson, eluded the defense, feinted Davie Kerr out of position and back handed home a shot.

ROOT IS OFF FOR HOME—AND THAT PAY CUT STANDS

Charley Root, the Cub veteran who hastened from his California ranch to Chicago because of dissatisfaction over his 1941 contract, started for home last night, his status unchanged.

During the day Root conferred again with General Manager Jimmy Gallagher, the player arguing that he had been given too much of a salary trim and that he still is a far better pitcher than indicated by his two victories of last season when he served mainly in a relief rôle.

HOGS MEET FIRST PRICE SETBACK OF SIXTEEN DAYS

Farmers Ship More; Cash In on Big Advance.

The first decline in sixteen days hit the hog market yesterday as some farmers, who had been holding supplies back, decided to take advantage of the recent price advances. With the supply situation temporarily eased some by the slightly larger shipments, 25 to 50 cents of the gains were wiped out. However, this was only the second interruption the advance has had since it started more than five weeks ago.

Packers paid an average of $8.20 a hundred pounds for the day's receipts, 35 cents less than Wednesday but 80 cents more than a week ago and $2.20 more than early last month. The average was $2.75 above the same day last year.

Fresh Pork Rises More.

Top loads sold at $8.75 early in the session, off 25 cents from the three year January peak of the day previous. Salesmen late in the day found it difficult to get $8.50 for equal quality.

Despite the dip in live costs, wholesale pork prices were advanced again. Top light loins rose to $20 a hundred pounds, the highest January price for this cut in four years. The price was 60 per cent above a year ago and 53 per cent over the low time of last month. Early in September, 1939, however, butcher shop owners paid $30 for top loins.

Cattle and Lambs Fall.

Markets for other meat animals were influenced by the setback in hogs. Steers and yearlings declined 10 to as much as 40 cents. Heifers were weak to 25 cents lower, while declines of 10 to 15 cents were registered in beef cows, canners, and cutters. Bulls sold steady to lower. Calves held steady.

The majority of lamb sales showed reductions of 10 to 15 cents. The $10.75 top was off 10 cents. Old sheep and yearling stock sold steady. Feeding lambs were a little higher.

INVESTOR'S GUIDE

KUPPENHEIMER.

I have been told that Kuppenheimer & Co. is one of the soundest organizations in the men's clothing industry. With clothing prices expected to go up, the company's stock might be a good investment. I would, therefore, like to know something about the company's financial background.—R. A.

Answer: B. Kuppenheimer & Co., Inc., and its predecessors have manufactured quality men's clothing in Chicago for more than 60 years. The company's earnings have recovered gradually from the 1938 loss. Its profit margin has not improved, however, because the company could not absorb high taxes and rising material costs by boosting its selling prices.

"Shipments during the year 1940 increased considerably in comparison with the preceding fiscal year, but our margin of profit continued to be unsatisfactory due, principally, to the necessity of maintaining prices on our quality products at levels responsive to consumer demand," Bertram J. Cahn, chairman of the board, reported.

1937	75,666	1.07	$1.00
1938	*136,377	*1.96	0.50
1939	36,431	0.52	......
1940	57,501	0.84	......

*Loss. †Calendar years.

The company has outstanding 68,598 shares of $5 par capital stock, traded over the counter. No dividend has been paid on the stock since 1938. From 1925 thru 1931 annual dividends of $2 a share were paid. Cahn asserted that dividends could not be resumed at present because of the uncertainties facing the clothing industry.

SAVINGS AND LOAN.

Can you tell me how many savings and loan associations insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation have run into financial difficulties?—D. M.

Answer: Of the 2,259 savings and loan associations in the United States whose accounts have been insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation since 1934, 15 had to appeal to the corporation for financial assistance. Three of these liquidated voluntarily on a 100 per cent basis after receiving funds from the federal insurance agency. Six associations resumed operations with new managements and three were merged with other sound associations in their communities. Final disposition of the remaining three was not reported.

THE COMPANY Illinois Bell Telephone Company, over 99% of the stock of which is owned by American Telephone and Telegraph Company, was incorporated in Illinois on January 14, 1881. The Company is engaged in the telephone business in Illinois (except a portion adjacent to St. Louis) and in two counties in Indiana. The Company's properties consist mainly of telephone instruments and facilities for their interconnection, the latter consisting chiefly of central office switching equipment and connecting lines. The Company is subject to regulation by the Illinois Commerce Commission, and as to its business in Indiana by the Public Service Commission of that State. Certain phases of its business are also regulated by the Federal Communications Commission, which in 1939 transmitted to Congress certain recommendations for additional legislation designed to extend its regulatory powers.

SPECIAL SWIFT DIVIDEND OF 30 CENTS ORDERED

Two New Directors Added to Board.

The declaration of a special dividend, in addition to a regular quarterly disbursement, by Swift & Co., Chicago meat packer, was announced yesterday at the annual meeting of the company's stockholders.

John Holmes.

At the meeting two new directors were elected in increasing the board's membership from 9 to 11 members, while the three directors whose terms had expired were reëlected. John Holmes, president, outlined the company's plans for disposing of its holdings of 3,018,639 shares of Libby, McNeil & Libby capital stock.

The special and regular dividends voted by the board of directors amounted to 30 cents each. Both were made payable April 1 to shareholders of record March 3.

Hunt and Jones on Board.

The two new directors are Albert F. Hunt, elected for a three year term, and O. E. Jones, chosen for a two year term. Both are vice presidents of the company. Directors reëlected for three year terms were G. F. Swift, vice chairman of the board, M. B. Brainard, and T. Philip Swift.

Holmes announced that a registration statement covering the proposed sale of the Libby holdings was filed yesterday with the Securities and Exchange commission. He said an agreement on the price of the sale would be reached later between the company and the underwriters, headed by Glore, Forgan & Co.

The sale is in accordance with a ruling by the District of Columbia federal court on July 8, 1933, which ordered Swift & Co. to dispose of these holdings. They represent about 83 per cent of the Libby stock outstanding. The stock is now selling at $7 a share.

Followed Consent Decree.

The order for disposing of the Libby stock grew out of a consent decree of 1920, by which Swift and other large packing concerns were enjoined from owning or controling retail meat markets, stockyards, or utilizing refrigerator cars, branch houses, or other facilities for distribution. The sale was originally planned for last spring, but the May decline in the stockmarket intervened and extensions were granted.

The agreement between the two companies and the underwriting syndicate provides that the latter will purchase from Swift 1,518,639 shares of the stock offered with an option to buy any or all of the remaining 1,500,000 shares within 30 days of the effective date of the agreement.

Recent Profits Satisfactory.

Holmes also disclosed operations of the beef and "small stock" divisions of the company. He said that he intended to discuss other branches of the business with the shareholders at future meetings.

He reported that the earnings for the first two months of the company's new fiscal year have been satisfactory and that the volume has been about in line with forecasts in live stock marketing this year.

"Swift & Company will continue to supply as many consumers as possible thru the retail trade with food products of excellent character," he said. "Among these consumers, of course, are the thousands of young men who have been called to do military service. The meat ration of these men is much higher than that of the average consumer."

Some 600 stockholders attended the meeting which was held in the restaurant room of the company's plant.

CORN ADVANCES; WHEAT, SOY BEAN FUTURES DECLINE

Continued wet weather over the main corn belt and the fact that corn prices are low in relation to hogs were the principal influences in the corn futures market yesterday, brokers said. All deliveries of corn set new highs since last November with closing trades ¼ cent a bushel higher.

Wheat was about steady early, but weakened to finish with losses of ⅝ to ¾ cent. Oats and rye were unchanged to ¼ cent lower. Soy beans fluctuated within a range of about 1⅝ cents and closed ⅝ to ¾ cent lower.

BANK ELECTIONS

BARTLETT STATE BANK—Officers reëlected were E. J. Schmidt, president; H. W. Schnadt, vice president, and H. E. Schnadt, cashier.

LA GRANGE NATIONAL BANK—G. Herbert Pemberton, heretofore vice president, was elected president to succed John C. Tully, who remains as chairman of the board. Bernard J. Hank was elected a vice president, and other officers were reëlected.

NATIONAL SECURITY BANK OF CHICAGO—Directors voted two regular quarterly dividends of $1.50 a share on common stock, payable April 1 and July 1.

Drop New York Auto Show to Speed Defense

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—Cancellation of the 1941 New York automobile show because of the prressure of defense work was announced here today by the Automobile Manufacturers association. This, however, does not mean that such dealer sponsored shows as the annual Chicago event will be given up, it was said.

If 1942 models are brought out, it is held likely that shows will be held in Chicago and other cities.

It has been known for some time that the larger manufacturers such as the General Motors and Chrysler corporations have not been enthusiastic about the "national" show. The "independents" have favored its continuation.

Automobile dealers generally favor local shows which provide a background and enthusiasm for sales efforts that last the year around. The dealers are expected to take some action on local shows at the annual meeting of the National Automobile Dealers association in Pittsburgh, Pa., next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Approve Designs for 1942.

Meantime, most of the automobile manufacturing companies already have approved the 1942 models submitted by their engineëring and designing forces. It is said that the only possibility that might bar their formal presentation this fall would be the entry of America directly into the war.

The 1942 models will not require extensive retooling, since much retooling has already been done to avoid interference with the defense program. The new cars are not expected to show major engineering changes, and most of the improvements will consist of refinements in appointments. There will probably be less stainless steel used in decoration, according to authorities.

The present elaborate cast grille designs, in which a considerable amount of zinc is used, may be replaced by steel stampings to conserve zinc for use in armaments.

Meantime, automobile manufacturers are continuing their domestic production at high levels. This can be done without interference with the defense program because the manufacture of defense items requires special machinery and facilities.

Not Adaptable to Autos.

Machine tools and other machinery which make the parts from which automobiles are assembled are not adaptable to the production of the special defense needs such as the precision parts for airplane engines.

Manufacturers explain that were they to drop their automobile production the only immediate effect would be to put many people out of jobs without helping the defense program. However, the manufacturers say they cannot look much more than three months ahead in their production schedules. At present they have adequate supplies of steel and other materials for their needs, but none will forecast what may develop three months hence.

Since the introduction of the 1941 models more than 1,500,000 cars have been produced. Production during the next few weeks is expected to be maintained at more than 100,000 weekly.

TRANSPORTATION BUILDING SEEKS TO REORGANIZE

The Transportation Building corporation, owner of the 22 story Transportation building at 608 South Dearborn street, filed a petition for reorganization yesterday in federal court. The petition listed a deficit of $732,000 as of Oct. 31, 1940, and said that income from rentals is not sufficient to pay the ground rent of the building.

After the building corporation underwent reorganization in 1933 interest not to exceed 5 per cent was to be paid on the $2,303,800 first mortgage bonds until 1943. Thereafter to maturity in 1958 the rate was to be 5 per cent. The petition stated that payments have amounted to only one-half of 1 per cent, or $11,519. Ground rent in arrears as of Oct. 31, 1938, was $176,848.

NATIONAL SALES OF DEPARTMENT STORES GAIN 16%

National department store sales last week increased 16 per cent over the corresponding week in 1940, the Federal Reserve Board reported yesterday. In Chicago, sales were 5 per cent larger and in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district sales were 11.6 per cent higher.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said that department stores in the seventh district did 16 per cent more business last week than in the week ended Jan. 4.

For the four weeks ended Jan. 11, national sales were 17 per cent above the corresponding period a year ago. Chicago sales increased 9.9 per cent and the seventh district's stores sold 14.4 per cent more in dollar volume.

U. S. Will Pay, So Guardsmen Buy Insurance

Insurance agents in some parts of the country are doing a landoffice business as a result of an apparently unintentional provision contained in a federal law designed to protect policies of men called into military service, it was learned yesterday.

In three days policies totaling $1,438,000 were sold to national guardsmen in the Shenandoah, Ia., area by Ben A. Brower, representative of a Columbus, O., insurance company, and his associates. Brower had to make a flying trip to the home office to convince the company his flood of business was the real thing, but he returned home with official approvals on the policies, he said last night. It was reported that other agents are selling policies to numerous guardsmen who know that they are to be called into service soon.

Get 2 Years "Free" Insurance.

The law that has provided the agents with a powerful sales argument is the soldiers and sailors civil relief act of 1940.

To prevent lapsing of policies of men called into the service, the government, under the act, promises to guarantee premiums on private insurance policies from the time the men are called to arms until a year after discharge. The assistance applies to policies up to $5,000, but the law provides that at least one premium must have been paid by the insured at least 30 days prior to his entry into service.

According to Chicago insurance officials, who said they had conferred with government authorities, the apparent intention of the framers of the law was that the one premium that must be paid by the insured should be a yearly premium.

Companies Not Enthusiastic.

Insurance agents discovered, however, according to the insurance officials, that as the relief act is drawn it is legal to write a policy on the basis of payment of a month's premium, so that guardsmen who know they will be called within a short time can buy insurance with only one or two monthly payments, leaving the rest of the responsibility up to the government for two years. The insured eventually must pay the premiums, but the two year leeway is said to melt much sales resistance.

Officials indicated that the insurance companies are not as enthusiastic about accepting such policies as the agents are about writing them. It was said the companies fear a large part of such policies will lapse after the period of government sponsorship has ended.

One company was said to have refused $150,000 of such business.

ARMY MAY SET UP CHICAGO FOOD BUYING OFFICE

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 16 (AP).—To provide an adequate diet for 1,500,000 men, the army is about to set up a new plan for buying $100,000 of fresh fruits and vegetables a day.

John A. Martin, who prepared the plan as an adviser of the office of production management, explained it today to the convention of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association.

Under the plan, which is designed to protect the interests of civilian consumers, a special division for nationally coördinated purchasing will be created within the quartermaster corps, Martin said.

Headquarters will be established in some central city, "possibly Chicago," and about 30 branch offices will be opened.

30 Brokers Vie for Day's $31.50 in Cocoa Mart Fees

New York, Jan. 16 [Special].—Stock exchange houses may think business is bad. But total transactions on the Cocoa exchange yesterday totaled 21 lots. The fee is $1.50 per lot and there are at least 30 brokers on the floor.

OFFER ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE ISSUE OF 50 MILLIONS AT 103½

A $50,000,000 issue of first mortgage 40 year 2¾ per cent bonds of the Illinois Bell Telephone company will be publicly offered today by an underwriting group headed by Morgan Stanley & Co. The offering price will be $1,035 per $1,000 bond with accrued interest. This price puts the yield at 2.61 per cent annually.

Proceeds of the issue will be used in retirement of the company's outstanding 3½s, and to reimburse the treasury for recent advances for plant additions and improvements.

Associated with Morgan Stanley in the offering are 74 underwriters thruout the country. Illinois Bell is a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph company.

LET 26½ MILLION IN DEFENSE JOBS; CHICAGO: NONE

Approximately $26,500,000 in defense contracts were let yesterday by the war and navy departments. No Chicago companies shared the awards.

Navy awards to eastern companies totaling $8,744,261 included: Brewster Aeronautical corporation, airplanes, $4,544,287; Pittsburgh Steel Foundry company, steel anchors, $431,298; Greenville Steel Car company, buoys, $425,085; Curtis Shoe Co., Inc., shoes, $345,000; General Electric company, improvements at Puget Sound navy yard, $453,193.

War department contracts included one to the N. K. Ferguson Co., Cleveland, and the Oman Construction company, Nashville, for $8,514,000 for construction of an ordnance plant at Milan, Tenn., and another for $7,294,227 to the W. Horrace Williams company for a cantonment near Leesville, La.

Other navy contracts totaling $2,123,000 went to five companies to expand facilities for making airplane parts. Included were: Aviation corporation, Perkins Machine and Gear company, New Britain Machine company, Hartford Machine Screw company, and the New Process Gear corporation.

AWAIT SELECTION OF STUDEBAKER CORP. PLANT SITE

No decision has been made on selection of a site for a proposed airplane engine parts factory to be built in Chicago by the Studebaker corporatio, officials said yesterday. War department officials, who must approve the site, said in Washington that they were unable to forecast when a decision will be made.

Among the sites under consideration is a 100 acre tract at the northwest corner of Cicero avenue and West 55th street—across from Chicago airport. Several other sites are said to be under option. One, the Harlem golf course, at Roosevelt road east of Des Plaines avenue, was reported dropped because of title difficulties.

Studebaker has arranged with the war department for the building of $33,657,580 in Wright aeronautical "2600" type engines. The engines are to be assembled at Fort Wayne, Ind. The Chicago plant is expected to employ about 4,000 persons.

PRIVATE SALES MAY TOP TRADE ON 'BIG BOARD'

Offer Listed Shares Over the Counter.

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—Paced by an offering of 500,000 common shares of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, private sales of big blocks of stock over-the-counter in Wall street after the close of the New York Stock exchange today may have topped the 609,720 shares sold on the exchange itself.

In addition to the Standard common shares, there was offered a block of 22,500 shares of Great Northern Paper company common and British officials were reported to have put thru deals for private sale of substantial parcels of British-owned Western Union and Kennecott Copper issues.

Avoid Brokerage Fees.

No brokers' commissions are paid by the buyer in private sales off the exchange after hours. Such business, for this reason, caused much discussion in commission house circles of how to get share trading back on the "big board."

The principal reason for offering big blocks of securities privately off the exchange is that, in the thin markets of the last few years, a big parcel of shares cannot be trickled into the market without depressing the going price.

In a private sale, the price is agreed upon and the deal consummated. The stock can be sold at the same as the closing price on the stock exchange and, in addition to avoiding the commission to a broker by the buyer, the market value of the stock is not unsettled.

Since Dec. 1, it was disclosed today, the exchange has granted permission for 46 off the market deals—slightly more than one for each business day—and has turned down only one request.

Resell in Small Amounts.

Most big blocks sold off the exchange have been purchased by large investment houses which resell them to investors in small amounts thruout the country.

With stock exchange memberships selling at the lowest since 1899, and volume averaging around 500,000 to 600,000 shares daily in the exchange, when about 1,000,000 shares of daily

Schram, Head of RFC, Opposes Federal Plant, Rail Operations

Emil Schram, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, said last night that he did not believe the government itself should operate manufacturing units or the railroads either during the present emergency or after. He spoke at the 34th annual dinner of the Traffic Club of Chicago in the Palmer House.

Emil Schram.

In plans under which private manufacturing companies operate in plants financed by the Defense Plant corporation, he explained, the manufacturers have the option to acquire the plants after the emergency to avoid unfair competition on the part of either the government or some private purchaser.

Hopes for Bank Financing.

"It is my hope and desire," the RFC chairman said, "that the private banking institutions of this country will finance the major part of the defense program."

There are certain activities, however, that cannot be handled by private banks "with any degree of propriety and practicality," he said.

During the last six months, he said, the RFC has made commitments for more than a billion dollars in advances for defense purposes. Under its lease arrangement for constructing emergency plant facilities, the Defense Plant corporation, an agency of the RFC, has made commitments for more than 350 million dollars in advances.

Advises Sound Rail System.

"Now, more than ever," he said, "it is important that we keep our transportation agencies financially sound and physically strong. They are the bulwark of American solidarity both in peace and in war. The RFC has in the past devoted its best efforts to provide financial rehabilitation for the railroads, and it is determined to continue such efforts.

"As far as I am personally concerned, I do not believe the government itself should operate manufacturing units. And that goes for the railroads as well. Your transportation officials certainly know far more about the subject than any governmental substitutes."

U. S. POSTOFFICE APPARENT LOSER IN COAL BATTLE

The clash which the federal government stirred up with itself last October over coal prices appeared yesterday to have died out with the postoffice department the loser.

John F. Molony, vice president of the Binkley Coal company, which served as the battleground, said that coal was being shipped and invoiced to postoffices thruout the middle west at the minimum prices established Oct. 1 by the bituminous coal division of the department of the interior. He added that the postoffice department had not complained and that there were no indications that it would.

The conflict was disclosed several months ago when the postoffice department notified the Binkley Coal company that deliveries must be made at the contract price that prevailed before the minimum price schedule became effective on Oct. 1. The coal division then announced that it would enforce penalties provided under the price fixing law against any member of the coal code failing to adhere to minimum prices. The postoffice department then reaffirmed its original stand. The contract prices are generally lower than those fixed by the coal division.

RAIL FREIGHT TRAFFIC UP 15.9 PER CENT; GAIN MORE THAN SEASONAL

Cars of revenue freight loaded in the United States during the week ended Jan. 11 totaled 711,675, a gain of 97,504 cars, or 15.9 per cent, over the preceding week and highest in 10 years for the second week in January, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The All Industry Refrigeration and Air Conditioning exhibition will be held in Chicago again next year, it was announced yesterday at a luncheon concluding this year's show held in the Stevens hotel. NATION SPENDS 500 MILLIONS A MONTH ON ARMS

Must Be Doubled to Reach Goal.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—The United States is spending approximately 500 million dollars a month on defense and twice this amount must be spent in the next fiscal year to reach President Roosevelt's estimated defense goal of nearly 11 billion dollars for the 1942 fiscal year, the bureau of agricultural economics reported today.

Present defense expenditures compare with a rate of about 153 million dollars a month when the defense spending program got under way last June. The total defense program for the immediate future as provided for or estimated by the President in his annual budget message called for an outlay of about 28 billion dollars, of which nearly 18 billions has been authorized or appropriated already.

Report Improved Conditions.

As was expected the outlay of defense money is beginning to take effect on the nation's economy, taking the place of "pump priming" in the earlier days of the New Deal which brought temporary spurts in business activity. Both the bureau and the federal reserve board today reported improved conditions in industry and agriculture.

"Defense activities are already resulting in a rapid decrease in unemployment," the agricultural agency reported. "On the basis of preliminary census data there apparently were about 8 million persons either without work or on relief jobs in late March, 1940. It is estimated that the number unemployed or working on relief jobs in November was about 2 million less than in March, altho a part of this decrease was seasonal."

Farmers' Returns Improve.

The bureau said that improvement in domestic demand for farm products is becoming increasingly apparent and that despite a virtual loss of export markets and a 1940 volume of production equal to or in excess of any previous year, the index of prices received by farmers in December was 5 per cent higher than a year earlier.

A further advance is indicated for this month. Prospective increases in consumer income are expected to improve further the domestic demand

Again, in 1940, Lumbermens wrote more business than it wrote the year before . . . as it has done each year since organization in 1912.

This annual gain in business—through good times and bad, through wars and depressions—is all the more impressive and significant when it is remembered that Lumbermens is one of the largest writers of casualty insurance in the country.

It offers proof that Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company affords American employers, property-owners and motorists what they want and expect from their casualty carrier—the utmost in security, at a fair cost commensurate with the highest standards of service.

STOCKS DECLINE AGAIN, WIPING OUT 1941 CLIMB

Marks Fifth Day Without Progress Upward.

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—The stock market today received another setback that reduced prices of steels and pivotal industrials 1 to more than 2 points. Isolated issues were down 3 to 5.

It was the fifth successive session in which no progress had been made on average and, at the close, virtually all of the post-new year's advance had been wiped out.

The list attempted to rally at the start but failed to follow thru and the decline was interrupted but few times during the remainder of the session.

Volume Up a Little.

Volume was not large at any period, altho transfers increased to 609,720 shares against 396,580 yesterday, which was the smallest turnover in about three months.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .5 of a point at 43.8. When the recovery shift got under way on Jan. 3 the composite stood at 44.1. A month ago the average was 43 and a year ago 49.5.

Business news remained cheerful, but many buyers apparently stood aside, brokers said, because of revived worries over taxes, possible expansion of government controls over industry and the outcome of the lease-lend bill controversy in congress.

Chicago Stocks.

Fractional declines predominated on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in turnover of 27,000 shares. Two highs for 1940-'41 were set in the generally lower market, however, with Gardner-Denver touching 18¼ and closing at 18⅛, up ⅝, and Parker Pen reaching 13½, also up ⅝.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—The bond market weakened under increased offering of rail loans today after making selected progress in early dealings.

The Associated Press average of 20 rails lost .5 of a point at 63.1. It was the largest drop for this group since a similar loss last Nov. 27 and followed many weeks of persistent gains.

United States government loans ended 12/32 of a point lower to 3/32 higher.

Bank Stocks.

First National shares advanced 2 points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Industrial National common and preferred both were a point higher, and Chicago Title declined a point.

MAY WOOL TOPS CLIMB TO NEW PEAK FOR YEAR

Coffee Rises; Most Other Staples Decline.

Wool tops reached a new 1940-'41 high and Santos coffee equaled its year's peak yesterday. Both moved against the generally lower trend of other major commodity futures. Hides, silk, domestic sugar, cocoa, and cottonseed oil were lower. Rubber and zinc were irregular.

Wool tops prices were lifted 0.9 to 1.8 cent a pound following a high November apparel wool consumption report. May deliveries reached $1.11 9/10 before closing at $1.11 4/10 for the largest gain. In the cash market, a sale was made at $1.21 a pound, 3 cents above the previous bid. Santos coffee advanced 0.12 to 0.15 cent a pound to 7.20 cents in May.

Hides declined 0.08 to 0.10 cent a pound to 12.70 cents bid for June contracts. Rubber futures were 0.01 cent higher to 0.05 cent lower at 19.55 cents a pound for May.

Copper futures added 0.06 to 0.09 cent a pound at 11.29 cents in May. Zinc finished 0.10 cent higher to 0.21 cent lower at 8.75 cents a pound bid in May and tin was unchanged. Cash metals were generally steady, tin easing slightly. Prices follow:

PLANT CLOSED IN HARVESTER LABOR DISPUTE

150 Strikers Sit Down at East Moline, Ill.

Further complications arose yesterday in the disputes between labor organizations and the International Harvester company when the company's East Moline, Ill., plant was closed down after the independent union bargaining agency there had called a sitdown strike.

Meanwhile the C. I. O. Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee announced that employés of the company's Chicago tractor works would take a strike vote Sunday unless the union's differences with the company were settled.

Presidents of C. I. O. union locals at three Chicago plants appealed by telegram to President Roosevelt for aid in obtaining an immediate decision from the National Labor Relations board on charges originating in 1937 that the company dominated rival unions.

Clash Over Seniority.

The East Moline strike was called by the East Moline Works Employés association in a dispute over seniority classification ratings. E. W. Stahl, superintendent of the plant, said that about 150 of the 1,400 employés began the sitdown strike at 9:50 a. m.

Because many of the strikers occupied important positions along the assembly line more than half of the workers were soon idle. Shortly after noon the power was turned off, many employés began to leave, and a number of strikers remained to see that work was not resumed.

Union officials said the strike was called after their representatives were unable to obtain an interview with Stahl. Unless the dispute is settled, they said the factory would be picketed today.

New Employé Causes Strike.

It was said that the dispute arose in the trucking department when a man not previously in the department was given a position without regard to the seniority of other employés.

Company officials termed the strike an "illegal stoppage" of work and declared the union had not followed contract procedure for settling differences. The company warned the strikers they would be subject to the disciplinary action called for in the contract.

Officials said the plant would be open today for all employés who wish to work. Combines and corn pickers are manufactured at the plant.

Arvid Sheets, president of the C. I. O. local at East Moline, charged the strike was "engineered by the company to discredit the C. I. O." Harvester officials denied this charge.

The C. I. O. union recently authorized locals in Chicago and other plants, including the East Moline works, to take strike votes if necessary to win wage and other demands.

Demand Increased Wages.

The union demands elimination of the piece work pay system, establishment of hourly rates 10 per cent above the present rates, and recognition of the C. I. O. union in plants where it does not already have contracts.

The C. I. O. has contracts only in the Chicago tractor works and at the Richmond, Ind., plant. The other plants involved in the union's demands are in Milwaukee, Wis., and Rock Island and Rock Falls, Ill.

Harvester officials on Wednesday agreed to confer with C. I. O. representatives at the Chicago tractor works and the Richmond plant. Bargaining negotiations were reported under way at Richmond, and meetings with Chicago tractor plant unionists are expected to begin today.

A settlement was reached a few days ago between the company and the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers, ending a strike which began Dec. 31 at the Fort Wayne, Ind., works. The strike had threatened to curtail the assembly of trucks for defense forces. Company officials said that no defense orders are being handled at the East Moline plant.

BUSINESS GAINS OF CONTINENTAL FIRMS REPORTED

The Continental Casualty and the Continental Assurance companies, both of Chicago, realized larger increases in business during 1940 than in any previous year, Roy Tuchbreiter, first vice president of the companies, announced yesterday.

He said that Continental Casualty wrote net premiums amounting to $25,372,294, a gain of $2,373,135 over the 1939 volume.

Continental Assurance had a net increase in paid-for business of $21,770,973, with the total for this business in force amounting to $274,442,684. Tuchbreiter reported that the financial statements of both companies probably would show record increases in assets and surplus to policyholders.

The only recent proposed deal turned down by the exchange was for 5,000 shares of Hercules Powder. The exchange maintained this block of stock could be sold on the floor at a better price than the syndicate offer.

Off the market deals did not gather momentum until December, there being only four in November, six in October, and five in the preceding three months.

Oil Stock Books Closed.

The 500,000 Jersey Standard shares were offered at 34½ net, the price at which the stock closed on the exchange. Dillon, Read & Co. and associates offered the shares for an unidentified owner. The stock was said, however, to be from a large estate, and not from British holdings. The syndicate later announced that books had been closed on the offering.

LAUNCH 300 TON WELDED DIESEL RIVER TOW BOAT

The latest word in river tow boats, the 300 ton "Donna Lee," was launched yesterday at the Calumet Ship Yards, at 93d street and Harbor avenue. The vessel is designed to push loaded barges, and is built with a low superstructure to permit its passage beneath low bridges.

The "Donna Lee" is owned by the A. L. Mechling Barge company. It is of all steel construction, with the plates electrically welded thruout. It is powered by an 800 horse power Deisel engine. The total cost of the ship was $125,000, and it required 14 months to build.

The interior of the vessel, not yet completed, will have three tile baths and an all stainless steel kitchen.

COUNTRY SPENDS 500 MILLIONS A MONTH ON ARMS

Must Be Doubled to Reach President's Goal.

"Intensification of efforts to rush production of war implements for export and for equipment of our own expanded military machine probably will result in a further increase in defense building operations and later a substantial further increase in industrial output," the bureau said.

The federal reserve board reported that its index of industrial production—considered one of the best over-all indices of business conditions—rose 4 points in December to 136 per cent of the 1935-'39 average. This activity was sustained during the first half of January, the board said.

Steel Operations Jump.

The board placed current steel production above 98 per cent of capacity and said that activity in the machinery, aircraft, and shipbuilding industries continued to increase, with working forces expanded further. Unfilled orders in these industries and in others, such as wool textiles, were reported exceptionally large because of the defense program.

The board, which recently requested congress for increased authority to limit excess bank reserves and curb inflation, reported that excess reserves have increased to about 6 billion, 900 million dollars because of reduction in treasury deposits in reserve banks, a continued inflow of gold, and since Christmas a seasonal return flow of currency from circulation. The treasury today requested another 137 million dollars in deposits from the reserve banks in order to bolster its working funds, drained by defense expenditures.

COTTON

Easiness in securities and hedging pressure more than offset purchases of cotton futures by mills and cash firms and the close yesterday was at the bottom, with losses of .01 to .08 cent a pound. The December contract in New York sold at a new seasonal high in early trading.

Cash cotton closed .09 cent higher to .07 cent lower, with New York, 10.60 cents; New Orleans, 10.14 cents; Galveston, 10.01 cents, and Houston at 9.96 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

Answer to Jan. 16 problem No. 6:

First, fill the 5 gallon jar and empty it into the 9 gallon. Fill the 5 again and empty it into the 9 till the latter is full. This leaves one gallon in the 5 jar. Now empty the 9 gallon jar back into the 14 gallon jar. Then pour the single gallon in the 5 jar back into the 9 jar. Fill the 5 again from the 14 jar. Then empty the 5 into the 9, which makes six gallons now in the 9 jar. Again fill the 5 jar and then pour it into the 9 jar till the latter is full. This will leave two gallons in the 5 jar. Now empty the 9 jar back into the 14 jar. Then pour the two gallons from the 5 jar back into the 9 jar. Now fill the 5 jar brimful. This will leave exactly seven gallons in the 14 jar.
